COMMONS MOBBED.

Women Storm the British House.

Hundred Thousand Gather Around Hall of Parliament

Suffragette Breaks Through Guard and Harangues Members.

Five Thousand Police and Troops Mobilized In London's Center.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

LONDON, Oct. 13.—The climax of the suffragette movement was reached tonight when an immense mob hemmed in Parliament and stopped traffic in all streets leading to Westminster. For more than three hours the crowd scuffled good-naturedly with the police, interfered with theatergoers, broke windows and disorganized things generally in the center of London.

The heroine of the day was Mrs. Travers Symons, formerly secretary to James Keir Hardie, the socialist, and independent member of Parliament, who reached the doors of Parliament by strategy.

The house was debating a bill to prevent children from smoking cigarettes when the woman dashed past the doorkeeper to a position in front of the speaker's chair and shouted:

"Leave off discussing children and talk about women."

Three officials seized Mrs. Symons and carried her out bodily. She was then led to the outer door and dismissed.

As a result of the coup, an order was issued that hereafter women shall not be admitted to the building on any pretext whatever, and in the future the historic grill will not screen feminine spectators.

THOUSANDS GATHER.

The appeal issued by the suffragettes a few days ago for 50,000 persons to help them "rush" Parliament at 7:30 o'clock this evening was the most successful stroke yet. Not less than twice that number responded to the call and nine-tenths of these were young persons who came to see the fun. There were also a few hundred of the unemployed and their sympathizers.

Parliament was in a state of siege. A close line of triple police was drawn around the three sides in front of the building. The yard within the gates swarmed with police and 200 guarded the terrace in the rear against assault by water, which the women twice attempted. A small fleet of police boats also paroled the Thames.

All the mounted police in London and suburbs had been mobilized at this center and loads of hay were unstacked in the streets for the horses. The whole police force, together with cavalry, infantry and marines, numbering more than 5000, was kept busy in restraining and pushing the struggling masses about Trafalgar Square.

WOMEN ATTEMPT RUSH.

A delegation of thirteen suffragettes, which approached the police cordon, and was formally refused admission to Parliament, attempted a football rush, but the police chivalrously repulsed the women with the least possible roughness. The police were pelted with vegetables, and some stones in a few minor skirmishes, but nobody was seriously hurt.

Twenty-four suffragettes and twelve of the unemployed were arrested. Many persons fainted in the crush; a few were trampled upon and taken to the hospitals.

Mrs. Parkhurst, Miss C. Parkhurst and Mrs. Lawrence were summoned to appear in court yesterday for inciting a breach of the peace; this morning they coolly refused to obey the summons, but agreed to surrender themselves at 6 o'clock in the evening, which they did, spending the night in Bow-street station.

The suffragettes and unemployed have kept practically the whole police force on duty continuously for forty-eight hours.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A ten-pound note of the English colony of New York, issued February 16, 1771, one hundred and thirty-seven years ago, has been presented to Comptroller Metz, with a request for payment. He has been staggered by the figuring of his experts, who calculate that if the city is obligated to redeem the note with compound interest to date, it will have to pay over something like $39,000. The Comptroller has asked the corporation counsel for legal advice on the subject.

The note is in a good state of preservation. Authorized five years before New York, with the original States, became free from British rule, it bears the old coat of arms of the colony, under the grant of the Duke of York.

Chicago Woman Remembers "Individual Who Married Me in San Diego."

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—One dollar, payable in monthly installments of 25 cents, is the peculiar bequest given Andrew Heckler by his late wife, Catherine E. Heckler of Portland, Or., whose will was filed in the Probate Court here today. The will was filed by Attorney B. S. Hague of Portland, Or., who is bequeathed a cut-glass water bottle. A friend is given the balance of the estate.

In the will Heckler is referred to as "the individual who married me in 1895 in San Diego, Cal., and who got from me thousands of dollars and when he could not get more, deserted me."

The estate consisted mainly of personal property.

DR. D. C. GILMAN VICTIM OF HEART DISEASE.

Educator Who Resigned University Presidency Three Years Ago Found Helpless on Floor of Room at Norwich, Ct., Where He Was Visiting Sisters.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NORWICH (Ct.) Oct. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Dr. Daniel Coit Gilman, the noted educator, dropped dead of heart disease this afternoon at the home of his sister here.

Dr. Daniel Coit Gilman, noted educator, who died suddenly yesterday.

Dr. Gilman was 78 years old. Three years ago he resigned the presidency of Johns Hopkins University, which he had held since 1876. He was, in fact, the creator and builder of that institution.

Dr. Gilman exerted strong influence in educational and philanthropic work in Baltimore. He took an active part in the management of the Enoch Pratt and other public libraries and in the charity society, and in similar organizations he was always active. He was many years president of the John F. Slater fund for the education of freedmen.

Dr. Gilman had gone to his room to prepare for a drive after dinner, where he was found helpless on the floor by his wife.

He arrived yesterday for a visit with his sisters.

Dr. Gilman was born here and burial will take place here.

BALLOONISTS IN NORTH SEA.

AMERICANS RESCUED AFTER GIVING UP HOPE.

Pilots of St. Louis, on Finding Themselves Over Water, Descended, and After Several Hours Were Picked Up by Torpedo-boat Destroyer—America II in Tree.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

BERLIN, Oct. 13.—The second of the three American balloons that started in the race for the international trophy on Sunday from Schmargendorf, has met disaster in the North Sea.

The St. Louis, manned by N. H. Arnold of North Adams, Mass., and Harry J. Hewitt, was carried overland by treacherous air currents and later in the haze the aëronauts lost their bearings, until suddenly last night they saw the guard lights of an unknown coast.

This meant that they must descend or risk the danger of being driven far out of the track of vessels. They chose the former course and for an hour they were buffeted by the waves, almost giving up in despair. Eventually they were rescued by a lifeboat.

The first intimation that an accident had occurred to the St. Louis was conveyed in a wireless message from Arnold saying:

"Lost everything in the North Sea last night."

The Associated Press was able to communicate with Mr. Arnold at Wilhelmshafen, to which place he had been taken by a torpedo boat sent out to render assistance to any of the balloonists who might drift out over the water.

Mr. Arnold told a graphic story of their descent and rescue by a lifeboat. He said:

"All day Monday, with the exception of the early afternoon, we were unable to see the earth, and we lowered the balloon repeatedly to communicate with the people to ascertain our whereabouts. Apparently we could not make them understand, but this was apparently due to our poor German. Finally we decided to risk proceeding, still having twenty sacks of ballast.

"Moving in a northwesterly direction in the evening we noticed lighthouses and buoys which convinced us that we were moving above big water, but we had no idea where we were.

GAVE UP HOPE.

"In order to avoid drifting out of the line of ship traffic, we concluded to go down to the water, but before doing so we put on life preservers. This was a perilous task, for it was dark and there was great danger of being swamped in the basket.

"After pitching about in the water for almost one hour and giving up all hope of rescue, Hewitt, who had climbed into the rigging, discovered a flashlight, and soon after saw a life-

WAR CLOUD SHIFTS BACK TO BULGARIA.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PARIS, Oct. 13.—Advices received here this morning from French official sources indicate that the danger point in the Balkans has shifted back to Bulgaria.

While there is no confirmation of the report that Bulgaria has delivered an ultimatum to Turkey regarding the recognition of her independence inside of three days, there is reason to believe that Bulgaria is determined to make a move if Turkey and the powers persist in their refusal to accept her independence.

The danger of a declaration of war from Servia is considered over for the present. The French government has decided to leave Servia's demand for compensation from Austria-Hungary to the consideration of the powers.

M. Stanchioff, the diplomatic agent of Bulgaria in Paris, declared today that the situation in Bulgaria was grave and tense.

"A rapid solution is necessary," he said.

The agent said, however, he did not believe an ultimatum had been sent to Turkey.

The Turkish Ambassador here, Nasum Pasha, admits that Turkey is taking defensive military measures, but he repeats that Turkey desires peace.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

LONDON, Oct. 13.—Foreign Secretary Grey and M. Iswolsky, the Russian Minister of Foreign Affairs, spent this morning in telegraphic correspondence with the capitals of Europe regarding the forthcoming conference of the powers to settle the near Eastern question. In falling in with the proposals of M. Iswolsky, Great Britain has acted with the concurrence of Turkey. If Turkey takes Great Britain's advice she will accept the independence of Bulgaria and the annexation of Bosnia and Herzegovina as accomplished facts and ask compensation.

The report circulated today that the powers are considering handing over the Sanjak or Novopazar in European Turkey to Servia, and the statement from Paris that Bulgaria has given Turkey three days to recognize her independence are not credited here.

Pecuniary assistance is the principal method proposed for compensating

ABRUZZI ANNOUNCES ENGAGEMENT BROKEN.

Duke Sad at Termination of Love Affair With Miss Elkins and Will Soon Start on Perilous Exploration Trip to Divert His Mind.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ROME, Oct. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Duke of the Abruzzi announced today in a telegram from Turin to the royal family the breaking of his engagement to Miss Katherine Elkins. The telegram occasioned the greatest rejoicing in the royal household, Dowager Queen Margherita replying as follows:

"In listening to the voice of dignity rather than affection, you give proof of possessing a greater character than in your famous expedition. I congratulate you, with renewed affection."

The Duke does not attempt to conceal his sadness at the unfortunate termination of his love affair with the American heiress. He will soon start on a perilous exploration trip in order to divert his mind from his grief. It is admitted that Miss Elkins broke the engagement.

It was learned at the Vatican today that when Cardinal Gibbons was in Rome he expressed doubt as to the marriage between the Duke of the Abruzzi and Miss Elkins taking place, owing to the young woman's refusal to change her religion.

Mrs. Elkins's reported denial of the engagement became public here today for the first time and caused great astonishment, as it had been taken for granted that the marriage certainly would occur.

Admiral Garelli, said de camp to the King, said today that he thought a more likely cause of the trouble was a recent scandal in which a brother of Miss Elkins figured. This, he thought, probably led her to break the engagement which, though not announced, yet existed.

GEN. OTIS EXPLODES LABOR UNION FAKE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BALTIMORE (Md.) Oct. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Word comes to me that since my departure from Los Angeles to undergo a serious surgical operation at the Johns Hopkins Hospital in this city, the vicious work of flooding the State with lying labor-union literature against me has been in progress. Among other inventions is the old exploded story that I am aiming for a Cabinet office. This absurd invention was created out of nothing and is renewed solely for the sake of gratifying private malice and creating public prejudice. I am not an aspirant for a Cabinet position and never was. Do my stupid accusers pretend to believe that I could or would abandon the Los Angeles Times for the sake of any office? The reckless forgers of false information set up a bogie man to frighten timid politicians and then shout about their influence. It is all very cheap and absurd. We shall not recede from our position as the foremost journalistic champions of the vital principles of industrial freedom, in the face of raids, threats, boycotts or political or personal proscription. The Times occupies its own position on this question and neither looks to any political party for reward, nor fears punishment from any quarter. We go in our chosen course without fear and without hope or expectation of reward. A more complete rejoinder will follow.

TAFT TO LABOR.

Invasion of South Will Begin Today, Principal Taking Train at Early Hour.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

EAST LIVERPOOL (Ohio) Oct. 13.—In the middle of the steel and iron district of Cleveland, William H. Taft today commanded the closest attention of an immense audience. A half hour before he reached the city the immense tent in which the meeting was held was filled and the audience patiently waited during the half hour delay caused by the lateness of the candidate's train.

When Mr. Taft appeared he was warmly welcomed. He began at once to talk with an earnestness which caused closest attention. He showed from his viewpoint why it was that the American workman needed the protection of the tariff, and what had been the result when he had not had that protection.

Mr. Taft followed this with a detailed account of his own personal experiences with the labor world. He explained the decisions he had rendered while on the bench and for which he was now condemned by Bryan and Gompers, were in reality the legal basis of labor organizations of the present day and upon that basis they had grown and prospered until today they were stronger than ever.

The Taft special ran into its first mishap today. The front trucks of the candidate's car and the rear trucks of the Pullman preceding it went off the track just as the train was coming to a halt on a siding at Sterling, shortly after 10 o'clock this morning. A half hour's delay was caused. No other damage was caused except that the track was torn up.

The train moved about a half car length after the wheels were on the ground. Spreading of the rails on the siding was the explanation made by the railroad people.

Fourteen audiences were addressed by the candidate today.

In Cleveland, after Mr. Taft had reviewed his labor record at length with an illustration of what he had to do with helping to build up labor organizations in the Philippines and his administration in connection with the Panama canal, where he had much to do with the unions, he smilingly recalled the fact that he had since been made a member of the union. He added:

"Mr. Gompers is one of the active council of the American Federation of Labor, and I got the impression that the whole Federation of Labor was delivered body and soul by Gompers to the Democratic party and to Mr. Bryan, but it seems there are some left. Daniel Keefe, the head of the Longshoremen's Union, with whom perhaps a number of my audience are acquainted, does not think that I am a devil with horns. He is going to support me for the Presidency, because he says he has found in his dealings with me (we have had a good many) that I was just and fair to the interests that he represented as the head of the Longshoremen's Union, and one of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor. I don't want to submit letters of recommendation for the Presidency, but this discussion seems to involve the question whether I am a tyrant deep at heart, an oppressor of labor or otherwise, and I have got to submit evidence that I do not eat a laborer every morning for breakfast; that I am not engaged in fighting that which is the backbone and sinew of the nation—the laboring class."

A tri-State rally was what the Taft special train ran into here tonight. Republicans and marching clubs from Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Ohio filled the largest theater and compelled an open-air overflow meeting.

WINNIPEG (Man.) Oct. 13.—Sir Thomas Shaughnessy and a party of directors of the Canadian Pacific Railway arrived here today to accept from the contractors the double-track wheat road 422 miles long, running between here and Fort William. It was built at a cost of $10,000,000.

From here the party goes to Lethbridge to take over the Alberta Railway and properties, including a large colliery at Lethbridge, 113 miles of railway and 425,000 acres of land suitable for irrigation, for which there has been keen rivalry for a year between J. Returns to Hungary With American Wife.

Ceremony to Take Place in Washington.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] While busily engaged here with his experiments which startled the experts at the International Congress of Tuberculosis, Dr. Ladislas Detre, one of the foremost of European pathologists, dropped his work long enough today to obtain a marriage license. Dr. Detre centered the attention of the congress upon himself when he assailed the theory of Dr. Koch for the diagnosis and treatment of consumption.

On Thursday, October 15, he will wed Miss Lillian Coblenzer, the eighteen-year-old daughter of Mrs. Bertha Coblenzer.

The ceremony will be a quiet one, and will be performed in the parlors of the Arlington Hotel, the Rev. Abraham Simon officiating. Following the ceremony the bride and groom will take a short trip through the States, and then go to Hungary. The bride and groom met in Europe a few years ago, and Dr. Detre was not able to forget the charms of Miss Coblenzer.

The experiments performed by him on September 28, in the matter of inoculating ten patients with the old Koch tuberculin, and his newer human and bovine tuberculin serum, to determine the nature of the infection, won for him the plaudits of the medical world. Dr. Detre demonstrated that by such an inoculation it may be accurately determined whether the patient contracted the disease from bovine or human origin, and the results seem to overthrow the contention of Dr. Koch, the discoverer of the tubercle bacilli, that consumption in the human may not be of bovine origin.

VENEZUELA.

CASTRO HANDED HOT NOTE BY HOLLAND.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CARACAS, Tuesday, Sept. 29.—"The revocation of the decree of May 14 is demanded in the most energetic manner—the government of Venezuela must from this moment and without delay fulfill the protocols of 1904, which form the basis of our relations, as well as the obligations incurred by The Netherlands and faithfully lived up to; and that it does not wish to compromise its existence by prolonging the intolerable state of affairs which it has created by the decree of May 14."

President Castro was away at Valencia when this note was presented by Baron von Seckendorff, the German Minister, and he told Dr. Paul, the Venezuelan Foreign Minister, to acknowledge receipt and to await the second note from Holland, which it was found was soon to arrive.

Because of Gen. Castro's illness, the second note has not yet been answered, but it is generally understood here that Venezuela will not give in to any of Holland's demands.

Venezuela will take the stand that, until a satisfactory apology and indemnization is forthcoming from the Netherlands government for the insulting letter of the late Minister De Reus and for the stoning of the Venezuelan Consul by the Curacao mob, Holland has no right at all to make any demands of this country, especially in the nature of those made in the Dutch note, which interfere with the right enjoyed by free nations to make their own commercial laws.

It is very generally admitted in Caracas that if the Venezuelan government wishes to have the transshipment of merchandise for Maracaibo done in Venezuelan ports it has a perfect right to do so, although Caracas may be a sufferer thereby.

Although the Netherlands note asks for the immediate revocation of the transshipment decree, it has been reported that the second note fixes the date of November 1 as the time when this must be done, thus giving the note the nature of an ultimatum.

Nobody who knows Gen. Castro believes that this demand will have any other effect than still further to incense Venezuela's executive against Curacao and nobody would be surprised if his answer was more rigorous and determined than the Netherlands government expects or will like.

The text of the vital parts of the long note is as follows:

MUST REVOKE DECREE.

"The revocation of the decree of May 14 is demanded in the most energetic manner. It is only this revocation which can confirm as an accomplished fact the assurance from your excellency that the personal fault committed by the minister resident has not altered the good relations so happily existing between the two nations, and that Venezuela also desires to maintain them on the most amicable basis.

"Recently my attention has been again called to new complaints, apparently well founded, concerning the arbitrary and illicit actions of Venezuelan functionaries, for example: The seizure on the high seas of ships flying The Netherlands flag by Venezuelan vessels; and I have been informed by cable of acts of your chief of state toward the representatives of The Netherlands government unfriendly to the highest degree."

The note goes on to say that after the renewal of friendly relations is established "the celebration of a definite treaty of arbitration and consular convention, which will be the surest means of arriving at the desired end, shall be submitted to subsequent consideration. But the government of Venezuela must from this moment and without delay show it knows how to appreciate in its real value the protocols of 1904, which form the basis of our relations, as well as the obligations incurred by The Netherlands and faithfully lived up to; and that it does not wish to compromise its existence by prolonging the intolerable state of affairs which it has created by the decree of May 14."

BIG FIRE AT BONNER SPRINGS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 13.—Half the business portion of Bonner Springs, a watering resort twenty miles west of Kansas City, was destroyed by fire early today, causing a loss estimated at $100,000. Fire apparatus was sent from Kansas City to assist in extinguishing the flames.

DRY FARMING CONGRESS DATE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHEYENNE (Wyo.) Oct. 13.—At a meeting of the board of control in this city the next Dry Farming Congress was called for February 23, 24 and 25, 1909, in Cheyenne. The congress is second in importance only to the Irrigation Congress, and it is expected that a thousand delegates from Western States and foreign countries will attend.

GUARDSMAN PLEADS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

KANKAKEE (Ill.) Oct. 13.—Private Joseph B. Klein, Co. A, First Regiment, Illinois National Guard, was arraigned in the Circuit Court yesterday on a charge of murdering Earl Nelson on August 15, while the regiment passed through this city on its way to Springfield on riot duty. Klein entered a formal plea of not guilty. Judge Hooper ordered him brought into court on Saturday.

GIRL FAILS TO PROSECUTE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—Municipal Judge Eberhardt yesterday dismissed for want of prosecution the $100,000 breach of promise suit brought by Marie Smith against Robert J. Gunning, president of the Gunning system of bill posting. This action was taken after counsel for Miss Smith, who failed to appear, had asked that the case be continued.

HARMLESS MANIA.

HASKELL ATTACKS PRESIDENT AGAIN.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 13.—Gov. Charles N. Haskell of Oklahoma, who arrived here this morning from Guthrie, gave to the Associated Press a signed statement addressed to President Roosevelt, contributing another chapter in the controversy arising over the leasing of 680,000 acres of Osage Indian oil lands.

"I shall," says the Governor in the course of his statement, "insist upon cancellation of this lease in the interest of these citizens of our State, or that Congress take action to declare this improvident and unjust lease void, and secure for the Osage nation the just and reasonable compensation that other owners are receiving." The letter in full follows:

"To Hon. Theodore Roosevelt,

"President, Washington, D. C.

"Sir: I have just received a letter from Frank Pierce, acting secretary of the Interior Department, dated October 9, stating that my letter to you asking for an explanation as to the oil lease on the Osage lands had been referred to his department.

"He attaches an explanation which is not at all satisfactory; it contains practically nothing in conflict with my complaint. I agree that in 1896, the Democratic administration made a lease to E. B. Foster on the entire Osage nation for ten years at 10 per cent. royalty. At that time, the nearest known oil production was about 700 miles from the Osage nation, so that the Foster lease in 1896 was a rank wildcat proposition and the usual pioneer royalty of 10 per cent. was allowed. But during the ten years the field was developed and found to be unusually rich, and ten years at this low royalty was an ample reward to those who developed it.

"By 1905, Foster had transferred his lease to the Indian Territory Illuminating Oil Company, a well-known subsidiary of the Standard Oil Company.

"Development showed that oil covered 680,000 acres, being the east part of the Osage Nation also extending north into Kansas, east into Indian Territory and south into Oklahoma, and the whole area is known as the richest oil country in existence at this date. The remainder of the Osage Nation was barren.

POWER TO FIX VALUE.

"Congress gave you the power to fix the consideration that the Osage people should receive as their part of the oil value after the expiration of the ten-year lease. It was well known to you at that time, what the sub-lessees were paying for small tracts in the Osage Nation and adjoining lands in the Cherokee Nation, as the Cherokee leases passed through the interior department and their approval and the royalties and bonuses received by the land owners were a matter of record and approval in the interior department records.

"It is scarcely possible that with these records before you, you failed to notice that $10 per acre cash bonus and one-sixth royalty was much below the average compensation of the land owners. Indeed, in many instances, cash bonuses of from fifty to even one hundred dollars per acre were received by the land owners.

"A few cases found in the interior department records are as follows:

"The Lannon family, 700 acres, Cherokee Nation, immediately adjoining the Osage Nation, Interior Department lease, made in 1903, cash bonus, $40,000; royalty, one-eighth.

"We have eight or ten similar leases where general public information shows cash bonuses substantially as large as the above, and royalties running at one-sixth, but your subordinate officers in charge of the Indian office at Muskogee, on orders from the Interior Department this morning, refused to permit examination of the records to confirm same accurately, but they are subject to your investigation, and you will find, no doubt, that the Lannon lease was only an average lease.

OUTRAGE TO OSAGES.

"And numerous other leases adjoining the Osage Nation give you the opportunity to know that a bare one-eighth royalty, without any cash bonus to the Osages, was a gross outrage on that nation.

"Congress no sooner gave you the authority to fix the amount of compensation than the Osages filed a written request with you for an opportunity to be heard and produce evidence, which they could easily have produced, showing you that a cash bonus of $7,000,000 and one-sixth royalty would be indeed a moderate compensation to them.

"You neglected to give the Osages an opportunity to be heard. The fact that 680,000 acres of rich oil land was the stake that the Standard Oil Company was playing for, and the land owners denied the right to be heard, is something that will require a more lucid explanation than Mr. Pierce has seen fit to give.

"Any practical business man is ready to recognize that 680,000 acres in one tract of land is of far greater proportionate value than the small tracts of a few hundred acres each, and therefore the greater surprise you should have fixed a royalty (without any cash bonus) much lower than the individual landowners were securing on small tracts. There was no such improvident lease being made in that whole combined field.

DEPEW IN DEAL.

"Mr. Pierce suggests in his letter to me that as a matter of fact it was not known at the time that the Standard Oil Company was the real party in interest. I submit to you that the very fact that Messrs. Guffey, Barnsdale and Senator Depew, well known Standard Oil representatives with others, making a personal appeal to you for this low royalty to the land owners, should have been ample evidence that the Standard Oil Company was the real beneficiary.

"It was the same Senator Depew who induced you to grant the Prairie Oil and Gas Company franchise over the protest of Secretary Hitchcock, less than one year before that time, and in this one transaction you gave the Standard Oil Company a donation from the property of the Osage Indians of more than enough to pay the famous $29,000,000 fine.

"I shall insist upon the cancellation of this lease in the interest of these citizens of our State or that Congress take action to declare this improvident and unjust lease void, and fix the compensation that other owners are receiving.

"Marvelous as it may seem, the difference between the royalty you fixed for this new lease and the average amount received in the balance of the oil field by land owners controlling their own property is fully equivalent to a net loss of $10,000 to each and every member of the Osage Indian reservation and whether this gross injustice to our people was accomplished by your lack of consideration or in any other way the authorities of the State of Oklahoma will not rest until this lease has been cancelled and justice done our people.

"Respectfully,

[Signed] "C. N. HASKELL,
"Governor."

WILL SUE HEARST.

Gov. Haskell is here to consult his attorneys with reference to a suit that he says he intends to bring against William R. Hearst, charging the New York editor with libel. The Governor stated soon after he had registered at a hotel that he had already placed the matter in the hands of his attorneys and that the petition would be filed by them whenever they saw fit.

The suit, he said, probably would be brought in the Circuit Court, but just when, he was unable to say. The case grows out of the publicity of the Standard Oil story, the controversy over which led to Gov. Haskell's resigning as treasurer of the Democratic National Committee. The story in question alleged that a man named Haskell, in connection with two others, had made overtures to Frank S. Monnett, then Attorney-General of Ohio, to stop a suit pending against the Standard Oil Company, the trio agreeing, it was alleged, to furnish $500,000 in case proceedings were dropped. Mr. Hearst asserted that this Haskell was Gov. Charles N. Haskell, but the executive of Oklahoma declared that he had no connection with the matter and said that some other Haskell must have been meant.

Gov. Haskell said this afternoon after a lengthy conference with his attorneys that he had given his counsel authority to bring the suit against Mr. Hearst as soon as they could get service on the New York editor. This, he said, he believed would be possible at some point between Kansas City and St. Paul, when Mr. Hearst makes his return trip to the East.

HEARST CALLED HOME.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Oct. 14.—William R. Hearst did not accompany Thomas L. Hisgen on his speaking tour to the Northwest. It was given out here that Mr. Hearst had been called to New York unexpectedly.

WAR MANEUVERS.

ARMIES MEET FOR BATTLE IN THE FOG.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

ATASCADERO, Oct. 13.—For three days today the 5000 regulars and militiamen at Camp Atascadero, representing the combined military forces in California, Arizona and Mexico, which would be called out in event of war, engaged in a battle, which was fought over a large part of the hills, valleys of the 22,000-acre reservation grounds, and marked the application of the instruction of officers trained in strategy, tactics and the principles of warfare.

The army under Col. Frederick Funston of the Eighth Infantry, representing a hostile force, which had landed in Monterey Bay, and was moving south to meet a "red" brigade, under Col. H. B. Moon of the Fifth Infantry, which had been landed north of a division concentration at San Luis Obispo, with instructions to harass the enemy until reinforcements arrived.

The "blues," being stronger in numbers especially in artillery, and under command at San Luis Obispo, went that reinforcements joined, the "reds" were forced back to Bartoli Springs, where Col. Moon intrenched himself in a strong position, enabling him to withstand the advance of the "blues."

Until dislodged from their commanding position on Round Mountain, the "reds" drove the "blues" advance guard under Col. Schreiber, back to cover. Supports were sent up and the "blues" again advanced, the battle centering around Round Mountain upon which a terrific infantry and artillery fire was concentrated.

FORCED TO RETREAT.

Not receiving the promised reinforcements, Col. Moon and his "red" brigade, was, according to the decision of the umpires, forced to retreat to Bartoli Springs, four miles south, where he entrenched and checked the "blues."

The operations were closely observed by Col. Marion P. Maus, who took Adjt.-Gen. Lauck, Brig.-Gen. Wankowski and Koster, of the National Guard, along both lines of the two sides pointing out the salient points as the battle developed and progressed.

Hundreds of sightseers afoot, on horseback, in wagons and in automobiles watched the battle from the roads and from the heights of Camp Atascadero.

Tonight the umpires and officers discussed the maneuvers and pointed out the errors in the movement of troops by the various commanders.

Col. Maus stated that while many errors were made, the problem had worked out well and he believed that the lessons of the day would be of much practical value to the men and officers of the militia.

Tomorrow morning, three California regiments will begin to entrain and be followed Thursday night by the Arizona battalion.

The "blues," under Col. Smith, who had made his headquarters at Asuncion railroad, three miles north of Camp Atascadero, began to move at 7:30. The Second California, Col. W. G. Schreiber, went forward as advance guard. The Fifth California, under Col. David A. Smith, which had acted as outposts for the "blues" during the night, fell in behind.

BATTLE IN FOG.

About 8 o'clock, the "blue" and "red" cavalry patrols, reconnoitering, sighted each other. A few minutes later the skirmish lines of the advance guards of the two forces were in contact and a scattering fire began which quickly developed into a fierce infantry duel. Under cover of the fog, which hid every movement, a "red" battery had taken a position near Round Mountain, and opened on the "blues." This brought a "blue" battery under the personal command of Acting Major A. U. Faulkner, galloping up a thickly-wooded hill a mile north of Atascadero Creek. This battery began to thunder away at the position held by the "red" battery, and also theoretically opened a fierce shrapnel fire on Round Mountain, occupied by the "reds." On the right, Col. James H. McClintock, commanding the right flank, composed of the Arizona militia, by a quick movement, stopped a charge of two troops of "red" cavalry, and opened a withering fire on them, according to the umpires, putting the two troops out of action.

Until dislodged from their commanding position on Round Mountain, the "reds" drove the "blues" advance guard under Col. Schreiber, back to cover. Supports were sent up and the "blues" again advanced, the battle centering around Round Mountain upon which a terrific infantry and artillery fire was concentrated.

Newburgh, indicted for attempting to bribe M. J. Kelly, a prospective juror, to vote for acquittal in case he should be chosen to try Abraham Ruef for bribery. This is the same offense for which E. MURDERED IN SWIMMING TANK.

JAP'S COUSIN CHARGED WITH CRIME AND JAILED.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

SAN BERNARDINO, Oct. 13.—E. Akiyama, Japanese helper, employed at the Santa Fé roundhouse at Barstow, was arrested at a Jap lodging-house on Second street, Los Angeles, early yesterday afternoon by two deputy sheriffs of that city, assisted by officers from here, and was lodged in the County Jail today. He is charged with having murdered his cousin, K. K. Akiyama, at Barstow, by drowning him in a swimming tank.

The remains were found Sunday morning by Sampel Bayliss of the Santa Fé treating plant, about twelve feet from the water tanks at Barstow, and 1009 feet from the swimming tank. The clothing was drenched and the autopsy showed that the lungs were congested and filled with water. Considerable money and a number of Santa Fé pay checks, known to have been in the possession of the dead man, are missing.

The accused had been with his cousin all day Saturday, and until late at night. Early Sunday morning he left Barstow, arriving here on the Santa Fé overland. He made an effort to cash a pay check, which is supposed to have been one belonging to the dead man. At Los Angeles he explained to the Japs that he was bound for Japan.

At the Coroner's inquest the jury decided that K. K. Akiyama came to his death by drowning at the hands of a person unknown, and recommended that the accused be held pending further investigation.

The officers believe that E. Akiyama rendered his cousin unconscious by a blow on the head, submerged him in the swimming tank until drowned, and then carried the body to the spot where it was found to cause the belief that death had resulted from falling from one of the water tanks.

SENSATIONAL FEATURES.

Two options to purchase, one held by E. H. Greene of New York and the other by J. E. Meyer of Los Angeles, and two deeds, one transferring valuable tungsten properties in Clark Mountain, Ivanpah Valley, from John Lampert and J. H. Williams to Greene, and the other in escrow with a Los Angeles trust company, transferring title of the same group to Meyer, offer complications of a delicate nature. Saturday night there was a sensational conference between Williams, Greene and Meyer in the Hollenbeck Hotel, Los Angeles, and today Greene commenced suit here against Meyer to quiet title to the property. A deed to Greene was recorded this morning. Williams and Lampert accepting a lump sum for the property. Meyer discovered the deed this afternoon. He declared his option was taken in good faith and that Greene, during the conference at the Hollenbeck, threatened bloodshed if Meyer attempted to enter upon the premises, and then attempted to "bleed" him of $600 to secure Greene's claim.

WOMEN PRAY IN COURT.

William Hagnow, arrested at Redlands for battery upon his wife, was lodged in the County Jail here today, failing to secure bonds in the sum of $1000. When he was arraigned, his wife and her relatives dequested that her complaint be dismissed. When Justice Gifford refused, the women, after vehemently arguing with the court, dropped on their knees and appealed to the Almighty to soften the justice's heart.

The recent exposé of illegal sale of intoxicants by restaurants has led the City Council to direct the drafting of an ordinance which will entitle restaurants, as well as hotels, to a liquor license by the payment of $25 monthly. Under the proposed ordinance the hotels and restaurants will be obliged to observe the same hours as the saloons. As the wholesalers own most of the saloons here, there will be but little protest.

WAS REFUSED MEDICAL AID.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RENO (Nev.) Oct. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Maintaining that her husband refused her medical aid when she was seriously sick, Mrs. Elizabeth W. Harrington, wife of Dr. Bertram O. Harrington, of Brooklyn, N. Y., has begun suit in the District Court here for divorce on the ground of cruelty.

Mrs. Harrington wants $1700 monthly alimony. She alleges her husband is wealthy.

The Harringtons are reputed to be prominent in Long Island society. They were married in 1900 and have a 7-year-old daughter. The mother wants the custody of the child. Mrs. Harrington is taking advantage of Nevada's lax divorce laws. She has not resided here.

A large section of the town of Stetler, Alberta, was wiped out by fire yesterday morning, including the large Grand Union Hotel, twenty stores and four other hotels, the Merchants' Bank and the postoffice. Leslie Miller, who was sleeping in a store, lost his life. The loss will reach $250,000.

Janitor Finds Twenty Thousand in Bank.

Lonely Vigil Faithfully Kept by Humble Employee.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Twenty thousand dollars in gold in twenties, tens and fives, lay all night in trays in the American National Bank in the Merchants' Exchange building and only Janitor J. M. Purse, Jr., to guard it.

It was after 6 o'clock when Purse first discovered that careless cashiers had left this small fortune outside the vaults.

Purse is an honest man. Had he been otherwise this story would have been different, and the American National Bank would have had a different balance sheet. He tried to reach the officers of the bank on the telephone, but failed. Then, hungry and tired, he settled down to an all night watch.

Early in the morning he again attacked the telephone, and this time reached Assistant Cashier O'Brien. When O'Brien grasped the situation he made record time to the bank.

The rest of the story is prosaic. The trays with the $20,000 in gold were bundled into the vault, where they had not been all night, and Janitor Purse went out and had breakfast. Assistant Cashier O'Brien remained on the job.

Oct. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "Long Poke" Lawrence, the Nome gambler, whose frequent wagers of $100,000 made his name famous in the great northwest ten years ago, and who was reputed to have been worth a quarter of a million several times during his career, died penniless today in the Emergency Hospital here. Pneumonia caused death.

"Long Poke" was 58. He started from Virginia when 16 and earned his living by gambling in six countries. He joined the first Klondike rush from San Francisco and nearly everything he touched was successful. His return to the "States" those days meant much to the tenderloin.

STRIKE IT RICH.

Nome Dispatches Tell of Rich Placer Strike by Two Alaska Miners.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TACOMA, Oct. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Nome dispatches report one of the richest placer strikes in the Nome district. The find was made recently on the Yellow Jacket claim, near Capt. Johnston's holdings on Third Beach.

Two miners named Peterson and Hall have run into rich dirt. September 27 they panned gravel that ran from $8, $15, $16 and $145 to the pan. A big body of this dirt is in plain sight. Hall had worked the claim for more than a year with slim results until Peterson took charge of the workings.

TRAINS ARE SAFEGUARDED.

Northern Pacific Road Begins Use of New Block System, Which Prevents Collisions.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TACOMA, Oct. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Today all Northern Pacific trains operating between Trout Creek, Mont., and Tacoma, are under control of the A B C block system of train dispatching, devised by A. Beamer, superintendent of the Idaho division. All trains of the road except the division between Portland and Tacoma are now operated under the new system, which, it is said, makes collisions practically impossible.

The system has been adopted after extensive and though tests extending over more than a year. Under it trains are run between block stations, which are ordinarily about ten miles apart, on authority of the block card issued by the operator by direction of the train dispatcher at the headquarters of the series of blocks.

This card gives a train clearance only to the next block station. Beyond that, it cannot proceed until given authority by the issuance of another block card. All trains are run entirely independent of each other. Several months ago half a dozen general superintendents of the Harriman lines, then conferring at Portland, came to Tacoma and Spokane to investigate the working of Superintendent Beamer's new system.

From the fact that there were but a few preliminary waves, the shock is believed to have been close at hand.

WAY TO WOMAN'S HEART.

AUTO GIVEN FOR A WEDDING PROMISE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Edna Wallace Hopper, the actress, today told Charles E. Littlefield, receiver of the failed brokerage firm of A. O. Brown & Co., that the head of that firm and she are engaged to be married. The receiver was inquiring into the circumstances under which A. O. Brown gave Miss Hopper a $7500 automobile and transferred to her an insurance policy on his life for $25,000. Miss Hopper, who had been called as a witness, declared that the transfers were made long before the brokerage firm got into trouble.

"Mr. Brown gave me the car on March 2," she said, "knowing that of all things I most wanted, I had never received a motor car. He knew I would enjoy it."

The young woman then stated that, at the time of the transaction in question, there existed and still exists an engagement of marriage between her and Mr. Brown.

Miss Hopper said that after the gift, and nearly up to the time of the failure, Mr. Brown had paid the garage bill, but when she went on a tour with a theatrical company and took the car with her she paid the garage bills herself.

Brown also had paid the chauffeur up to within three weeks of the failure, said Miss Hopper, and then she paid him herself.

The insurance policy was given her two weeks after she received the automobile, she said.

Mr. Brown's deceased wife had been the beneficiary, she said, "and he wanted me to be the beneficiary the same as she had been. He told me to give it to my attorney and have the transfer made."

A formal demand that the automobile and the insurance policy be turned over to the receiver was then made. Before Miss Hopper could reply to the request, Attorney Lauterbach, special counsel for the firm of A. O. Brown & Co., asked:

"Was there any engagement of marriage between you and Mr. Brown?"

"Yes," replied Miss Hopper. "It began on the day the car was presented to me."

"And there was an engagement ring which you still have?"

"Yes," answered Miss Hopper smilingly. "Yes, I still have it."

"You are still engaged?"

"We are."

"Now, Miss Hopper, you have said there was no consideration in return for these gifts?"

"Yes."

"You repeat that?"

"Well, there was no consideration other than my engagement to marry Mr. Brown."

"That is sufficient under the Federal statutes," said Mr. Lauterbach.

"Do you make a demand for the ring? Because if you do, we refuse to accede to the demands of the receiver."

"Yes, certainly we will refuse," said Miss Hopper firmly. "You don't get that ring."

"Don't want it!" exclaimed counsel for the receiver, tersely.

Miss Hopper also formally declined to give up either the automobile or the insurance policy. She also testified to have received a gift of money from Mr. Brown, after returning from an automobile tour which she took alone. The money was "just a gift, to do with as I pleased."

This concluded her testimony. The hearing was adjourned to Friday next.

AMPLE VOTE FOR TAFT.

Treasurer Treat Says Republicans Will Win.

Majority Safe, but not so Large as Usual.

Nathan Straus, for Bryan, Is "not Sagacious."

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Charles H. Treat, Treasurer of the United States, in attacking Mr. Bryan on his financial record and policies, today predicted the election of Mr. Taft by a safe figure and expressed the opinion that the people of the country would choose the "man who had proved up, and not assume responsibilities for any risk they might run while Mr. Bryan was proving up." He prophesied, however, that the election would not be of the landslide variety.

"Mr. Taft will be elected," said he, "but it will not be a McKinley or a Roosevelt majority. The Republican majority this year probably will be reduced, but it will be ample. Mr. Bryan will poll fewer votes than before, and so will the Republican ticket, I believe, for early registrations indicate a much lighter vote than has been customary."

Mr. Treat also handed a neat little package to Nathan Straus, who as head of the Bryan and Kern Business Men's Association is attempting to swing the business interests of the country to the Democratic column.

"If Mr. Bryan were to be elected," he explained, "the fact that he has not proved himself, and has not the unlimited confidence of men of large affairs, who have money to invest, would have a tendency to slow up things a bit. For some months after his election there would be some feeling of apprehension consequent upon a change from the known to the unknown in administrative affairs which would result in hesitancy and delay in carrying out large enterprises.

"If Mr. Taft were to be elected, on the other hand, confidence would not only be fully restored, but it would be put back in pretty nearly its old-time dimensions."

"You say the men of affairs, even in the Democratic party, have no great confidence in Mr. Bryan?" asked a Democrat. "Don't you think that Nathan Straus fairly represents the men of affairs in the Democratic ranks?"

"We regard Mr. Straus with high esteem and admiration," replied Mr. Treat, smiling benignly, "as a philanthropist, but not as one of the country's leading sagacious business men."

DOLLIVER FOR FRUIT TARIFF.

IOWA SENATOR SAYS HE FAVORS CALIFORNIA.

Republican Speaker Addresses Immense Crowd in Fresno, Praises Needham and Perkins, and Tells of High Recommendations for Taft From McKinley and President.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

FRESNO, Oct. 13.—Senator J. P. Dolliver addressed the biggest crowd tonight that was ever packed into the Barton Operahouse. Dr. Chester Rowell presided at the meeting and introduced the Senator as the man who was chiefly responsible for Fresno securing a tariff on raisins.

Senator Dolliver referred to his automobile trip in the afternoon through the vineyards and declared that as long as he was a member of Congress he would fight for the maintenance of the protective tariff on California's great fruit interests.

He referred to the fact that Congressman Needham, as an influential member of the Ways and Means Committee, would be a power in upholding the tariff on California products.

The Iowa Senator also referred in a laudatory way to Senator Perkins.

The Senator then discussed national issues. He said that not only had Theodore Roosevelt seen in Taft the best equipped man to be President of the United States, but that President McKinley, in sending Taft to establish a civil government in the Philippines, said:

"Do this stupendous work well, and a grateful people will honor you with the Presidency."

DEMOCRATS SPRING JOKE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Vice-Chairman Hudspeth of the Democratic National Committee, made public today a list of the States in which he said Mr. Bryan would receive the electoral vote. They are as follows:

The Solid South	166
Nebraska	8
Indiana	15
Ohio	23
New York	39
Nevada	6
Total	264

Necessary to choice, 242.

The vice-chairman put Wisconsin in the doubtful column, and said that New Jersey, Connecticut, Rhode Island and Illinois were still debatable, with New Jersey and Connecticut favorable to the Democrats.

FOLK CALLS SENATE ROTTEN.

Missouri Governor Says Battle of People Against Graft and Greed Lies There.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

GOLDEN CITY (Mo.) Oct. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Gov. Folk delivered an address here tonight in which he departed from his regular campaign speech and gave reasons why he wants to sit in the upper house of Congress. The Governor says in part:

"The great work of the next few years in the battle of the people against the enemies of the people will be upon the field of the Senate of the United States. There is no place in all this world where there is more to be done for the people against graft, greed and lawlessness than there.

"While there are no doubt many good men in the Senate, there is undoubtedly more rottenness there than there ever was in the Legislature of Missouri, or even in the municipal Assembly of St. Louis."

DEMS AID THE REPUBLICANS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—Republican doctrine received unexpected publicity through Democratic channels today when two van loads of campaign literature were dumped in the mailing room of the Democratic National headquarters.

The literature, intended for Republican headquarters, a block away, was written in Bohemian, Lithuanian and Slavic, and before it was discovered that the documents were appeals for the election of Mr. Taft, most of the literature was mailed to voters.

DEMOCRATS GET REPUBLICAN AMMUNITION.

Chairman Josephus Daniels of Bryan Press Bureau Learns That Sherman Anti-trust Law Has Been Enforced Chiefly by President Roosevelt and His Party.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—Atty.-Gen. Bonaparte has replied to a second letter from Josephus Daniels, chairman of the press bureau of the Democratic National Committee, in Chicago, in which he complains the Attorney-General's answer to his first inquiry as to trust prosecutions had not differentiated between the prosecutions under the Sherman anti-trust law and those under other laws.

Answering the inquiry specifically the Attorney-General stated that under the Sherman anti-trust law, passed in 1890, there have been sixty-five proceedings in all, fifty-six under Republican and nine under Democratic administrations, forty-six since Mr. Roosevelt became President, in September, 1901, and nineteen during the preceding eleven years.

Among the prosecutions of the Democratic administration, the Attorney-General says, is included resistance to the petition of Eugene V. Debs for a writ of habeas corpus. It is also asserted that five out of nine proceedings under Democratic rule were against labor organizations and their leaders, and that under Republican rule there have been in all three such proceedings out of fifty-six.

FROM JERUSALEM TO VOTE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—One hundred and five years old, but in good health, "Old Man" Simon Harris, as he is familiarly known on the East Side, comes all the way from Jerusalem to vote at every Presidential election, as he was one of the first to register yesterday.

A chorus of congratulations greeted his appearance there and he shook hands with many of his friends of long standing.

Mr. Harris answered the inspector's questions in a steady tone and remarked that his papers were wearing out and he would have to obtain duplicates because he expects to vote at several more Presidential contests.

He will stay here until after the election, when he will return to his home in Jerusalem, whither he went to live many years ago. Mr. Harris was naturalized in California and walked from there to New York after the gold excitement of 1849.

LONGSHOREMAN DENIES REPORT

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

DETROIT, Oct. 13.—President Keefe of the Longshoremen's Union categorically denied the statement issued from Democratic headquarters in New York that he had been offered the position of Commissioner General of Immigration in return for his support of Taft.

CHOLERA IS DISAPPEARING.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

MANILA, Oct. 14.—The number of new cases of cholera has declined to about five cases daily, and these are chiefly confined to one or two of the congested native districts.

The health authorities are vigorously fighting the disease, and besides guarding and disinfecting the houses where it occurs are disinfecting the entire city.

The disease is gradually disappearing in the provinces, but a few new cases are being daily reported from Rizal, Laguna, Cavite and Palawan.

NOTHING BUT TAFT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The big banking people here with schemes on foot for financing big propositions running into millions do not wait until election day to find out how the cat is going to jump. These interests have been at work for weeks collecting facts and a round up of the big international houses today convinced your correspondent that, for the first time Wall street is assured of Taft's election. That assurance will have an effect from now on on the industrial as well as the financial situation.

WASHINGTON.

BIG CASES COMING UP.

Supreme Court of the United States Opens Term.

Naturalization Question From Hawaii on Docket.

Haskell's Guaranty and Railroad Laws to Be Tested.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—On behalf of the Rainy Lake River Boom Company applications for a writ of certerorari was today filed in the Supreme Court of the United States in the case of that company against the Rainy River Lumber Company.

Upon its face the case involves a charge for the storage of saw logs by the company, but owing to the fact that the Rainy River is the boundary between Montana and Canada, many international points will be brought into the argument of the case.

The case of Ainsworth vs. Evans holding first place on the docket of the Supreme Court of the United States and involving a complicated contest among stockholders in the Keystone Mining Company, whose property is located in Yavapai county, Ariz., was dismissed today by the court.

HAWAIIAN ARRIVES.

Atty.-Gen. Hemenway of Hawaii has arrived in Washington preparatory to appearing in the Supreme Court in a number of cases from that Territory. For the convenience of the Hawaiian lawyers, before adjourning last spring, the Supreme Court grouped all the cases from Hawaii, setting them for hearing one after another and advanced them so that they would be reached within the next two weeks.

Most of these cases are important only to the litigants, but one of them, that of Merita Keizo, involves the citizenship of a number of residents of the islands.

Keizo is a Japanese who is under sentence on the charge of murder and he has appealed his case to the Supreme Court on the ground that the sixteen members of the jury who sat in his case were not citizens of the United States. They were foreigners who had taken out naturalization papers in the Circuit Court of the islands.

MANY AFFECTED.

The law provides for the issuance of citizenship papers by only the District or the Supreme Court, and Keizo contends that because the papers in the cases of the jurors were issued by the Circuit Court, they were not eligible to act in that capacity or in any other capacity implying citizenship. He will accordingly ask the Supreme Court to reverse the findings.

Mr. Hemenway will contend that for the purpose of naturalization, the Circuit Court was in effect the District Court. He says that if the decision should go against this contention about 1000 men would be affected, many of them being Portugese who have gone to the Islands in recent years and who have taken out papers in the Circuit Court.

Beginning at 12 o'clock today the call of the docket in the Supreme Court for the 1908-09 terms was begun.

IMPORTANT CASES.

Among other matters of interest, many important railroad questions will receive the court's attention, and of these the appeal from the decision of the United States Circuit Court for the eastern district of Pennsylvania on the "commodities clause" of the Interstate Commerce law as affecting the anthracite coal roads, will probably occupy first place with the public.

An important case near the head of the call, is that of the Waters-Pierce Oil Company of St. Louis. This is an appeal by the company from decisions of the Texas State courts ousting the company from doing business in that State and imposing a fine of more than $1,800,000 against it on the charge of violating the anti-trust laws of the commonwealth.

The Waters-Pierce Company is identified with the Standard Oil Company and on that account, as well as on account of the fact that Senator Bailey has been charged with giving assistance to the company in its controversy, the suit has attracted much attention.

PUBLIC LAND CASES.

A case recently docketed will test the validity of the Haskell bank guaranty law of Oklahoma, and another, instituted by one of the negro soldiers discharged on account of the Brownsville riot, will deal with the right of the President to summarily dismiss an enlisted man before the expiration of his term.

Still another case deals with New York City's 80-cent gas law, the constitutionality of which is attacked, and another is intended to test the applicability of the New York game laws to game shipped from abroad.

There are several cases dealing with alleged violations in Colorado of the public-land laws, in connection with which a number of men of prominence are being criminally prosecuted.

These cases were dismissed by Judge Lewis of the Federal Court in Colorado, but the government appealed, and is preparing for a thorough presentation of them.

Two other important cases which the court will hear early in the term deal, one with the right of the Governor of Porto Rico to make requisition as a territory on the Governor of a State for the return of a fugitive from justice and the other, with the regularity of the proceedings of the New York courts against Albert T. Patrick, the lawyer, now serving a life sentence on the charge of murdering millionaire William Marsh Rice.

A number of cases affecting irrigation and dealing with the right of corporations to divert water in the face of protests from riparian owners also hold places on the dockets.

AMERICANS TO MEET MIKADO.

Commissioners to Japanese Exposition Will Be Presented to Emperor and Empress Friday.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

TOKIO, Oct. 14.—The American commissioners to the Japanese International Exposition, with the ladies of the party, will be presented to the Emperor and Empress next Friday, and Saturday they will be dinner guests of Baron Mumm de Schwartzenstein, the German Ambassador. With this dinner the official capacity of the commissioners will end. During the visit of the American fleet the commissioners will visit places in the interior of Japan.

Speaking today of the results of the visit of the commission, Commissioner F. J. K. Skiff said: "Everything is the most satisfactory possible, considering that the exposition does not open for nine years yet. I believe the exposition will be one of the most perfect ever held in the world."

BALLOONS IN SEA.

boat approaching us. The boat, however, could not reach us, as we were being dragged through the waves at the rate of about fifteen or twenty miles an hour. The boatmen shouted to us to jump overboard, which we did.

"I tried to save the St. Louis club's balloon by ripping it up, but the rope was jerked out of my hands. About ten minutes later I was picked up by the boat which in the meantime had saved my companion, Hewitt.

"We were landed, too tired to proceed to Berlin, whither we will go tomorrow."

Capt. J. C. McCoy, commander of the American balloon America II, which landed today, reached Berlin tonight.

"We flew 150 miles," he said, "and then we were becalmed for four hours. The wind shifted and we returned in the direction of Berlin, which we observed last night. We then traveled northward in a thick fog and were unable to read the maps. Suddenly we discovered that we were over water, and decided to descend. This was accomplished with some difficulty, and we landed in a tree top near Wismer, on the shores of the Baltic Sea. We were within ten yards of the steep cliffs, but we climbed out of our dangerous position with the assistance of fishermen. We were obliged to cut down the tree in order to save the balloon.

"The duration of our flight was thirty-two hours and seven minutes, during which we did not sleep at any time. Although we were obliged to descend we had sufficient ballast to stay up for another day."

THREE UNACCOUNTED FOR.

Three of the balloons in the race are still unaccounted for. They are the German balloon Busley, the Spanish balloon Castilla and the Swiss balloon Helvetia.

Two of the competitors in Monday's endurance race have not been reported and it is hoped these escaped the changeable lower currents which affected the other competitors and succeeded at higher altitudes in reaching Russia.

A report received from Wangerloog Island, in the North Sea, says that a balloon passed over there, but that there were no further tidings of it.

The flotilla of torpedo boat destroyers is searching the North Sea, where it is the food you digest.

The English balloon Banshee, so far as present estimates go, has covered the longest distance in the race, about 275 miles.

AEROPLANE NEARLY READY.

JUNE BUG'S SUCCESSOR.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—The new aëroplane, which has just been built at the aërial experiment station at Hammondsport, N. Y., from J. A. D. McCurdy's design, is expected to be ready for its initial flight within a week or two.

This is the fourth aëroplane built under the auspices of the association. It is a trifle larger than the June Bug with which Glen H. Curtis won the Scientific American's Cup last July, for making the first flight in America with a heavier-than-air machine.

Louis R. Adams, president of the Aëronautic Society, has returned from a visit to the society's headquarters at Hammondsport. He said at the rooms of the Aëro Club of America that the only thing needed to complete the new machine was the motor.

"Mr. Curtis is building the motor, and he told me it would be ready soon," said Mr. Adams. "It is a four-cylinder motor, water-cooled, and of about 24 horse power. Mr. McCurdy's will probably operate the machine on its first flight."

WRIGHT TO TRY HIGH FLIGHT.

THREE THOUSAND FEET IS GOAL.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PARIS, Oct. 13.—According to a Paris newspaper, Wilbur Wright, the aviator, has told Lazare Weiler, head of the syndicate that has purchased the French rights to the Wright brothers' machine, that as soon as he has completed his contract with the syndicate by instructing three pilots in the workings of the aëroplane he will attempt some flights for height. There is no reason, he is reported to have said, why he should not go up to a height of 3000 feet. He also spoke of trying to make flights without the motor and without the derrick which is now required to start the aëroplane.

OLD SCANDAL REVIVED.

COL. TUCKER IS ACCUSED.

Army Officer Charged With Deserting His Wife.

Warrant Served on Train as He Is Going South.

Allowed to Continue Journey on Account of Health.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—Lieut.-Col. William F. Tucker, paymaster of the Department of the Lakes, was served today with warrants charging him with wife abandonment.

Mrs. Tucker is the daughter of former United States Senator John A. Logan.

The warrant was read to Col. Tucker while on a train at Decatur, Ill., by Sergeant O'Brien of the Chicago Police Department, but no effort was made to place the army official under arrest.

Chief Shippy declared later that he had learned that Col. Tucker was on his way to Hot Springs, under a general order issued by the commander of the Department of the Lakes, and that his subordinates had been instructed not in interfere with the journey.

IS SERIOUSLY ILL.

Army officers informed Chief Shippy today that Col. Tucker was seriously ill and that a return to Chicago at this time might be fatal to him. Col. Tucker, in accepting service of the warrant, promised to return from St. Louis if his presence was demanded in Chicago. Chief Shippy thought this unnecessary and the Chicago detectives who had accompanied Col. Tucker to St. Louis were ordered to return without him.

"If those wanting him arrested are determined to have him brought back," said Chief Shippy, "they can present the case to the grand jury and have indictments returned. Col. Tucker can be reached at any time."

The warrant for Col. Tucker's arrest was secured from Municipal Justice Gemmil on Saturday by Mrs. Mary Logan Tucker, who declared that her husband had deserted her July 25, 1907.

MRS. LOGAN PLEASED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—Mrs. John A. Logan today stated that neither she nor Mrs. Tucker knew anything concerning the arrest of Col. Tucker, but that she was "glad of it."

She declared that she and her daughter had borne the "outrageous treatment of Col. Tucker up to this time in silence" except that they had appealed to the War Department to have him court-martialed.

"I want to have the world know about this disgraceful conduct," Mrs. Logan said, "in order that other poor women who have been saddened by the conduct of their husbands in the Philippine Islands may have some protection. In civil life such things could not go on, but in the army it is different."

In a signed statement issued yesterday Chancellor Andrews of the Nebraska State University forbids class fights, kidnapings, sneak days and night-gown parades. Chancellor Andrews declares that any student participating in the forbidden exercises will be expelled from the university.

LORD BACON SAID, "DIGEST"

This Is the Secret of Life in Business or in Health.

It is claimed that Lord Bacon struck the prime keynote of life when he wrote: "Some books are to be tasted, others to be swallowed, and some few to be chewed and digested."

He wrote of books; many who have followed him have written likewise of life. The man who digests his business makes success; the actor or actress who digests his or her art brings fame; the man who lives life and digests it as he should lives as was the intention he should live.

It is not the food you swallow or taste that brings happiness to you; it is the food you digest.

If you swallow and taste and don't digest and chew, Nature cannot give you health, for you do not furnish the ammunition.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets contain in pure, concentrated form the essences which, when they reach the stomach, turn dyspeptic conditions into those of healthy digestion.

These little tablets are dissolved in the mouth by saliva; they mix with this fluid and are passed down into the stomach, where they immediately set to work upon the food and digest it. They are many times more powerful than the human digestive fluids, and thus replenish Nature with those juices which sickness, abuse or wrongful eating have exhausted.

The world's best chemists in Europe and America agree on the ingredients best adapted to perfect digestion. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are these ingredients presented to the stomach in the most pleasant and lasting form.

Powders and liquids soon lose their effectiveness through chemical actions and decay. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are made under terrific pressure, and their qualities are thus made lasting.

Forty thousand physicians prescribe and use these tablets, and every druggist sells them. Price 50 cents. Send us your name and address and we will send you a trial package by mail free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Building, Marshall, Mich.

PREACHER POLYGAMIST.

Blames His Poor Memory for Fact That He Has Three Wives.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEVADA (Mo.) Oct. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Rev. W. H. Force, who occupied a pulpit here and who is admittedly the husband of four wives, only one of whom is dead, pleaded guilty to bigamy this morning in the Circuit Court, and was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary by Judge Thurman.

He said each time he married a new wife he forgot he had another elsewhere.

He was married about a year ago to Miss Minerva Griffith of this city, who caused his arrest on the charge of bigamy, her suspicions having been aroused by some letters belonging to him which she found.

SAVED FROM DEATH.

Deserted Wife Torn From Under Wheels of Electric Car When She Tries to Die.

Deserted by her husband three days after she left the County Hospital, Mrs. Mary Peterson, of No. 821 South Hill street, attempted to commit suicide about 1 o'clock this morning by throwing herself in front of a rapidly-moving street car at Eighth and Hill streets.

J. E. Backus, who has offices in the Currier building, rescued her at the risk of his life. The woman was taken to the Receiving Hospital, where she was attended and detained for the night. Her back was bruised and she also sustained slight abrasions on the face.

According to her story, she has been confined in the hospital for a month afflicted with scarlet fever. When she was released last Monday her husband took her to an apartment-house on West Eighth street, which he said he had rented for her. Then he bid her good-by and told her that he was going to Mexico, where he had a job.

Mrs. Peterson has heard nothing since and was notified yesterday that she would have to move or pay her rent. The woman spent most of the night looking for friends, but could not find anybody who would take her in. She became so despondent that she attempted to take her life.

Backus, who lives in the neighborhood, was going home when he saw the woman step in front of the car and sink down in the middle of the track. He reached her just in time to grab her by the arm and drag her off the track.

WHITE SLAVE DEALERS FLEE.

French Offenders Leave $25,000 in Bail and Escape Trial on Indictments.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—That the great crusade that the Federal government, through the District Attorney's office, is waging against the "white slave" traffic, has suffered a defeat in its most important case, was discovered yesterday when it was learned that Alphonse and Eva Dufour, two of the principal offenders indicted last July, had slipped through the net of the law and escaped to France.

They were held in prison for some time because they were unable to furnish bail, which was fixed at $25,000 for each of them.

In August, however, they succeeded in having the amount reduced to $25,000 for both of them. This amount was turned over to the government in cash and property, and they were released.

They are now in France. The United States has no extradition treaty with France covering the class of offense with which they are charged. Proceedings leading to the forfeiture of their bonds will be started before Judge Landis today. The court will set a day for their trial and if they do not appear at that time their bonds will be forfeited.

Elijah N. Zoline, their attorney of record, will appear for them, though he claims to know nothing of their whereabouts or intentions.

PRIMARY LAW UPHELD.

Washington Supreme Court Finds Act Valid, in Every Respect, as Passed.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

OLYMPIA, Oct. 13.—By unanimous opinion today of the State Supreme Court, the primary law passed by the 1907 session of the Legislature is upheld in every particular.

The court ruled that the indefinite provision requiring candidates to file a statement of expenses "not less than two days after primaries" should be construed as meaning "within a reasonable time."

It is also held that because a candidate is compelled to declare his party affiliation before voting at a primary election, such requirement cannot be construed as imposing an additional qualification upon voters.

The court holds that the contention that the primary law tends to destroy political parties is a question for the people of the State to settle for themselves, and one in which the courts are not interested.

GIVES BIG BUILDING AWAY.

D. O. Mills Presents San Francisco Structure to Children, Ogden and Mrs. Reid.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A gift deed was placed on record today whereby title to the Mills building passes from D. O. Mills to his son, Ogden Mills, and his daughter, Mrs. Whitelaw Reid.

It is set forth in the deed, which was signed in New York, October 8, that the consideration is love and affection, and for the "better maintenance, support, protection and livelihood" of his children.

The deed conveys the land at the northeast corner of Bush and Montgomery streets, on which the Mills building proper stands, together with building and all its furnishings, appliances and books in the law library.

Ogden Mills and Mrs. Reid previously owned the land on which is located that portion of the Mills building known as the "annex," and through the transfer they become the owners of the main building.

The Mills building and land are worth about $2,500,000. The building was recently rehabilitated and an annex was added to it, making it one of the largest buildings in the city.

"My wife and I saw her," replied the witness.

"What time of the year did you see Mrs. Shaw take dew baths?"

"In the summer."

"Where did she take the baths?"

"Between her house and Mrs. Stoddard's, next door."

ROLL IN THE DEW.

"What did you see her do?"

"I saw her disrobe and roll in the dew."

"Was she entirely unclad?"

"As far as I could see she had nothing on, but she may have had tights."

Mrs. Dittman testified that there were classes in the cult, each having a different form of exercise. In the advanced class one person was always nude and two men and three women were stripped to the waist.

At this point Mrs. Dittman remarked that the other members of the cult went around with too little clothing on to suit her, so she affected a "little girl" style. She was then asked by Attorney McIntyre if she was affecting the same style today, and she replied that she was.

ENGAGEMENT BROKEN.

over the reports that she is responsible for the delay in formally announcing the engagement of the Duke of the Abruzzi and Katherine Elkins. It was learned from a reliable source today that she has never either opposed or encouraged the engagement and never taken any attitude toward it, public or private. She was apprised of the Duke's desire to wed Miss Elkins, as were the rest of the royal family, but she was never asked for any official pronouncement, nor would it have had much weight had she made it.

"Do you and the rest of the Queen's suite regard the engagement as existing?" was asked of a close friend of the Queen.

After some hesitation, the friend replied:

"There is no real engagement. As a matter of fact, the Elkins family always preferred this way of leaving things indefinite, the reason being that they probably foresaw that they might feel forced, as at present, to declare that no engagement really existed."

"Do you think the marriage will ever actually occur?"

"It is hard to say. There is evidently real affection between the two young people, but if I must answer I will say that I do not think they will be married. If you want the truth in a nutshell, as I understand it, here it is: The whole Italian royal family, while not at all actively opposing the engagement, does not believe that the marriage will take place, but when dealing with a temperament like the Duke's you cannot be too sure of anything."

ELKIN REFUSES ANY ANSWER TO RUMORS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "And how, pray, does The Times know that there has ever been an engagement?"

From his home in Elkins, W. Va., this evening, United States Senator Stephen B. Elkins propounded this query to The Times correspondent, who had called him by long distance 'phone to ask the straightening out of the many tales regarding the broken engagement between his daughter, Miss Katherine Elkins, and the Duke of the Abruzzi.

"I should like to know from whence this mass of information regarding my daughter comes."

The Senator was told that tonight's cables from Rome said the Duke had ordered jewels for his intended wife and that he was about to sail for America to claim his bride. This in spite of previous rumors that the engagement had been terminated, presumably at the instance of Miss Elkins.

"I have nothing to say in answer to these rumors, absolutely nothing," said Senator Elkins.

"Then, Senator, will you answer The Times one straightforward question—Is your daughter engaged to Abruzzi or has she been engaged to him at any time?"

"No, I will not answer any rumors. Neither myself nor family have any statement to make regarding rumors. Absolutely no statement to make. In this connection I want to say that some days ago the newspapers had Mrs. Elkins quoted as making a statement on this matter, but it was untrue. Mrs. Elkins did not make any statement; rather, she didn't make the statement with which she was accredited."

LONDON PAPER LEARNS WEDDING WILL OCCUR.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

LONDON, Oct. 13.—The Daily Telegraph's Rome correspondent says that he is able to state on the highest authority that the wedding of the Duke of Abruzzi and Miss Katherine Elkins will certainly occur very soon.

Turkey and it is not impossible that the subjects of the Sultan will be quieted by means of a guarantee of the Turkish loan which would set the new régime firmly in the saddle.

Sir Edward recognizes also the moderation of Greece in withholding recognition of the Cretans after the proclamation of union and he believes that the apparently successful efforts of the Servian government to fight against the radical elements in the country entitles it to consideration.

Consequently these will be among the questions to be considered at the conference.

CHICAGO POLICE FIND FIVE HUNDRED RIFLES.

"Black Belt" Quietly Prepares for Hostilities by Laying in Supply of Weapons, One Purchaser Giving Information That Members of Race Will Defend Themselves.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The discovery of more than 500 rifles in possession of negroes in the "black belt" caused the police today to break up what they fear are preparations for a race war in Chicago. All of the rifles are of the old Springfield make, discarded by the army. They were sold recently in one large lot by the government and many of them came to Chicago, where they were disposed of cheaply.

Detective Sergeant Charles Agnew today sent out detectives to watch the places in which rifles are being sold and to question every purchaser.

One negro, when stopped by the detectives as he came out of the store with a rifle, said:

"There are about 500 rifles in the 'black belt.' The negroes are taking the advice of colored preachers, who advised us to arm ourselves. There will be no trouble out there unless white folks bother us. But if they do we will not be caught empty handed like the negroes were down in Springfield. We want to be let alone, but we also want to be ready for trouble if it is going to come."

CHICAGO CUBS NEAR WORLD'S CHAMPIONS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

DETROIT, Oct. 13.—Chicago crept one game closer to the world's baseball championship today by defeating Detroit, 3 to 0.

Chicago has now won three games of the series, as compared with the one annexed by Detroit at Chicago yesterday.

Eddie Summers of Detroit and Mordecai Brown, the premier pitcher of the Chicago team, opposed each other, and the latter had all the better of the argument, although Summers pitched excellent ball in all but one inning.

In the third, Summers passed two on balls, some of which seemed to the crowd to be very much like strikes. He was cutting the corners in whirlwind fashion, and an inch either way would have changed the umpire's verdict.

Chicago had two men on bases in the first and one in the second, without the situation, however, growing precarious. In the third, after Sheckard and Evers, as a result of sprightly efforts of Coughlin and Schaefer had been retired, Summers wavered ever so little, and Schulte was presented with standing room on the initial bag. The tall Chicago right fielder promptly concluded to try out Schmidt's throwing arm. Said arm tried, and found wanting. Schmidt's unsuccessful throw to second was the first of four similar failures.

CUTTING CORNERS.

Chance, next up, was also walked, despite the strenuous objections of the Detroit battery, to say nothing of the crowd. Singles by Steinfeldt and Hofman followed, sending Schulte and Chance across the plate. Steinfeldt took third, and Hofman second during the process of a run-getting, but the best Tinker could do was a grounder to O'Leary, who threw him out.

Chicago's final run occurred in the ninth, when Winter took Summers's place in the box. The change in seams made no difference to Chicago. With two gone, Evers singled to left and stole second, coming on home on Chance's single to right.

Detroit threatened to score only once. In the fourth inning Brown found himself in a pretty hole when singles by O'Leary and Crawford placed them respectively on second and first bases with none out.

Capt. Chance left first base and Joe Tinker came over from short to confer with Brown. If the conference concerned the handling of an ordinary bunt it was successful, for Cobb, the Detroit slugger, who hit so strenuously yesterday, was next up and bunted. The ball rolled toward Brown, who rushed up to it and without even looking at first, shot it on a line to third, just in time to get O'Leary.

Crawford, meanwhile, had taken second on the play. He is known locally as "Old Reliable." It is said of him that he may be depended on to do the right thing at the right time almost invariably. Taking a lead off second, "Old Reliable" for once in his life did the wrong thing at the wrong time. He chose this occasion to refresh himself with the traditional forty winks. This was some thirty-five winks too many.

CRAWFORD ASLEEP.

Kling observed the runner's somnolent expression and the violent efforts of Joe Tinker to attract attention without making a noise. The Chicago backstop shot the ball to Tinker on a line, rudely disturbing the rest of Mr. Crawford, spoiling Detroit's only chance to score, and perceptibly depressing the spirits of the spectators.

Crawford retired to the bench very much crestfallen, for where there had been men on bases with an excellent chance of scoring, now there were two out with only Cobb at first. Cobb started to steal second, at the same time that Umpire Connolly called a third strike on Rossman. Presumably Kling did not hear what the umpire said, for he threw to Evers and Klem called Cobb out. The play, however, did not count as Rossman had already made the third out.

In the fifth inning, Coughlin was hit by a pitched ball, but got no farther than first. In the sixth, O'Leary got his second hit, but was immediately doubled. In the next three innings Detroit went out one, two, three.

BROWN INVINCIBLE.

The pitching of Brown was clearly up to his usual standard. His only wildness was in hitting Coughlin. He allowed four hits, two of which went to O'Leary, and two to Crawford, one of the latter's being a double. He struck out four men, besides accepting four chances in fielding out runners on bases.

While the crowd today was larger than that which turned out to view the opening struggle of the series here, it was not so large as had been expected in view of the Detroit victory yesterday. The turnstiles registered 12,907 paid admissions, from which the gross receipts were $19,221.

The ground immediately in front of the grand stand was still muddy from Saturday's play, but the diamond was in good condition and the weather was ideal for spectators and players.

SCALPERS ARE BUSY.

TICKETS MANIPULATED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—Sales of baseball tickets for future world's series direct from the National Commission to the public probably will be the method adopted hereafter.

Letters and disgruntled enthusiasts poured into newspaper offices yesterday, all with the same tale of being unable to buy reserved seat tickets from the club box office, but of being offered the coveted pasteboards at a premium from scalpers before the public sale began.

The result has been an estimated attendance of 15,000 for the two games played in Chicago, and an estimated loss in receipts of $25,000, the bulk of which would have gone to the players.

Many of the protests from fans went direct to the three members of the National Commission, Garry Herrmann, Ban Johnson and Harry Pulliam. Then when a person high in authority and familiar with every detail of the arrangements reported to the Commission that the count of tickets and receipts from Sunday's game had been delayed nearly an hour until 35 reserved seat coupons, which had been "on sale," could be gathered together, returned, and credit given to the local club, the members of the Commission decided somebody was to blame, and the only way to prevent a repetition of such suspicions and charges of unfairness would be to undertake the stupendous task themselves, perhaps with the assistance of the contending clubs' corps of ticket takers, but with all responsibility resting with the Commission.

POPPING UP FLIES.

GARRETT IS UNBEATABLE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Seals never looked to have a chance today at any stage of the game, being forced to succumb to the tune of 7 to 3. A belated rush in the eighth inning saved them from a whitewash, but in the previous rounds Garrett was unbeatable and had all Long's batsmen popping up easy flies or taking three wild swings.

Portland commenced doing things in the second frame, thanks to a couple of boob plays by the local infield, two runs crossing the pan without a hit being made. Then in the fourth they added three more tallies, and another in the fifth.

Garrett hung up distress signals in the eighth, and the Seals fell on his offerings to such purpose that three men paid their respects to the pan.

WILD GAME OF PUNK ERRORS.

TAIL-ENDERS BEATEN AGAIN IN SLOW CONTEST.

Van Haltren Files Protest Because a Reach Instead of a Spalding Ball Is Used, and Dillon Also Decides to Complain—Both Delmas and Cook Have Bad Day.

Los Angeles, 5; Oakland, 2.

After Van Haltren and Dillon finished protesting yesterday's game at the Chutes grounds, the score was 5 to 2, and it looks as if the best that the Tail Ends get out of it will be the worst of it. This complaining business was about the only feature of the game, except the errors, and there were no less than seven of these.

Along about the sixth inning, when Van Haltren saw that he had no chance to win, some fellow belonging to the Tail Ends decided to look at the ball in play and see if it was a hoodoo. To his surprise and delight he found that it was a Reach or American League ball, and not a Spalding or National League ball, and as the Pacific Coast League had adopted a Spalding ball as its official pill, Van at once saw the game, and did so.

Five minutes later, when this harrowing news was carried to Dillon of the Los Angeles team and he had verified it, Dillon filed a protest on the ground that Oakland was playing McCarthy at third base. Dillon says this bird belongs to the Shreveport team down in Louisiana. Dillon merely filed his protest to offset that of Van Haltren, but the league directors will certainly not allow Van's claim.

Cook played first base yesterday for the Tail Ends, and made two errors that helped along runs, and while Delmas had three blunders, two of them were on hard chances, and as none of these figured in the runs they did not count. Loucks did the heaving for Oakland, and his wildness is responsible for the loss of the game. Nagle for the locals started off bad, but after the second inning he had the enemy in his pocket, and only two men reached second thereafter. Ellis's fine running catch of a short fly back of shortstop was about the only fielding feature.

In the second for the Oaks McCay singled, but was forced at second by Cook. Then Cook stole second and C. Lewis walked, and was also forced by Loucks. After him came Van Haltren, who slammed a pretty double to the Chutes gate, scoring Cook and Loucks for the only two runs the Tail Ends made.

For the locals, Easterly opened the second with a double to left, and was forced to the plate with a run by passes to Oakes and Brashear and Dillon's hit by pitcher. The next two runs came from two singles, two sacrifices, two errors, a pass and a hit by pitcher. The fourth was caused by a fielder's choice, a single and a sacrifice, and the final resulted from a pass, a single, a sacrifice and an out.

TEST OF STRENGTH.

LAW SCHOOL IS RATHER EASY.

DROPS PRACTICE GAME TO THE OCCIDENTAL 'VARSITY.

Lack of Training and Practice Accounts for Loss of Game, but Lawyers Have Excellent Individual Talent—Occidental Plays Poorly, Considering Good Coaching.

The Occidental College 'varsity beat the U. S. C. Law School football team in a practice game at Occidental yesterday afternoon by a score of 12 to 0. The Presbyterians were not able to score in the first half on account of their ragged playing, but they took a slight brace in the second period and registered two touchdowns.

The Law School team showed a lack of training and practice. Several of the players are fair at individual work, but the men do not play together.

Occidental played a miserable game in the first half. The men failed to get into the game with much spirit, and the lawyers made first downs several times. Landreth and McDermont made the touchdowns and Wieman kicked the goals.

The line-up:

U. S. C. Law.		Occidental.
Wall	R. E.	Wieman
Murray	R. T.	McDermont
Kidder	R. G.	Smart
Folsom	L. G.	Thomson

Whitcomb	L. E.	Hopkins, W.
Dunham	Q.	Thomson
McGregor	L. H.	Thomas
McNamee	R. H.	Carus

U.S.C. PREPS WIN.

BEAT LONG BEACH AGAIN.

The U.S.C. preps defeated the Long Beach High School in a fast football game at Howard Field yesterday afternoon by the score of 15 to 0. Three touchdowns by Stabler, right half on the winning team, and no goals kicked make up the count.

The game was the second contest between the two teams and the visitors put up a much better game than in the first contest at Long Beach last Saturday. The best work for the preps was done by D. Wallace and Stabler at halves, and by Bunker, Lorentzen and Hummel in the line. Stabler was slightly handicapped with a badly-wrenched knee received last week, but gamely played through the entire game. His futile attempts at goal kicking were due largely to the condition of the injured member.

Capt. Reis and Morosco of the Long Beach team bore the brunt of the attack of the locals, and although the visitors were unable to get within striking distance of the Methodists' goal, the strong defensive playing prevented the preps from registering a larger score.

Coach Cromwell has given all the candidates for the prep team a chance to play during the early practice games, and now has a good line on the abilities of the men. Today he will make his selections for the first prep team and will give the squad special plays to be used against the Pomona preps in the game next Monday. The youngsters are strong on teamwork and will be given a few formations using the forward pass.

The line-up of the teams was:

Long Beach.		U.S.C. Preps.
Morosco	L.E.R.	Hummel
Porr	L.T.R.	Lorentzen
Fraser	L.G.R.	Law
Peterson	Center	Bunker (c)
Ringheim	R.G.L.	Henderson
Fulton	R.T.L.	Low
Minto	R.E.L.	Wyatt
Nadeu	Quarter	Reiche
Davis	L.H.R.	H. Stabler
Reis (c)	R.H.L.	D. Wallace
Armstrong	Fullback	Hunter

Referee—Cromwell.

INDIANS AFTER OCCIDENTAL.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

RIVERSIDE, Oct. 13.—The Sherman Indian football team will play its first game of the season next Saturday afternoon at Evans Athletic Park, Riverside, with the Occidental eleven as opponent.

Coach Warner is confident that his men will make a creditable showing. For the most part the Indian team is composed of young players. Under the training of Warner they have been making rapid progress since practice began, and are expected to put up a plucky fight for the honors.

The line-up of Sherman's team will be about as follows: Willets, left end; C. Coleman, left tackle; Thomas, left guard; Bush, center; Whipple, right guard; J. Lewis, right tackle; Dow, left half; Smith, right half, and S. Lewis, fullback.

Boles, captain, who has been laid up with a sprained knee, will probably be in Saturday's game. H. Coleman may also play at right guard. He has been laid up with a lame back for a few days, however, and may not be able to take part.

Passed balls—Schmidt, 2.

Struck out—By Killian, 4; by Reulbach, 5; by Brown, 2; by Pfeister, 1; by Mullin, 3; by Donovan, 1; by Overall, 1.

LAND.

I will sell you an acre of rich and productive soil, thirty minutes from this office, with free water piped direct to your door in steel mains, for $45, at $10 down and $10 a month. Rent could not be fairer. The electric car stops right there and the power-house is located there, also. Good, progressive neighbors, who appreciate fine land and free water, are there on every side. The streets are wide and graded. The wells are deep and never cease to flow with an abundance of clear, cold, sparkling, pure water from nature's generous bosom. The scene and surroundings are uplifting. Schools and all good influences are close by. You can reach town and return as quickly as from many sections of the city proper. You can grow all your own table vegetables, raise your ducks and chickens and sell them, instead of paying rent you are paying for your own place, or instead of buying a city lot you are buying 5 or 6 lots at the price of one, and laying the foundation of permanent independence as the values increase. Come in and take a trip there on one of our hourly excursions.

STOCKS AND BONDS—
And Mortgages.

OUR STOCKS MAKE YOU MONEY. Clients originally purchased from us Hecla at $1, which is now selling at $4, and paying $40,000 per month dividends; Bunker Hill and Sullivan at $5, now selling at $53, and paying $80,000 monthly dividends, and Snowstorm at 25c, which sold as high as $4, paid 40c a share in dividends, and is now paying 3c a share.

We are now promoting three properties which have even a better showing with the present amount of development than the above-mentioned properties at the same stage, namely, the Snowstorm Extension, adjoining the Snowstorm; Idaho Lead Silver, adjoining Bear Top, of Coeur d'Alene District, Idaho, and the Whipple Mountain Gold & Copper of San Bernardino county, Cal. Work is being pushed on these three properties and we feel confident that we shall have them all developed into shipping mines in the next 12 months, and the stock which is now being purchased at 25c will be worth dollars.

The following is a letter of indorsement from clients who have made money through stocks purchased from us:

To Whom It May Concern—This is to certify that I have purchased Snowstorm stock from A. J. Richardson at 25c per share and since could have sold the same at 34 per share, besides having received 6½ per share in dividends. Mr. Richardson is a mining promoter, who handles only properties in which he is a heavy stockholder, and sells enough treasury stock to develop them. He has a reputation of having successfully promoted several properties which are now producers.

I know him personally and can recommend him as an honest, square dealing man of integrity, and can safely say that any proposition he promotes has unquestionable merit.

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

Asset Is Death.

A. C. Tigner of San Bernardino filed a voluntary bankruptcy petition in the United States District Court yesterday. His stated liabilities are $687 and assets $2305, of which $2000 is represented by a life insurance policy.

Will Plead Later.

Manuel Magoy and Francisco Alvanes were arraigned in the United States District Court yesterday charged with selling liquor to reservation Mission Indians in San Diego county. They will plead next Monday.

Will Welcome Her.

Mrs. Frank Wiggins, wife of the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, has left the Los Angeles exhibit at Atlantic City, N. J., and is on her way west. Secretary Wiggins, who has business at Sacramento next week, will probably meet his wife in that city.

Exhibit Is Back.

The Los Angeles exhibit which won so much praise at the Territorial Fair at Albuquerque, N. M., arrived in the city yesterday in fine condition. The best specimens will be sent to the Seattle Exposition next spring. C. L. Wilson, who was in charge of the exhibit, is expected home today.

Imperial Corn.

That the Imperial Valley can raise gold medal stock feed is shown by an exhibit sent to the Chamber of Commerce yesterday by H. V. Thompson of Imperial. In the display are fine specimens of Kaffir corn, Egyptian corn and broom corn. The samples are perfect in head and grain and, according to Secretary Frank Wiggins, are the banner specimens received at the chamber for the season.

"Boosters' Congress."

A "Boosters' Congress" will begin its session in Sacramento today, and yesterday Secretary Herbert Burdett of the California State Realty Federation started for the State capital to attend as a delegate. The primary intention of the congress is to boost the Sacramento Valley and upper San Joaquin, but it will be proposed that the convention hold a session in Los Angeles during "Prosperity Week."

Stricken in Office.

R. B. Carpenter, formerly a judge of the Superior Court of San Francisco, was stricken with paralysis yesterday morning while in the office of Arnold & Donaldson, in the Copp building. Police Surgeon E. H. Garrett was called and after administering treatment had the aged official removed to his home at No. 1316 Kellam avenue. Mr. Carpenter is 88 years old, and for several years has been partially disabled.

Autoist Exonerated.

A Coroner's jury at the Pierce morgue yesterday exonerated George Lyons, who ran over and killed Michael Reynolds Sunday evening. Members of the jury went so far as to compliment Lyons for his work in attempting to avoid a collision with Reynolds. Witnesses stated that Reynolds walked directly in front of the automobile in which Lyons and the members of his family were riding. The automobile was going at about six miles an hour when the tragedy occurred. The front wheels passed over Reynolds's neck, causing instant death.

DAMAGE SUITS FILED, CRIMINAL CASES NEXT.

Artillery in Action in Woolwine-Fredericks-Harper Feud—Nick Oswald's Alleged Promises of Protection Dug Up by Pursuers of Mayor.

MAYOR HARPER and the Police Commission assumed the offensive yesterday in their quarrel with Thomas Lee Woolwine, City Prosecutor, and Edwin T. Earl, owner of the Evening Express, over the red light district.

Attorneys for the Mayor filed two suits for libel in the Superior Court. The first is against Woolwine for $25,000 damages, and the second is against Earl for $100,000 damages. Application for complaints alleging criminal libel will probably be made tomorrow.

Yesterday proved to be a busy day inside the grand jury room, but when the jury adjourned last night no indictments had been returned against any city official.

Politicians are watching the progress of the quarrel closely, as every hour political history is making. An indictment against the Mayor just now would mean a "recall" election, with a probability of Woolwine as the "recall" candidate against Mayor Harper. Many members of the Democratic League are following Woolwine as a forlorn hope, trusting that through him they may gain control of the Mayor's office.

WHAT NEXT?

The suits filed by the Mayor yesterday are to be followed today by at least two others filed by members of the Police Commission. Earl and Woolwine will be the defendants in these cases also. The attorneys for the Mayor and the commissioners are Henry T. Gage, W. I. Foley and Isidore Dockweiler.

There will be a consultation this morning between the commissioners and their attorneys to decide on the form of the complaints for criminal libel which District-Attorney Fredericks will be asked to issue. The attorneys for the Mayor say that, in the light of the communications sent by the District Attorney to Woolwine, the District Attorney's office cannot well decline to issue complaints which charge criminal libel.

The complaint against Woolwine alleges that he caused to be published false and defamatory words concerning the Mayor, "willfully and maliciously intending and designing to bring said plaintiff into hatred, contempt and obloquy and to injure him in his said office as Mayor."

Two editorials published in the Evening Express form the basis for the libel suit against Earl and his paper. These editorials accuse the Mayor of protecting vice and boasting of it, and urge the grand jury to "smash the red lantern that hangs over the entrance to the City Hall."

CASE OF TUFTS.

E. B. Tufts has joined with the other police commissioners in their suits against Woolwine and Earl. Tufts did not become a member of the commission until several weeks after the houses of ill fame in the tenderloin were closed; but no exception was made of his case by either Woolwine or the Express when charging the Police Board with the commission of a felony in protecting vice.

Woolwine called Tufts up over the 'phone several days after he made his charges and said, "I did not intend to include you in the statements I made."

Tufts replied that his explanation came a few days too late, and hung up the receiver.

Police Commissioner Nathan Cole is in San Francisco on political business. He has wired to his brother commissioners to count him in on the suits for libel. He is expected here Friday morning.

EVIDENCE OF PROCURERS.

While the attorneys for the Mayor and the commissioners are preparing and filing damage suits, their enemies are raking the tenderloin with an electric comb for crumbs of evidence calculated to prove that the administration has been protecting vice.

They have gathered in two French procurers who are said to be ready to "squeal" concerning certain options which they bought under promise of protection from "higher up" only to find that the protection was not forthcoming. They are behind in their payments on their options and in return for immunity they may be induced to talk.

It appears that the Mayor's enemies are working hardest to connect the administration with certain alleged promises of protection that went forth a few days before the red-light houses were closed. The theory on which they are working is that certain interests secured property in the tenderloin under the assurance that they would be permitted to lease it for immoral purposes. When it became apparent that there was to be an actual closing of the red-light district there was a transfer of certain options; it is alleged that promises of protection went with these transfers, but the "protection" was not delivered.

The name of Nick Oswald is mentioned in connection with some of these transfers of options. It is also asserted that Oswald has gone about making the assertion that if the Mayor were to be a candidate for reelection he could not carry the Eighth Ward.

THE POLITICS IN IT.

Municipal and political circles are interested deeply in Woolwine's chances for the Mayor's chair. If Woolwine succeeds in winning an indictment from the grand jury he may be made the candidate against Mayor Harper in the "recall election" that is to follow.

Many believe that the present agitation over the red light is the outgrowth of the bitter fight between the Democratic Club and the Democratic League. Mayor Harper is the idol of the Democratic Club and Woolwine is one of the leaders of the league. He was a candidate for delegate in the last county primary, and was beaten at the polls by the friends of the Mayor.

Later Woolwine put into concrete form the charges which the leaders of the league had been making in secret for several months. Woolwine will have the united support of the league in a recall campaign; he also carries the indorsement of the Voters' League.

A new Mayor would mean new commissioners and an entire revolution in the municipal service. Some of the little-place men at the City Hall and in the police and fire departments are beginning to show signs of nervousness; they are wondering whether it is advisable for them to cast an anchor to the windward in case of possible accidents.

COMPLAINT AGAINST EARL.

The allegations in the complaint against Earl and the Express are as follows:

"Arthur C. Harper, the plaintiff in the above entitled action, complains of the defendants, Evening Express Company, a corporation, and Edwin T. Earl, and for cause of action allege that at all the times herein mentioned said plaintiff was and still is the duly elected qualified and acting Mayor of Los Angeles.

"That at said times said plaintiff was and is a man of family and of large personal acquaintance, and was doing business in Los Angeles, and said plaintiff prior to the false and defamatory publications hereinafter stated bore a good name and reputation as an upright man and as Mayor of said city, among his personal acquaintances and generally among the people of said city of Los Angeles and generally among the people of California."

After stating that the Evening Express is a newspaper of general circulation, and that Edwin T. Earl owns a majority of the stock of the corporation, and is its president and general manager, and dictates and controls the general policy of the newspaper, the complaint continues:

"Plaintiff alleges upon information and belief that for more than a year last past said Edwin T. Earl has continually harbored and expressed private and personal malice and hostility toward said plaintiff.

"That on or about October 2, 1908,

Nick Oswald,

the tenderloin boss, whose alleged promises of protection to law-breakers form the chief ammunition of sleuths who are after Mayor Harper's scalp and are seeking to criminally prosecute him. At the City Hall it is stated that Oswald never had authority to promise anything.

CHARMS, AND THEN ALARMS.

Bewitching Maiden Who Gets Beer From Druggist Proves to Be Male Officer.

LONG BEACH, Oct. 13.—That a bewitching maiden with beautiful eyes, beguiling voice, fluffy hair and the daintiest of gowns should have changed in a moment to a brusque male detective, smoking a big black cigar, caused a pharmacist deep grief and cost him $100.

Last night the "bewitching maiden" entered the Wolff-Adams drug store and asked J. C. Leach, an Angeleno temporarily employed there, to refill a prescription calling for a cold quart of beer. An ordinance forbids the refilling of liquor prescriptions and Leach hesitated and was lost, for a coy glance from lovely blue eyes, accompanied by an appealing smile, proved irresistible.

He gave "her" the bottle and "she" tripped to the door and gave it to a waiting policeman, who invited Leach to step around to the Police Station. Arrived there, "the fair charmer laid aside a wig, dropped into a chair, put "her" feet upon a desk and lighted a cigar. The detective is said to be one of the cleverest female impersonators in the country.

Ten-Dollar Prize Offered for Best "Prosperity Week" Slogan—Contagious Ten-word Phrase Wanted. Must Forcibly Impress Home Products Buying Idea—Chance for Fame.

"Ten dollars for an idea—ten words long" that was the offer voted yesterday by the Chamber of Commerce Committee on Publicity for "Prosperity Week," the six days of home products buying.

When the Publicity Committee became "stumped" at its meeting yesterday over the selection of a battlecry for the campaign for home products, Secretary Frank Wiggins came to the rescue with the suggestion that they appeal to the public, and forthwith the committee voted a $10 reward for a suitable short, catchy and convincing phrase that will induce people to buy home products throughout "Prosperity Week" and carry the conviction that native goods are best and cheapest.

The person coining the cleverest slogan for the big occasion will have, in addition to the $10 prize, the pleasure of seeing his, or her words displayed on buttons from the coat lapels of 100,000 people, and also see the motto emblazoned on hundreds of street banners, pennants and sheets of literature.

The winner will indeed be the foremost participant of all the tens of thousands who will take part in the industrial boom.

Anybody, young or old, rich or poor, may compete. Any number of trials may be made—the more suggestions the better. There is no limit on the number of words, but the mottoes will be judged chiefly upon the three qualities—brevity, euphony and "point." The judges of the phrase-coining contest will be the members of the Publicity Committee, Arthur W. Kinney, J. H. Rice, W. G. Hunt, Martin Neuner and W. G. Curtis.

The prize-winning slogan for "Prosperity Week" and "Home Products" will be decided upon by a majority vote of the committee, and if yesterday's proceedings are any criterion, it will take a good many ballots to settle the vexed question.

When the committee met yesterday the matter of selecting a motto for the 100,000 buttons and other advertising immediately became a "hard nut to crack." Every committeeman had ideas, and all were different. All manner of "catch phrases" were suggested, but none met with unanimous approval. So it was decided to make the selection a public affair.

Poets will have an excellent chance, for rhymes seemed to find some favor with the committee. All prize mottoes must be in the hands of Secretary Wiggins at the Chamber of Commerce by 5 o'clock next Saturday evening.

The flood of responses from the mercantile and manufacturing world to the Chamber of Commerce appeal to participate actively in the events of "Prosperity Week" continued unabated throughout yesterday, and with no lessening of the enthusiastic approval.

The "performers'" part of the "show" is fully assured, and it only remains for the public to determine how great the occasion will be.

Some firms will enter over twenty vehicles, loaded with home products, in the big industrial parade, which promises to stretch over miles of the city's streets. Novel ideas are being worked up for these moving exhibits, and some wagons will pass out hot eatables during their progress, while pretty girls will toss handsome souvenirs from others.

The chamber committee yesterday adopted a novel plan of securing a test of popular sentiment regarding the "home products crusade" in the form of a card pledge. The pledge reads:

"Please reserve for me a souvenir badge of 'Prosperity Week.'

"I hereby promise to ask for home products in my purchases during the six days from November 16 to 21."

The Parade Committee of the celebration will meet today, or tomorrow, when the details of what will be one of the greatest events of "Prosperity Week" will be arranged.

KING'S DAUGHTERS.

A meetings of the local branch of the King's Daughters will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at No. 1189 West Twenty-ninth street, to meet Mrs. Alvah Fessenden, Southern California State secretary for the order in this State.

Miss Gladys Burr, whose strange physical decline begun nine weeks ago, when she was vaccinated, and whose death occurred at Monrovia yesterday.

PATHETIC.

DEATH FOLLOWS VACCINATION.

GIRL'S QUEER DECLINE AFTER AN OPERATION.

Robust at the Time She Received the Virus, She Wastes Away, and Her Case Puzzles Attending Physicians—Submitted Because Stanford Regulations Require Vaccination.

The death yesterday of Miss Gladys Burr, aged 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Burr of Monrovia, ended nine weeks of physical decline that began the day following her vaccination. That the vaccination led to her death is believed by her family, though her attending physicians are not satisfied that this was the real origin of her illness.

The peculiar nature of Miss Burr's decline and the pathetic destruction of a young girl's ambition to follow her three brothers through Stanford University, aroused general interest in the town. She was known widely as one of the most popular of the class of the Monrovia High School of 1907, and she was zealously preparing, after a year's rest, to enter Stanford. In her high school days she had been conspicuous as a member of the debating team and had aided it to win the Southern California banner in 1905.

Until she was vaccinated, which is a preliminary qualification rigidly enforced by Stanford, she was apparently in robust health. The day following the administration of the virus in her arm she became ill and could not eat. From that time until her death she had retained scarcely any food, and for two weeks subsisted without any at all. Gradually she wasted away, a puzzle to her physician, Dr. M. H. Chamberlain of Highland Park, who diagnosed her case as gastritis, but who believes that there were probably other causes. In the three days preceding her death she lost her sight and hearing and then paralysis affected her spinal cord and brought the end.

The vaccination was a normal one and the limb in which it was administered did not disclose any unhealthy result. At first Dr. John Allison, an osteopath of Monrovia, attended her, but when he saw her declining rapidly advised the calling of Dr. Chamberlain, a homeopath. Dr. Allison believed the vaccination may have had some direct relation to her illness, perhaps causing poisoning. In such apparent good health was Miss Burr before vaccination that she climbed Wilson Peak and returned without any apparent distress.

MORE RARE RELICS.

Southwest Museum Will Display Fine Collection When Settled in Hamburger Building Home.

Dr. F. M. Palmer, curator of the Southwest Museum, hopes to have his exhibits ready for the public, in the new quarters on the sixth floor of the Hamburger building, about the first of next week. The big collection now is moving from the Pacific Electric building.

For the first time, when the museum opens next week, the people will have a chance to see for themselves the new collection of relics of the Cliff Dwellers of Southern Arizona. The curator is enthusiastic over this, a recent addition to the wealth of his institution. He says it is one of the most perfect collections ever gathered under one roof. The museum purchased it from the original finder, Mrs. Doney, an old resident of Flagstaff, who unearthed it from ruins near that town.

It consists largely of fabrics woven with wonderful skill; minerals for making paints; household utensils and stone tools.

WANDERS FROM HOME.

José Rodela, a Mexican 52 years of age, shortly before noon yesterday left his home at No. 444 North Beaudry avenue, where he has been living with A. J. Cook, and has not been seen since. The police have been notified and searching parties scoured the neighborhood until late last night, without success. He is an old soldier and wore a steel-gray suit with a soldier button on the lapel of his coat. He speaks no English, and owing to partial paralysis, is able to give little account of himself, beyond repeating his name.

BITTER FIGHT FOR FORTUNE.

Cool Quarter of Million in Oil Land Dispute.

Ugly Charges Over Sale of Kern County Lease.

United States Court Asked to Enjoin Transfer.

Litigation over oil lands of immense value in Kern county was begun in the United States Circuit Court yesterday, by the minority stockholders in the Utah Crown Oil Company, to prevent the lease of the land to the Babcock Petroleum Company, having its present headquarters in San Francisco. The plaintiffs assert that by conspiracy and fraud, a lease of oil-bearing lands valued at $250,000 is to be transferred to the Babcock concern in utter disregard of the rights of the minority stockholders, who represent over 50,000 shares of stock.

The Kern Crown Oil Company, the Utah Crown Oil Company, the Babcock Petroleum Company, Frederick W. Babcock, a Rhode Island capitalist; T. L. Moran, H. F. Huber, J. W. Henderson, D. R. Evinger, John Conley, M. J. Benson and others are named as defendants. Several of the parties are well known in this city, and a number of Los Angeles men are stockholders in one or the other of the two oil companies.

The suing stockholders are Mary A. Craig, George A. Hill, Fred C. Dern, George E. Arris, W. F. Culmer, Robert J. Shields, Thomas B. Needham, J. C. Gregory, Cecil A. Crockwell, Hannah E. Bartlett, John A. Johnson, Joseph Sessions, S. B. Phillips, Daisy Pardee, James D. Pardee, G. L. Ryerse and others. It is said that several of the plaintiffs reside in this city, but the bill in equity does not disclose the residence of the litigants.

AGREED TO TRANSFER.

The two oil companies were incorporated under the laws of Arizona, but both have their headquarters in this State and maintain offices in Los Angeles, San Francisco and Kern county. According to the allegations of the bill, the directors of the companies made an agreement in 1903, whereby the Utah Crown Oil Company was to transfer 149,500 shares of its stock to the Kern company, in consideration of the latter's deeding it valuable oil lands in Kern county.

It is alleged that the Kern Crown Oil Company failed to keep its agreement and that later it assumed control of the Utah concern and put its own directors in charge of the business of the other company. After obtaining control of the two companies, it is alleged that a surrender of all right to a deed was obtained from the Utah company. After that the bill sets forth that a conspiracy was entered into whereby the lands which rightfully belonged to the Utah Crown Oil Company were leased to T. L. Moran, the leader of the majority, and that he in turn assigned the lease to his friends.

The plaintiffs allege that, having thus obtained the lease to lands, the defendants now propose to sell the lease to Babcock and the Babcock Petroleum Company.

FEAR FOR THEIR RIGHTS.

If this deal is put through, the minority stockholders in the Utah company assert they will be deprived of their rights and will be virtually forced out of the concern.

An injunction is prayed for, to restrain the defendants from consummating the alleged deal. Other demands are that the Kern Crown Oil Company keep its alleged agreement and make over the oil lands to the Utah Crown Oil Company for the benefit of the stockholders and that the relinquishment of the right to receive a deed be declared void. It is also asked that the assignments and transfers of the lease to the lands in question be nullified.

It is said the defendants will contend that all their transactions were regular and carried out in pursuance of resolutions by the directorates of the two companies. As the original documents and books containing the history of the transactions between the two companies are said to have been burned in the San Francisco fire of 1906, the plaintiffs state that much of their evidence cannot be brought out until the defendants are put on the stand to testify. The case in its preliminary stage probably will come up in the Federal Circuit Court next Monday morning.

REAL APPRECIATION.

"Through the Bottom" of His Heart Native of Nippon Thanks Postmaster for Letters.

A letter of thanks received by the "honorable postmaster" from a Japanese living in Hollywood, will be filed away in the sacred archives of the office, for although complaints are by no means infrequent, it is seldom that a personal letter of thanks for good service is opened by Postmaster Flint or his assistants.

"Nothing more comfortable," writes the native of Nippon, "than the letters from the parents when one has alone been out of one's country. The one has to give the other who took the trouble to forward the letters or messages from the home, the great deal of thanks that is due by moral, by natural living in the world to offer the latter through the bottom of the heart and so I thank you with heart."

Assistant Postmaster Harrison said that the writer had evidently struggled to express his sincere appreciation for the routine forwarding of his mail and that he was very grateful for the compliment paid the office.

AWAITS HIS BRIDE.

College Romance Is Happy for Young Attorney, Whose Fiancee Is on the Way.

Miss Katherine George, daughter of Dr. Conrad George of Ann Arbor, Mich., left her home at Ann Arbor yesterday for Los Angeles and when she arrives she will be married to Reuben S. Schmidt, an attorney and member of the law firm of Schmidt & Riggins, in the Johnson building.

While Schmidt was a student at the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor, he met Miss George, and their friendship soon ripened into love. The college romance will conclude with the wedding. Schmidt is unable to go to Michigan to marry the sweetheart of his school days, because of business interests, and the girl who chose him as her protector decided to come to him.

PUBLIC SERVICE—OFFICIAL DOINGS.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The Board of Public Works has adopted specifications and will receive bids November 20 for the twelve-mile open conduit in Antelope Valley for the aqueduct.

The special Council committee which investigated City Dog Catcher Vacher has exonerated him.

W. S. Caley and George Stephan yesterday filed in the Superior Court a suit against Anthony Schwamm for $2440 damages, charging fraud and false pretenses in the sale of a cigar stand.

On the ground of desertion, Judge Conrey granted Mrs. Libbie J. McClure a divorce from Charles McClure, sometimes known as Carl Noel.

Judge James handed down a decision denying a decree of divorce to either party in the contested suit of Mrs. Anna Etta Mayr against Walter Mayr. The court decreed that the child is legitimate and awards the mother $150 monthly alimony.

Owing to the interposition of technicalities yesterday at the preliminary examination of Mrs. Finn for the murder of her lover, the prosecution failed to prove the death of Mahaffey as the result of bullet wounds.

AT THE CITY HALL.

ANTELOPE CUT NEXT CONTRACT.

TWELVE-MILE DITCH SOUTH OF JAWBONE SECTION.

Specifications Adopted by Board of Public Works for Construction of Conduit That Will Cost More Than Three Millions—Bids Last of November.

By specifications adopted by the Board of Public Works yesterday another section of the Owens River work may soon be under way. The specifications adopted are for the Antelope Valley open work and bids are to be received November 30.

This is known as section No. 7, and is immediately south of the great Jawbone district. Though almost wholly open work it contains several small tunnels and a few syphons. Its aggregate length is 60,280 feet—about eleven miles—and the principal item in the specifications is the excavation of 283,140 cubic yards of material.

Several portions of the work are to be covered, not for the protection of the water, but for the protection of men and animals, for the portions to be covered will be where deep cuts are made in place of tunnelling, and the walls to the bottom, where twelve feet of water will flow, will be so precipitous that man or animal falling into them would have no chance for escape, and only small hope of miraculous rescue.

While estimates are not made public as to the expense of the work it is likely to cost in excess of $3,000,000. The board of engineers in December, 1904, estimated that it would cost $3,976,000. Since then there have been changes in the route and details and this estimate may be regarded only as approximate and the actual cost may reach $3,500,000.

It is the wish of the board to perform this work by contract and only a repetition of exorbitant bidding will prevent its letting when bids are received.

The board is highly pleased with the work on the Jawbone section, as it has been pressed by Chief Engineer Mulholland. So satisfactory is this work being done that Mr. Mulholland already sees a likelihood of an immense saving over the estimates of the engineers in this section. Because of his success in this the board is not fearful of the outcome of the bidding. In fact the performance of the work by its own forces relieves the board of the constant danger of legal delays with contractors and insures the steady work on the project and its early completion.

Bids are to be received on the printed forms adopted yesterday, and the contractor must accompany his bid with a bond in the sum of $150,000. The board is soon to receive bids for many thousand feet of iron piping for use in the tunnels, over 100 ore cars and other material items for the Jawbone section.

VACHER VINDICATED.

WILL GET HIS MONEY.

The city dog catcher, George B. Vacher, who was tried before a Council committee composed of Lyon, Blanchard and Dromgold, on charges preferred by Mrs. L. E. Giese, has been vindicated. This committee met with Mayor Harper yesterday morning and went over a stenographic report of the testimony and reached the unanimous decision that there had been no proof adduced from the testimony that justified the charges.

In view of this conclusion the committee sent a communication to City Auditor Mushet notifying him of the result and recommending that he pay $716, due the dog catcher on his June and August statements, and which has been held up pending the result of the hearing.

In the last two months Vacher has suspended his work and dogs have had complete immunity. Incidentally the city has lost probably more than Vacher has in the reduction of dog licenses and pound fees. Vacher will not resume. He will await the report of the committee t othe Council next Monday and this report will recommend the abolition of the present pound system and the creation of a new one with an officer appointed by the Mayor, who will be paid a salary. The ordinance is to be made so drastic that the penalty of having an unlicensed dog will operate to fill the city treasury with license fees and minimize the work of the dog catcher, it is hoped.

URGES PROMOTION.

WOULD MAKE DIXON CAPTAIN.

The Police Commissnon at its meeting yesterday was urged, by a resolution adopted recently by Bartlett-Logan Post, G.A.R., to promote Lieut. Charles E. Dixon to the captaincy made vacant by the assassination of Capt. Walter Auble. The promotion was asked on the ground that he had qualified for the place and that he had an honorable record of service in the war with Spain in the Philippines. The resolution was ordered filed, as the commission has already decided not to fill the vacancy, at least this year.

The commission granted a restaurant liquor license to C. Bazzini at No. 317 West Second street. This is the restaurant formerly known as the "Bohemian Grill," which in a short career impressed itself on the memory of the police. The commission was informed that Bazzini had cleared the place of all stalls and curtained rooms and would conduct a high class place, and on the strength of this reconsidered its refusal several weeks ago to grant a license for this location.

Morley After Elks.

Absent on leave to attend the Masonic State lodge at San Francisco, Superintendent John Morley of the park department is also fraternally looking after the antlered herd. Because the Elks' Grand Lodge is to meet here next year the Park Commission wants to enlarge its supply of Elks and Morley is expected to return with a whole herd at his heels.

Abecedarian Plan.

The old spelling books and bees used to revel in the spelling of Aaron because it ranked first in the minds of abecedarians and originated that euphonious sing song of the spelling bee: "Big A, little a, r-o-n—Aaron." Out in Edendale tract, where the abecedarians named six streets in their perplexity because they could not think of names that would not duplicate those already in use, the pioneer residents have decided that the alphabetical nomenclature is too much like a telephone directory and have sent petitions to the City Council asking that the six streets known as A, B, C, D, E and F be changed to the following: Aaron, Brandon, Clifford, Duane, Ewing and Fargo.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

ACCUSE SCHWAMM OF DISHONESTY.

SUE ON GROUND OF FRAUD AND FALSE PRETENCES.

Democratic Candidate for Supervisor From Fifth District Said to Have Made Untruthful Statements to Sell Cigar Stand, and to Have Broken Agreement.

Anthony Schwamm, Democratic candidate for Supervisor from the Fifth District, is accused of fraud and false pretences in a suit for damages, which W. S. Caley and George Stephan, doing business as Caley and Stephan, filed yesterday in the Superior Court.

The plaintiffs assert that in February, 1907, they purchased from Schwamm, for $2734, a cigar stand at No. 110 South Spring street; that they would not have made the purchase had he not falsely stated to them that for a long time he had received $35 daily profit from the stand; that it had not for a long time paid him less than $1000 a month, and that, by reason of an option he controlled on the whole of the store at No. 110 South Spring street, he would subsequently get them a lease on the premises.

It is asserted that these statements were not true; that the business of the cigar stand did not at any time, covered by Schwamm's statement, exceed $25 daily profit, and that he failed to keep his promise regarding the lease.

The plaintiffs say that Schwamm's failure to keep the terms of his agreement with them has resulted in their financial loss and they ask the court to award them $2440 damages.

Schwamm, in his answer to the suit, will emphatically deny all allegations of unfair dealing.

MAKES DENIAL.

ATTORNEY EXPLAINS ACTION.

Attorney W. G. Abbott, whom Frank Alvarez accused, last Saturday, in Judge Jamison's court of having, as his counsel, induced him against his will to plead guilty to the passing of a fictitious $19 check on B. H. Jones, yesterday denied the truth of this statement.

"I emphatically deny that I in any way induced Alvarez to enter a plea of guilty," the lawyer said. "He acted of his own free will and I did not influence him. As an attorney, I cannot speak of Alvarez's admissions to me. I would not, under any circumstances, consent to a client of mine pleading guilty if I were not absolutely convinced of his guilt.

"I was not present at the man's trial or I should have taken the stand and flatly denied his statement and I should also have sworn that Alvarez did not tell me he was innocent, or words to that effect."

Alvarez, who entered a plea of guilty in Judge Wilbur's court, last July, and subsequently withdrew it and stood trial, was acquitted by a jury, Saturday. He asserted that the fictitious check had been given him by an acquaintance, Carl Newark, and that he believed it good when he gave it to Jones.

TWICE DESERTED.

WOMAN'S STORY WINS DECREE.

Mrs. Libbie J. McClure, formerly of Sharon, Pa., but now living at Whittier, yesterday secured in Judge Conrey's court a divorce from Charles McClure, who deserted her in April, 1907.

"We were married in June, 1896, and my husband fled to California from Sharon about three years ago, when he got into trouble with a woman back there," said the plaintiff. "I followed him, about sixteen months later, and I found that he passed in California under the name of Carl Noel. He was working for the Title Guarantee and Trust Company when he left me without warning, in April, 1907. He left his wages at the office, where I subsequently got them.

"Whenever I was out with him and he met any one who knew him as Noel, he would always take pains to get out of sight as quickly as possible to avoid introducing me as his wife, for I was known only by the name of McClure. I wrote to L. F. Williams here, in the fall of 1906, sending a letter through him for my husband, who was known to him as Noel. When McClure got this he confessed his true name to Williams, who had not previously known it. My husband is now here, I believe, for a short time ago I got a letter from him, saying that he will not contest this suit. But I do not know just where he is."

CHILD LEGITIMATE.

ADULTERY IS NOT PROVEN.

Finding that Josef H. Mayr, 3 years old, is the legitimate son of Mrs. Anna Etta Mayr and Walter Mayr, Judge James yesterday denied a decree of divorce to both the father and mother. The court awarded Mrs. Mayr $150 permanent monthly maintenance for herself and the child, whose paternity Mayr disclaimed, accusing Josef Gahm, a German musician.

In a lengthy opinion, the court holds that Mrs. Mayr's allegations of cruelty and desertion were not sufficiently established by evidence to justify the granting of a decree to her, and that her husband's allegations of adultery, cruelty and desertion are either unfounded or not sufficiently established to justify a decree in his favor.

After referring to the fact that Mayr is worth between $80,000 and $75,000, and that the nature of his business, before he removed to California, required him to be absent from his Chicago home about one-half of the time, the court says "it does not appear that the absence of defendant from home was at all disturbing to plaintiff. The idea of making for herself a public career as a musician she seems to have held before her as far more to be desired than that of settling down to the more quiet and peaceful existence at home. The thought of rearing a family was distasteful to her. The lure of the stage, with its Bohemian life as a complement, had an appeal for her that she found irresistible.

"The defendant's disposition is that of a highly irritable, nervous and impulsive man, whose chief attention in life has been engrossed in making his business produce an income which would result in the accumulation of more property. His natural notions of thrift were constantly being shocked when plaintiff would indulge in some fancy which meant the expenditure of more money than he had planned she should spend. But this disposition of defendant was well known to plaintiff and does not appear to have caused her any great distress.

"There are many circumstances in proof in the case which furnish ground for serious argument toward the conclusion that the relations between plaintiff and Gahm were of more than a passing friendlily character. From this, however, it need not be concluded that there is evidence satisfactorily showing that the relations between these people was adulterous.

"In this connection it may be observed that the testimony of the witness Keifer should be subjected to the closest scrutiny. He appeared as a witness, volunteering his testimony, without solicitation, and for the sole purpose, as he stated, of avenging himself against Gahm for some injury which the latter had done him. Admittedly having no grudge, and cherishing no ill will against Mrs. Mayr, he was willing to appear as a willing volunteer, unsought witness, and give testimony which, if true, would help to fasten upon the woman plaintiff the charge of adultery. The testimony of such a witness needs strong corroboration before it should be given much weight in the determination of so serious an issue. That there was continuous correspondence by letter between plaintiff and Josef Gahm is undoubtedly a fact; that it was of a character tending toward the affectionate very strongly is probably true; but that the correspondence contained statements of Mrs. Mayr amounting to admissions of adulterous conduct on her part must rest upon the uncorroborated statement of Keifer alone and should not be taken as true. It was also a fact that the child was born earlier than the date at which it would naturally have been expected, allowing the usual time for the period of gestation. It is not at all remarkable that the birth occurred when it did, without its being evidence that adultery had been committed by the mother.

"The testimony of the physician who attended at the birth of the child Josef Mayr was to the effect that the birth was a premature one. He gave in detail his reasons for arriving at that conclusion, and if his testimony is entitled to full credit, and there appears no reason why it is not, then it must stand as proved that the defendant is the father of the child. As to whether or not a child resembles its presumptive father may be a matter entitled to small consideration except where the resemblance can be said to be striking and unmistakable, in a case where the paternity of the child is at issue. The boy, Josef Mayr, while yet too young to show any very marked similarity of feature or action to either parent, did exhibit certain facial expressions which were markedly like those which appear to be peculiar to defendant.

"The second act of adultery, alleged to have been committed by plaintiff in the city of Los Angeles, is without sufficient proof to support it. The fact that plaintiff received a married man as an unaccompanied visitor in her apartments, where he remained for more than an hour, indicates that she was indiscreet and deserving of severe criticism."

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

CHECKS CAUSE ARREST. In default of $1500 bail, A. M. Beardsley of Long Beach was committed to the County Jail by Justice Selph yesterday pending his examination Tuesday on a charge of passing a worthless $15 check drawn on the Bank of Hollywood on the Burns-Farnsworth Company. Beardsley was arrested and placed under $2500 bail in the Long Beach justice court yesterday on a second charge of giving a worthless $5 check to a Long Beach grocery firm.

ADMINISTRATION. Judge Rives yesterday cited Mrs. Jessie W. Taylor, administratrix of the $16,000 estate of her mother, Mrs. Z. S. Wheeler, to give an account of the property before him on October 23. The citation was issued at the instance of Rev. J. W. Morris, husband of Mrs. Taylor's sister, Helen Morris, now confined in Patton, as allegations have been made that Mrs. Taylor refuses to give to her sister her rightful share of the estate.

VETT SENTENCED. L. Vett, who pleaded guilty to the grand larceny of a $120 set of diamond earrings from J. Mackowsky on May 21, was sentenced by Judge Jamison yesterday to two years in Folsom. Mrs. Lucia Vett, who was accused jointly with her husband, was acquitted at a recent trial, but the jury disagreed as to Vett. He consented to plead guilty if a second grand larceny charge against him should be dismissed.

SUIT FOR DEATH. A jury in Judge Houser's court heard evidence yesterday in Mrs. Elizabeth Sawdy's $30,200 damage suit against the Otis Elevator Company for the death of her husband, H. A. Sawdy, killed on June 15 in the elevator shaft of a building at Fifth and Spring streets. The plaintiff charges that Sawdy was working on a platform in the shaft when the defendant's elevator descended on him and caused him to fall to the cellar from the seventh floor. The defendant alleges contributory negligence.

ASK MANDATE. C. C. Steele and others yesterday filed suit in the Superior Court against the trustees of Savannah school district, asking that a writ of mandate issue compelling them to erect a new and adequate building on the site of the present schoolhouse of the district. The plaintiffs allege that the defendants have refused to act in accordance with the vote of the taxpayers of the district.

COLLISION. F. G. Crulkshank, who says that he received permanent injuries in a collision at Manila, Ariz., on June 28, between two Santa Fé trains, yesterday filed in the Superior Court a suit against the company for $11,190.

FROM JAIL TO PRISON. Ollie Holloway pleaded guilty in Judge Jamison's court yesterday to having stolen a suit of clothes at the University Police Station, where he was serving as a trusty, in August. He had been confined for 100 days on a charge of petty larceny. He was sentenced to eighteen months in San Quentin.

JUDGMENT. A jury in Judge Houser's court yesterday gave judgment for the defendant in George M. Pruitt's suit against the Salt Lake road for $1999 damages for the death of Walter Pruitt, killed last spring in a derailment accident at Seventh street, Los Angeles.

INCORPORATIONS. Articles of incorporation were filed yesterday with the County Clerk by the Mine Equipment and Engineering Company, capital stock $50,000; Sierra Madre Sanatorium Company, capital stock $300,000; Berean Bible School, no capital stock; the Marengo-avenue Methodist Episcopal Church of Alhambra, no capital stock; Homesite and Construction Company, capital stock $50,000; The Cousins Oil Company, capital stock $100,000. The Pacific Petroleum Company gave notice of removal of place of business from Los Angeles to Oil Center.

INFERIOR COURTS.

TECHNICALITIES DID NOT KILL.

BUT DELAYS IN MURDER TRIAL ARE DUE TO THEM.

Farce Comedy Hearing Because of Absence of Physician to Officially Declare Death of Dead Man. Woman Who Shot Lover Nearly Faints at Preliminary Examination.

After spending the entire day yesterday in an attempt to prove that J. Edwin Mahaffey came to his death because of bullet wounds inflicted by Mrs. Margaret Finn, the prosecution was compelled to admit defeat at the close of the session in Justice Chambers court and the preliminary examination may be postponed indefinitely.

The absence of Surgeon G. W. Campbell caused the trouble. Dr. Campbell as autopsy surgeon, examined Mahaffey's body and he alone can state positively whether or not Mahaffey died from the effects of the injuries.

The point is a technical one, but Attorney Fred Thompson, representing Mrs. Finn, refused to stipulate so important a point and Deputy District Attorney Pearson, who is prosecuting the case, may be compelled to ask for a continuance until such time as Dr. Campbell returns from Canada.

The trial of Mrs. Finn at this time is regarded by many as heartless. The woman is in no condition to go through the ordeal of a court proceeding. She will soon become a mother, and yesterday, during the hearing of the case, she had to be supported to and from the courtroom.

The testimony produced by the prosecution was rather indefinite. Every witness contradicted the statements of former witnesses. Thirteen witnesses were heard and thirteen different stories of the shooting told. Every witness saw the affair in a different light and each one solemnly swore that he or she knew all about it. The chief point of argument proved to be the question of the distance between Mrs. Finn and Mahaffey when the shots were fired. One witness said that Mrs. Finn was about two feet away from the man when she shot him. After that a few feet were added by each witness until the last one had Mrs. Finn standing about a half a block away and doing a sharp shooting stunt with a small caliber gun.

Mrs. Finn paid little attention to the proceedings. She was dressed in black and wore a heavy black veil. While the witnesses were being examined she leaned back in her chair so though she was very tired and her pale, thin face looked ghost-like through the heavy folds of the veil. During the entire day she fanned herself as though oppressed by the heat.

Bernard Masterson, a collector, was one of the first witnesses. He stated that he had just stepped from the curb at Seventh street and Broadway when the shots were fired. Turning, he saw Mrs. Finn, holding the revolver in her hand. He attempted to get the gun, but the woman drew back and a bystander seized her. Mahaffey, he said, staggered toward the gutter, holding his hands crossed over his head. He finally sank to his knees and slid forward on his face.

Masterson stated that he went to Mahaffey and asked his name and address. Other witnesses stated that no one went near the dying man and each had a new story of the death agony of Mahaffey.

Through each witness, Mrs. Finn went through the scenes of the tragedy until she was nearly fainting.

At the close of the session it was found that Mahaffey's middle name had been spelled wrong in the complaint, and the defense may enter a technical objection on this ground.

The case will be called again this morning. The prosecution has one or two more witnesses and the defense has not decided whether to make a fight in the lower court or keep its evidence secret until the case goes before a jury.

SUSTAINS CONVICTION.

The Supreme Court has sustained the judgment of the Superior Court of Orange county in the case of Joseph Young, convicted of selling liquor in violation of a county ordinance. In rendering the decision Justice Lorigan says that the Board of Supervisors had the power to pass a prohibition ordinance and he quotes a number of opinions on the subject.

INSUFFICIENT EVIDENCE.

The name of J. W. Lawrence was dropped from the list of defendants in the so-called Ollie Watkins orange-grove fraud, in the United States District Court yesterday. It was stated that there was not sufficient evidence to show that Lawrence had guilty knowledge of the swindling acts of "Ollie" Watkins. The latter was killed in an accident at Rialto some time ago, but his name still appears on the roll of defendants.

A Cure for Rheumatism.

Each recurring attack of rheumatism makes the disease harder to control, but the fact that it is not in itself dangerous causes people to neglect it, awaiting a change or a settled condition of the weather for relief. It is often only after the disease has become so serious as to interfere with business that the sufferer will seek more than temporary relief. Chamberlain's Liniment is a remedy for rheumatism which any one can apply. It not only gives prompt relief from pain, but in a large majority of cases it brings about permanent results. The first application will surprise and delight you, as immediate relief is almost sure to follow.—[Adv.

COURT DELAYS ITS DECISION.

GOLD BULLFROG PROMOTERS TO KNOW THIS MORNING.

Defendant Nash on the Witness Stand, Together With Comer, Possessor of Another "Secret Process." Callahan Does not Testify—Other Arrests Under Consideration.

After another full day's session in Justice Selph's court yesterday, the defense closed its case on behalf of C. J. Callahan and Fred W. Nash, the alleged fakers of the Gold Bullfrog Mining Company, and decision was reserved until this morning at 9:30 o'clock. The usual crowd was present to hear the arguments and watch the proceedings, and it was the general opinion that the people had presented a strong case.

Evidence adduced on behalf of the defendants consisted of the testimony of defendant Nash and that of J. A. Comer, manager of the Big Four Metallurgical Works of Santa Monica, who had made assays by another "secret process," and who had supplied the defendants with some very high results. When asked to describe his process, he declined upon the grounds that he could "not consistently do so." Although it is said that the defense originally intended to place Callahan upon the stand, it evidently changed its mind when the time came, and the audience was denied the pleasure of listening to the erudite remarks of one who is able to obtain gold from anything, even flower pots.

The opening argument of Assistant Dist.-Atty. Blair consumed nearly an hour and was a careful review of the testimony. He was unsparing in his denunciation of the defendants and the dishonest methods adopted to wheedle money from innocent investors. The opening argument for the defense was made by Attorney Miller and the close was in the hands of Attorney Bowen. The latter held the defendants up as men who were doing their part in the great task of upbuilding the country by delving in the mines.

As a result of the evidence given in the case, stockholders are now considering the arrest of other directors and will request warrants within the next few days.

SCIENTIFIC PROGRESS.

Homeopaths Will Meet Today to Discuss Important Medical and Surgical Questions.

The eighteenth annual meeting of the Southern California Homeopathic Medical Society will open today at the Hotel Westminster and will last for two days. Dr. Francis B. Kellogg, president of the society, will preside.

An exceedingly interesting and important session is looked forward to, not only because of the number and standing of the physicians who will be present, but because of the important questions which will be taken up in connection with almost all branches of medical science and surgery.

According to the Figaro, the bishops of France have received a circular from Cardinal Merry del Val, the Papal secretary of state, absolutely forbidding them, in the future, to attend the lectures of the State faculties.

HAWKING MACHINES

Is it possible that in these days when cleanliness and sanitary reform is being preached in the churches, schools and at public gatherings, that thousands of people will continue to suffer from catarrh, when there is an absolutely certain remedy always on hand?

Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me) is a pleasant, medicated and antiseptic air. Breathe it in and it will cure catarrh. It will stop foul breath, watery eyes, and crusts in the nose, in a few days.

It is guaranteed by leading druggists to do it or money back, and such a guarantee ought to be strong enough for anybody.

ENTIRELY CURED BY HYOMEI.

Having suffered from catarrh for about two years, and having tried numerous remedies without any satisfactory results, I finally tried Hyomei, and am glad to state that after using about one and one-half bottles I am entirely cured. I have recommended it to others with satisfactory results. —C. N. Lindsy, 407 East First Ave., Mitchell, S. D.

A complete Hyomei outfit, consisting of a strong, hard rubber pocket inhaler and a bottle of Hyomei, costs only $1, and extra bottles, if afterwards needed, cost only 50 cents each at your druggist, or direct, by mail, charges prepaid, from Booth's Hyomei Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Hyomei also cures Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs and Colds, Croup of Infants, and any inflammatory disease of the respiratory tract.

yielding 150 to 200 barrels of water to ten to fifteen of oil. The worst are the deepest, Nos. 5 and 9, about 1700 feet. Never has the output reached its former figures, but the water has failed to affect the petroleum's quality. There is none of the fine silt encountered at Santa Maria, where water has entered the sand. The sand and impurities settle in thirty minutes and the Standard is eager to get the product. The shallowest wells here are 900 feet.

The Coalinga being a close corporation, its problem failed to become of widespread publicity, but its wells could hardly have escaped entirely the neighbor's water difficulties.

The land to the north and west of this pool and west of the cropping is very broken and gives no sign of oil. The efforts to find any have all failed. Not long since, some parties had a wildcat scheme far to the west, where they had the hardihood to claim an extension of the Oil City pool which to oil men is simply ridiculous in view of what is well known.

HOME'S NEW LAND.

To offset in some measure losses on its old property, the Home has acquired, since the slump, the west thirty acres of the south half of the southeast quarter of 14-20-14, where it has drilled five wells. They are 650 to 700 feet deep and give less than 14 gravity fuel oil that goes to the Associated. Three were pumping some weeks since when the writer visited the property. Difficulties in drilling arise from shifting sands, and wells show a tendency to choke with sand. The shallow depth and heavy oil are characteristic of the western edge, the stratification dipping steadily to the east. The Home wells are on the western limit of development, but further from the cropping than a number further south that are not so far west. The outcrop makes a decided sweep to the west at this point, so that it passes fully half a mile due west of the Home on the adjoining section 15, and is separated from it by a small valley comprising the west half of 14, owned by A. P. May and undeveloped for oil, although some wells were drilled around there in the early days when the matter of croppings was not understood as it is now. On the flat just northeast of the Home, the Coalinga Petroleum Company has drilled wells that stand alone on the western edge of the development.

The Home is a San Francisco company chiefly. Its stock is quoted at 10 cents on the northern exchange. A. D. King is secretary and W. A. Gray field manager.

MONO LAKE BUSY.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

MONO LAKE, Oct. 11.—Until recently the Mono Lake country has been little known. Remotely situated as it is, off the main lines of railroad, the opportunities for reaching this section have not been favorable for extensive travel. The lake, one of the wonder spots of the world, has received small attention, and the surrounding country of sagebrush and sand, backed by the picturesque White Mountains on one side and the high Sierras on the other, created little interest in the mind of the visitor aside from the exceptional features of scenery.

It was not until a few years ago that the true character of these sands became known. Then it was discovered that practically the whole basin is composed largely of oil sands and shale.

The Mono Basin is situated at an altitude of 6380 feet above sea level, and is surrounded by low, rounding hills and towering mountains, natural passes through the hills rendering the country easily accessible. The western shore of the lake backs up close to the foot of the Sierras, while on the northern, eastern and southern sides considerable stretches of sand lie between the hills and the lake.

In the center of the lake are two islands, the larger one of which—Paoha Island—is principally a shale formation, with oil sand croppings. A number of seepages are found on this island, and a shovelful of sand overturned is sufficient to start the flow of oil and gas. Seepages are seldom found on the mainland, but there are sufficient other indications to warrant the belief that oil underlies the whole basin.

The northern and eastern sections of the basin are generally supposed to contain the most favorable indications. Sand croppings and shale deposits are found for twenty-five miles around the lake, and on the east side of the lake are found red sandstone croppings similar to those of the Sespe Cañon. Small deposits of gypsum have also lately been discovered.

Recent finds of oil sand and shale in the hills on the west side of the lake indicate that this section will also receive attention.

EXPERT OPINION FAVORABLE.

Experts sent to look over the country in the past few years have been unanimous in the opinion that oil was to be found in large quantities. But their companies, largely interested in fields already proven, with means of transportation at hand, passed Mono Lake by until such time as hauling should be easier and cheaper.

That time has now come, with a railroad only thirty miles away, and the survey completed for a line connecting the lake with the Southern Pacific at Reno, Nev.

PRESENT ACTIVITY.

One of the first to become actively interested in this country was T. O. Turner, formerly interested at Kern River. He immediately enlisted capital to prospect the new field. Two companies were incorporated, of which Mr. Turner is the manager—the Great Western Oil and Development Company and the Sierra Oil Company. In the early part of this year rigs were brought in and the first well was started on Paoha Island. Later sinking was commenced on the mainland by the Sierra Oil Company. Considerable delay has been caused by unfortunate accidents to machinery, but now work is being pushed rapidly forward.

The Great Western company, on the island, has a twenty-barrel well in the second sand at 600 feet, but this has been capped in order to prospect the lower strata.

A heavy flow of gas is struck on the island at a depth of 1250 feet, and at 1500 feet, in the third stratum of sand, every prospect points to oil being struck within a very short time.

Various rigs are now on the way in. Some prominent Nevada men have recently subscribed a large amount of capital to prospect thoroughly the district, and their first well will be sunk within two weeks. Coalinga oil men, recently in here with some of the most prominent experts on the Coast, were so favorably impressed with the showing that they are making preparations to start drilling before the winter sets in.

J. B. Cook, proprietor of the Sentinel Hotel in Yosemite Valley, was over here recently, accompanied by men of capital. Mr. Cook has extensive holdings in the basin, and orders are already placed for two outfits, which are expected every day.

A number of companies have been organized on reports of experts sent to look over the field, and orders for lumber placed with a near-by mill indicate the large number of derricks that will soon be erected.

MINES AND MINING.

MILLING PLANT FOR MAGISTRAL.

Jalisco Mine Will Install Dry Concentrator.

Property Has Developed Big Bodies of Ore.

Guggenheim Operations Show Serious Losses.

La Magistral mine, near Ameca, Jalisco, Mex., owned by H. L. Percy, J. P. Harvey and F. M. Lyons of this city, in partnership with Patrick Clark of Spokane and New York, will install a 100-ton reduction plant at once and for that purpose Harvey, who has been manager since the property was taken over in July of last year, will shortly leave for Denver to place the necessary orders for machinery.

The treatment will be dry concentration and it has been decided to use the Sutton-Steele tables, with which exhaustive experiments have been conducted by the management at El Paso, Tex., for the past few months. A crusher and rolls will be used to reduce the ore to the proper mesh. While the concentrator plant is being ordered, Harvey will also make arrangements for a ten-drill compressor, which will increase the drill capacity of the mine to twenty.

According to figures given out by Harvey at Guadalajara a few days ago, and confirmed at the local offices of the company, development of the past fifteen months has placed 100,000 tons of ore in sight of a conservative valuation of $1,000,000, or $10 per ton. The ore carries fair values in gold, besides an average of nearly 5 per cent. in copper, and it is said will make an ideal product for dry concentration.

The work accomplished since the present owners acquired possession consists of two tunnels, one 180 feet and the other 350 feet below the surface, and a double-compartment shaft, which has now reached a depth of 160 feet. One developed ore-shoot is 250 feet long, with an average width of twenty feet and values of 5 per cent. copper and $3 in gold and silver, while another is 200 feet long, with an average width of five feet, with values of 10 per cent. copper and $3 in gold and silver.

La Magistral mine has been worked since early Spanish days for sulphate of copper, and was formerly owned By the Dwight Furness Company of Guanajuato. A few years ago it passed to L. H. Taylor, Jr., of Philadelphia, and he in turn bonded to the present owners in July, 1907, for $100,000. Several payments have been made and it is now practically a certainty that the option will be exercised. A close corporation, to be known as the Mexican Mining Company, is being formed to take over title to the ground.

It had been rumored here that the property was sold to a New York company being organized for that purpose, but this is definitely denied at the local office. The owners expect to develop it extensively themselves and will, if results on the first unit warrant, increase the capacity of the concentrator to 200 tons. H. L. Percy is at present in New York in consultation with Patrick Clark.

Guggenheims Are Stung.

That all is not gold that glitters is exemplified by eastern statements as to serious losses that have overtaken the Guggenheims in their western operations during the past two years. If all these stories are to be believed, and they seem to be circumstantial enough to make them appear so, there is no doubt that the big syndicate has been hard hit and there is doubtless much truth in the recent suspicion that it was in serious straits for ready money.

According to the Boston News Bureau, conducted by a man named Barron, who was much in the public eye about the time of Lawson's first exposures, the Guggenheims have invested $27,000,000 in acquiring mining properties within a few years. One of the principal properties in which this vast sum has been put is the mining and smelting property at Velardena, Mex., and it is said that the mines alone cost a cool six million dollars. The cost of reduction plant and power plant added another $1,400,000, and so it is safe to conclude that the total investment will not fall short of $10,000,000. At a depth of 600 feet arsenic came into the ores and now is found that the average value will run less than 2 per cent. copper. It is said that the investment would not return one tenth of the original cost in the open market.

The syndicate has scored another rank failure in a silver-lead property near Silverton, Colo., for which $2,500,000 was paid for the mines and another $750,000 expended in mill and equipment. When the latter was completed it was ascertained that there was little if any ore ready for extraction.

In the Yukon Gold Company, which was offered to the public through the circus-posters of Thomas W. Lawson, it is said the Guggenheims are interested to the extent of $7,000,000. Four hundred thousand shares were appropriated to Lawson at $5 per share, and fed to the public at from $6 to $8 per share. It is now selling on the open market at between $3 and $4 per share and, owing to the shortness of the present dredging season in the north, gives promise of going much lower. On this transaction it is said that Lawson only cleaned up five-eighths of one point per share and that the Guggenheims met the advertising bills of $80,000.

The syndicate has also placed between $8,000,000 and $10,000,000 in the three smelting plants on the Pacific Coast controlled through the American Smelting Securities Company. These include the Tacoma smelter, for which $4,000,000 was paid, or many times the price at which it was offered to others, and the Selby plant, near San Francisco, which has recently been closed down by order of the courts. The third was the San Bruno plant, designed to cost $7,000,000, but which was abandoned after $1,500,000 had been expended.

To complete the record, the memory of Nipissing and its loss still troubles the Guggenheim syndicate. Taken altogether it is argued that the wholesale cutting expenses, which has been indulged in during the present year, was wholly necessary to save the syndicate from really serious financial trouble. During the panic of last winter a large block of smelter stock was forced on to the market to support the syndicate's other investments and it was snapped up by Rockefeller as a bargain counter find. Later the Guggenheims recovered possession of the stock, but at a great advance over the price they received.

Movements of Mining Men.

Frank Oldfield, mining engineer, has recently returned from Hayti, West Indies, coming through Mexico on his way. He made some important examinations of mines in both countries for New York clients.

C. E. Finney, president of the London-Arizona Copper Company, who has been to Phoenix, Ariz., after accompanying an eastern party of capitalists and mining men to the mines, is expected home towards the end of the week.

James F. Callbreath, Jr., secretary of the American Mining Congress, who is temporarily at the Hotel Lankershim, was the guest of several mining men at luncheon yesterday. He explained the objects of the organization and made a strong plea for consolidation of the western mining interests. He will leave today for Arizona points and El Paso, Tex., and will later proceed to Pittsburgh to attend a meeting of the congress.

ITS VAST IMPORTANCE.

Tremendous Volume of Business Transacted by Wholesalers' Organization Satisfactorily.

The report of the secretary and treasurer of the Los Angeles Wholesalers' Board of Trade, made to the directors yesterday, shows that a tremendous volume of business was transacted during the year, and indicates the vast importance of the organization.

There passed through the office 558 cases of bankrupt debtors, covering sixty-three different lines of business. Eighty of these cases were scattered in six States outside of California. In connection with these and others not taken up, 4526 requests were received from members, and over half a million individual reports were made concerning the indebtedness of firms and individuals inquired about. Of the 558 cases, 293 were finally disposed of and 265 are still pending, and 11,924 individual payments were made to creditors, amounting to $422,722.04. The average percentage of settlement gave a return to the wholesalers of $55.85 on each $100 of their claims.

The claims filed with the board represented a total of $1,324,463.44, and the cash passing through the office amounted to $489,381.19. The expenses incident to the handling of this great volume of business were $23,072.65.

The following officers were elected: President, W. F. Bosbyshell; vice-presidents, H. M. Eichelberger, F. E. McComas; secretary and treasurer, H. B. Rossiter; assistant secretary, A. D. Bond; attorneys, W. T. Craig and Carroll Allen.

POLICEMAN TO BE TRIED.

Said to Have Knocked Down Another Officer, and the Chief Prefers Charges.

Chief of Police Kern yesterday preferred charges against Patrolman Percy Held before the Police Commission. The officer is accused of unbecoming conduct in his assault upon James F. Beane, a special officer in the employ of John S. Hendrickson of the Chester Place district.

Held was suspended immediately after the attack, which took place at Chutes Park at 2 o'clock Monday morning. The Police Commission probably will inquire of the park managers why they permitted their place of amusement to be open at that hour.

Beane, according to the story, suggested that Held arrest a man, instead of beating him and the policeman resented this.

Lieut. Lenhausen says he saw Held strike Beane in the mouth, knocking him down. Beane was taken to the Receiving Hospital in an unconscious condition. He had sustained a slight concussion of the brain, when his head struck the curb, but is recovering. The lieutenant suspended Held and referred the case to Capt. Bradish, who, after investigation, recommended a hearing before the Police Commission. Held will offer his defense at the meeting of the board next Tuesday afternoon. Beane will be present if his condition permits it.

George W. Scott, a well-known banker and real estate dealer, whose offices are in San Francisco, arrived at the Westminster yesterday from his home in Alameda. He is visiting friends.

Pimples, Rash, Eruptions, Etc., Quickly Eradicated by New Skin Remedy.

Since its discovery one year ago, poslam, the new skin remedy, has, in its extraordinary accomplishments, exceeded the most sanguine expectations of the eminent specialist who gave it to the world. It has cured thousands of cases of eczema and eradicated facial and other disfigurements of years' standing. The terrible itching attending eczema is stopped with the first application, giving proof of its curative properties at the very outset.

In less serious skin affections, such as pimples, rash, herpes, blackheads, acne, barbers' itch, etc., results show after an overnight application, only a small quantity being required to effect a cure. Those who use poslam for these minor skin troubles can now avail themselves of the special 50-cent package, recently adopted to meet such needs. Both the 50-cent package and the regular $2 jar may now be obtained in Los Angeles at the Owl Drug Co. and other leading drug stores.

Samples for experimental purposes may be had free of charge by writing direct to the Emergency Laboratories, 32 West Twenty-fifth St., New York City.

WHEN THE KIDNEYS GIVE OUT

Do you ever feel that you simply can't go any further—that you must have rest for that lame and aching back—relief from that constant dead, tired feeling—freedom from those stabbing, darting pains?

This is the condition that so often comes at middle age, bringing with it an extreme nervousness and irritability that makes others think you "cranky" and "hard to get along with."

Likely your kidneys are worn and tired and need help. In any machine there is one part that works the hardest and gives out first. The kidneys work night and day, removing from the blood the uric acid and other waste created by overuse of strength and energy. Naturally a life of unusual activity doubles the duties of the kidneys, and in time the strain tells.

With healthy kidneys, one has a good chance to live long, but weak kidneys afflict old age with great discomforts. The back becomes bent and lame, rheumatism is chronic, eyesight fails, and too frequent or involuntary passages of the urine cause embarrassment by day and loss of sleep at night.

Doan's Kidney Pills bring new strength to old backs, and quick relief to weakened kidneys. They banish backache and rheumatic pain, and regulate the bladder and urine. When once a proper filtering action is restored through curing the kidneys, the dangerous uric acid is once more expelled from the blood, and danger of gravel, stone, dropsy, heart trouble, diabetes and Bright's disease removed.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for sick kidneys in old or young. There is not a particle of narcotic or poisonous drugs in this remedy. It is recommended publicly by thousands.

N. G. Ledgerwood of 1577 W. Twenty-first St., Los Angeles, Cal., says: "I was afflicted with kidney trouble for fifteen years. At times my back ached so severely that I was forced to place my hands across that part of my body for the slight relief it afforded. The aching was as severe during the night as in the day, and I often felt as though my back were going to break. I used plasters and remedies of various kinds, but never succeeded in finding more than temporary relief. When my attention was called to Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured a box at the Dean Drug Co., and after using them for four or five days, my back ceased to bother me. I publicly recommended Doan's Kidney Pills in 1902 and now I am glad to state that during the years that have passed my cure has proven a permanent one."

TAFT AND SHERMAN.

For President. For Vice-President.

Editorial Pen Points

A Russian prince is to be put in jail, and still they say that justice is dead.

It doesn't appear that Bryan is Roosevelt's heir any more than he was Bennett's.

No doubt the Serbs would be shooting it into the Austrians, right now, only the police won't let them.

Long after this campaign has ceased to be even a memory, William J. Bryan will still be thinking of it.

It is owing to which way the game went that joy or sorrow reigns in the sister cities of Chicago and Detroit.

The consensus of opinion now is that while Alfred Austin is poet laureate of England he is far from being a poet.

After all, it is the man who spends his money, rather than the man who makes it, that helps the country out.

Mr. Bryan must often sigh for a first-class optimist in his business such as was the late lamented James K. Jones.

In the shuffle that has been going on Prince Ferdinand appears to have spread out considerably. Hooray for Ferd!

The next number after this on the programme will be the attempted election of Senator Foraker to succeed himself.

Nicholas Longworth proposes Roosevelt for President in 1912. Still, we think even a weaken man would be able to beat Bryan.

Mr. Bryan has been written of as an early riser. The early riser vote, however, doesn't amount to much in this country any more.

It is with unfeigned delight that we notice from the Belgrade dispatches that our old friend, the Skupshtina, is again on the job.

A Minneapolis editor says it is moral character that wins in war. Still there will be those who continue to rely more or less on guns.

Sixty million bushels of wheat in Washington, Oregon and Idaho are the harvest figures for the present year. All solid for Taft!

Another good result of the Balkan excitement is to bring out the fact that there is such a people as the Serbs on the face on the earth.

We salute the new Czar of Bulgaria and trust that the skin of a gooseberry will be big enough to make an umbrella for all his enemies.

In the gentle art of damning a man with faint praise we think Senator Dolliver is entitled to a master's degree without further delay.

China has adopted a new banking law, but the old stipulation that when a banker defaults he must have his head cut off still remains in force.

Tuberculosis costs the people of the United States $1,000,000,000 a year. It costs them that much because they spend hardly anything to prevent it.

If Senator Dolliver had attempted to shake hands with all the Iowa people who are in Los Angeles he wouldn't get away from this town for a month.

The two crown princes of Montenegro and Servia, respectively, having decided to meet on the "crimson field," we now see no reason why the war should not proceed at once.

Servia is slow to learn that diplomacy consists of nine-tenths lies. It is as clear as day that Austria had a full understanding with the powers before she made the grab.

Comparisons are usually great sources of enlightenment. For instance, Montenegro has voted $3,200,000 for war, and Los Angeles county has voted $3,500,000 for good roads.

The great news this week did not come from the Balkans nor from the political arena in the United States, but from the diamond field at Chicago, where Ty Cobb batted .800.

Our advice to Austria is to crawl in her hole without further delay. When that young fellow, Pete of Montenegro, gets after her there will not be a river in all Europe big enough to float the blood.

It is shown by statistics that 9,795,698,000 bricks were made in this country last year, but whether it was one of those or a brick made in some other year that hit Candidate Chafin has not been established.

Now that his health has been restored, we trust that Gen. Castro will be in a better humor and that he will quit nagging those already distressed European countries who have been honored as his creditors

FIERCE HOSTILITIES — WHO IS GUILTY?

The hostilities growing out of the Woolwine explosions against the Mayor, the Police Commissioners and the District Attorney are spreading out, and there is no knowing to what lengths they may go. But sufficient upto the day is the evil thereof. Los Angeles is now getting a good deal of undesirable advertising—publicity of another sort than that to which she has been accustomed. The far fame of being a Sodom, plus a Gomorrah, is not a valuable asset for any city.

But with all the suits and prosecutions already begun and threatened, the facts with regard to the conditions in dispute are pretty certain to come out—along with a lot of scandal without fact basis, no doubt. The charges brought against the Mayor and Police Commissioners are the most shocking that could be imagined. They imply a degree of turpitude that would disgrace and damn any community, could it exist. We hope, for the sake of the repute of our city, that the charges are untrue. We are sanguine that they will be fully, legally and impartially investigated by the proper authorities, under the guidance of the District Attorney. Then prompt and condign punishment must be meted out to any official found guilty after a fair trial, of the enormities alleged, or any share in them. Either this or retractions and apologies!

Capt. Fredericks is the District Attorney of this county—elected and reëlected. His wisdom and integrity can be depended upon in matters of this kind, and are depended upon. He should not forget that not only the grand jury, but the people of this county demand that they have the benefit of his judgment, and while it may be right to use Mr. Woolwine's services in view of the fact that he has made these charges, still the public will insist that the District Attorney shall keep in close touch with whatever investigation is made; that he see that all legal forms are followed; that he be present and assist the grand jury at all times and in all matters wherein the advice of the District Attorney is necessary.

THE BOYCOTTER BOYCOTTED.

At Bakersfield the unions have a new peck of trouble on their hands. Finding they cannot make a success of boycotting anybody else, one wing of the unionites has turned on the other.

For the last six years or so some of the unions have made periodical professions of virtue and desires to aid in bettering moral conditions in Bakersfield. Some of the protestations are undoubtedly sincere on the part of individuals; but as to the "labor council" of Bakersfield, its honesty may be judged by the fact that 40 per cent. of those represented in its ranks are bartenders, and their organization is controlled by its worst element. Whenever a time has come when they might have helped to accomplish something, the leaders have gone into politics on the side of the old régime.

Recently there has been a fight over dance halls, etc., and an organization was formed by many good citizens to carry on the work of purification. As long as its make-up remained secret all was well, but a local paper published a list of members, and among them was W. W. Harris, editor of the Union Labor Journal. From the very guarded accounts in the Bakersfield papers it appears that this announcement caused a furore in the inner circles of the Barkeepers' Union, among the liquor dealers, dive-keepers, and their friends. Resort was had to the favorite weapon of unionism, the boycott, and a general row was only averted by Harris's resignation. He says he intended to quit, anyway, to engage in business in Oakland; but the incident is decidedly significant.

Bakersfield for years has, like San Francisco, tolerated the boycott and looked on with complacency when business men were hounded, but this last exhibition has aroused considerable indignation, and the Bakersfield Echo prints an editorial protest. Its feeling is seemingly based upon the peculiar origin of the boycott in this case, but the Echo is apparently worried as to what this sort of thing will lead to.

It should not be lost to sight, however, that Harris was merely getting "a dose of his own medicine." He is a member of the Typographical Union, a notorious boycotting concern, and publisher of the official organ of the so-called "labor council," the author and sanctioner of all the boycotts that have disgraced the city in the past six years. The Echo justly and pointedly says his present experience ought to give him some new light on the boycott and injunction questions.

DOLLIVER'S TELLING POINTS.

"And he will be elected President," "and in his administration his eye of service will cover this broad land from shore to shore, and in every patriotic interest and aspiration California will find a generous response."

These were the concluding sentiments of Senator Dolliver in his address in Los Angeles Monday night to six thousand people. The whole drift of the present campaign has been such that it would be unnecessary for any one to ask to whom the Senator referred. Since the nomination of Mr. Taft there has been only the one question of the size of his majority. He is an American citizen of the truest type; a man inspired by only the most humanely patriotic principles; a judge who believes that the law is paramount to every prejudice and by its administration every man and every interest secures the preservation of their rights; a statesman who knows nothing but his country's good and whose influence is for the moral uplift of public affairs.

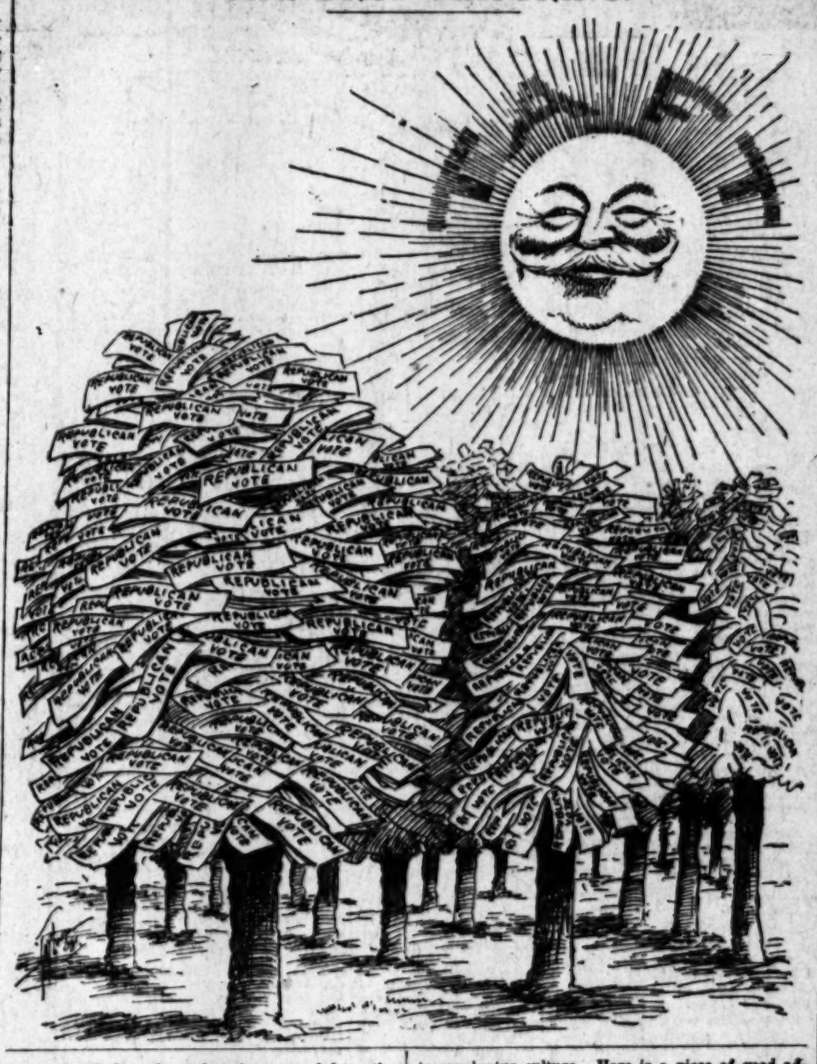
Senator Dolliver was an inspiring messenger of Taft to the people of California. His personal associations with the Republican candidate and his familiarity with the public life of Mr. Bryan enabled him to speak with knowledge of their comparative merits, and also to recognize and testify to the natural abilities of the Democratic candidate, and at the same time to point out his shortcomings and why it would be inadvisable to elect him President when the opportunity presents itself for the election of a man of so much broader type as Mr. Taft. Mr. Bryan is not representative of the public conscience. He has put himself on record, as Senator Dolliver said, of favoring a cutting of the tariff, "one leg at a time," a method that would keep the business interests of the country in uncertainty until the Democratic reduction had reached its final point, and if his own words are any index, no living person would be able to tell when the final shearing process would be complete, as the Democratic conscience has always been in favor of free trade, an economic condition that England is trying to get away from after long years of adherence to its principles.

Senator Dolliver believes in the corporation as a business method, and as the dust that has been raised is blown away, every one will agree with him. Under the present national administration the things needful have been accomplished in the direction of compelling corporations to be fair with the public as well as honest in their management. Mr. Taft represents this movement as does no other candidate before the people. His judicial course is ample proof of this, and when the legislative and administrative movement is completed the demand of the American people that corporations be "honestly capitalized" and "honestly administered" will be met. President Lincoln's remark that it is bad policy to swap horses in the middle of the stream, applies well to the present movement to compel corporation honesty.

The Senator's review of the legislation in favor of the employés of corporations showed distinctly the friendliness of the Republican majority in Congress to genuine labor. Mr. Bryan and Sam Gompers may rant all they please, but the removal from the statute books of the opportunity for corporations to enter the plea of contributory negligence is one of the most important acts of legislation ever accomplished in favor of the working people of this country. "That barbarous phrase as a legal defense has forever been swept away. And we repealed also the law referring to defective machinery; and the law affecting negligence of fellow-workers; also we repealed that ancient injustice, a contract entered into for insurance acting as a bar against suing a corporation for injuries received by a workingman in the line of his duty."

The entire address was full of compelling interest. It contained no abuse of any candidate or person. Instead of that the Senator devoted his attention to the moral and material progress made by the country under the Republican party's administration. It was an address that will do much to crystallize the sentiment of the voters, and will undoubtedly have a marked effect in swelling the Republican majority on election day.

THE CROP MATURING.



TALL TIMBER.

It is a cold day when there is not some kind of a horticultural boom in progress in California. Just now it is the eucalyptus that it catching the popular fancy. A eucalyptus expert in the service of the State recently asserted that two years hence will see two hundred thousand acres of eucalyptus forests growing in California, principally in the San Joaquin Valley. He doesn't think the business will be overdone.

That depends on circumstances—as to how, where and what varieties are planted, and on what kind of soil.

It is just about fifty years since the eucalyptus was first introduced into California from Australasia, where there are over a hundred and fifty varieties, some of them attaining the largest growth of any trees in the world, even surpassing our giant monarchs of the Sierra Nevada. There is no more interesting family of trees than the eucalyptus, nor is there any other kind of tree that presents so many wide differences of varieties in bark, form of growth, leaf, flower, tree, and pod. There are varieties of the eucalyptus that resemble a weeping willow. Another has a scented leaf, like a lemon verbena. The flowers vary through every variety of shade, from bluish white to a deep maroon.

Some varieties of eucalyptus will stand a considerable degree of cold, others can endure scarcely any; some will endure drought, while many varieties can scarcely get enough water; some will do fairly well on rather thin soil, but most of them—and especially the blue gum—require a deep, rich, dark soil, to make a good growth.

Eucalyptus globulus, or blue gum, by far the best-known variety in California, is the least esteemed in its native land, where it is mainly used for planting around cesspools and outhouses. It was probably selected in the early days of California planting on account of its exceedingly rapid growth. There are, however, other varieties that almost equal the blue gum in this respect, while their wood is of much greater value. In Australia the wood of the eucalyptus is extensively used for wagon making, for furniture, for wharf piling and for many other purposes. Here, in California, one railroad company has begun to plant the eucalyptus on an extensive scale for the purpose of supplying railroad ties, which are now imported from the Orient at great expense.

About twenty years ago there was quite a boom in the planting of blue gums around Los Angeles. One of the most enthusiastic advocates of eucalyptus planting was the late "Prophet" Potts—worthy man—who at the height of the real estate boom purchased sixty acres of rough hill land adjoining the city on the north, and planted it in eucalyptus, which has never reached more than a scrubby growth. Like Col. Sellers, Potts would point to a giant specimen, growing alone in a moist valley, and then figure out how many cords such trees would give when planted a few feet apart, which, of course, is quite a different thing, especially if they are planted on dry hills thinly covered with soil, for there is no more greedy underground feeder than the eucalyptus in the whole vegetable kingdom. The returns from many of the groves that were planted at that time around Los Angeles were, in many cases, quite disappointing, some of them netting less than $5 an acre a year.

It would be well for those who are thinking of setting out eucalyptus trees to take a few lessons from the experiences of the past, and be sure they are right before they go ahead. The College of Agriculture of the Agricultural Experiment Station at Berkeley has just issued an illustrated bulletin, giving much practical information in regard to eucalyptus culture. Here is a piece of good advice from the pamphlet, in line with that above given:

"The question is asked by many, 'From what kind of land will the eucalyptus return the greatest profits in the shortest time?' The answer is, the best land that it is possible to buy, with the grove under the most correct treatment. The idea is too prevalent that eucalyptus growing is exclusively a proposition for cheap, dry, or poor land. It is true that the trees, especially certain species, will live and grow fairly well under conditions where no other crop could be considered, and if the object is merely the utilization of such land to the best advantage eucalyptus planting may be wise and somewhat profitable. For one, however, who is buying land for this purpose, or one who already has fairly good land capable of irrigation or naturally moist, it is becoming more and more apparent that good land, capable of culture and irrigation, will produce far more profitable returns on the investment by reason of the enormously more rapid growth and greater wood production of the trees. Under such conditions a crop of trees may be produced and marketed and the land then either cleared for other purposes or the stumps allowed to sprout for a second crop, when on poor, dry land trees of the same age would not pay for cutting."

There is one additional source of revenue from eucalyptus groves that has hitherto been much neglected, namely: the utilization of the leaves and twigs for the purpose of manufacturing eucalyptus oil, for which there is always a good demand. There are several eucalyptus oil factories in Southern California. Sometimes the branches are purchased from the growers, or the grower may put up a simple still and sell the crude oil to the factory.

Eucalyptus culture undoubtedly offers a good opening for the judicious investment of capital in California, but, as in the case of any other branch of horticultural industry, the investor should thoroughly familiarize himself with conditions before jumping in.

Bailey in the Devil's Den.

We are reminded of a thrilling episode of the Joe Bailey inquiry by the Texas Legislature of a year or two ago. It seems to us that his ardent but somewhat benighted prosecutors traced him to the Standard Oil offices on lower Broadway on a certain day, and then, inflated by the fancied triumph, asked him to explain.

"I went there," said Bailey in one of his finest throes of indignation, "to beard the money devils in their lair and tell them what an honest statesman thought of them."

...country over, the wonder is that Los Angeles has been immune so long. The Unique is evidently the first spot of invasion.

Aimee's dance is much the characteristic Salome dance, as described ad nauseam. It is done with bare feet, but with considerably more raiment of other classification than some Salomes have boasted. It is an affair of much interest to the regular patronage of the Unique, and will doubtless draw a crowd of the curious from elsewhere.

Walter H. Nichols of Monrovia has written a four-act play called "The Isle of Mira Mar." John Blackwood is thinking about it.

Charming New Skirts

Because we've talked enthusiastically about incoming new suits and coats recently, don't fancy that we have neglected other lines of women's ready-to-wear apparel. For example, the skirts that almost every day are arriving, are quite the handsomest you could imagine:

Styles differ rather radically from those of previous seasons—many are draped on one side, some are cut with tunic effect, button trimmings are very prominent; and the lustrous finish materials—satins and broadcloths—are extremely good.

Silks Change Prices

Whether reduced in price or not, you will find every one of the following, as well as those of our silks not advertised, of thoroughly trustworthy quality in every respect:

Poplinette—silk and wool—of best grade, here in the newest colorings; twenty different pieces of this soft, clinging goods which drapes so beautifully when made up into gowns; we sell it, in 24-inch width, regularly for $1.50; this lot is free to go at $1.35

New Wool Challies 50c and 60c

Plain and Fancy; Imported and American-Made

Challies—always favorites—are welcomed with unusual eagerness this season, and the patterns are even prettier than formerly. Prices for these charming materials are, here, remarkably reasonable—lower than you'll find equally good qualities priced elsewhere.

Plain all wool challies, in preferred autumn shades 50c

Imported and American made wool challies, in new Persian patterns, cream and colored backgrounds; white grounds with colored polka dots, figures, little rosebuds and like designs will attract every woman's attention who sees them. Theater Party.

George S. Hupp entertained Monday evening with a box party at the Belasco. Later supper was served at Levy's, where covers were laid for Mrs. Ethel Graham, Mrs. S. Wadsworth Schenck and Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Wren.

JUDGMENT SUSTAINED.

The Second District Court of Appeal yesterday affirmed the judgment for the plaintiff in the case of Katherine Jolliffe against F. J. Steele and others. This was an action to quiet title. Steele was originally given an exclusive option on some property owned by the plaintiff, but failed to keep his part of the agreement, it was alleged. Later he recorded the contract, thus clouding the title. The lower court held that the defendant had given no consideration for his part of the bargain and the appellate court sustains this view.

The Spanish Necklace.

"Forde," supplemented the old lady, and he bowed profoundly, hat in one hand, whip in the other. (The farmer's people were busily rubbing down the horses whilst the driver was protesting and making his excuses.)

"And now I should be glad to know how we are to get home," demanded Mrs. Tudor, with a gesture of despair.

"Why, in the carriage, of course," said Paul, with incredible assurance. "Cela va sans dire!"

"I wonder you dare to mention it! I shall certainly tell your aunt of the outrageous liberties you take with her—and other people."

"No, no, no! dear Mrs. Tudor, you are good"—here he placed his slim brown hands together in an attitude of appeal—"you are kind, you are charming, you have known me since I was a child; I have been wrong, and very foolish."

"You have indeed," she assented sharply; "it is your normal state."

"But you will never tell my Aunt Mercédes—oh, you could not do it. Cosa que no tiene remedio olvidar la es lo mejor." (What cannot be remedied is best forgotten.) "And you will come back in the carriage with me. Yes, on the world of honor of a Spanish gentleman, I will take you home, and the young lady, as safely as in—what you call it—a bath-chair."

Mrs. Tudor deigned no reply, but rising stiffly to her feet, turned her back upon the insinuating culprit, and moved toward the farmhouse, followed by Hester. As the latter passed the coachman he said—

"You will persuade her to pardon me, Mademoiselle, will you not?"

"I will try," she murmured faintly.

"And will you, too, forgive me?" he whispered. His voice and his eloquent dark eyes would have melted the heart of a stone.

Hester colored, and in a low voice answered, "Yes."

"What has that impudent madman been saying to you?" demanded her companion, who had remarkably sharp ears.

"He was begging me to ask you to forgive him."

"Oh, yes, I dare say! after making me the victim of a practical joke and a bet, and nearly frightening me to death! I shall do nothing of the sort. I shall tell his aunt, and we will hear what she has got to say. She is fond of Paul, I'm aware; but no woman likes to have her smart turnout hacked about on hire! Yes, I shall certainly tell the Duchess," and with this announcement on her lips Mrs. Tudor entered the farmhouse.

This was a comfortable Basque abode with a wide-eaved tiled roof. In the kitchen was a quaint old dresser covered with blue plates, also a huge carved press, and some solid chairs and tables. A good-looking woman wearing a funny little black silk cap on her black hair, offered coffee, wine and bread. (Butter is scarce near the Pyrenees.) Coffee and bread were acceptable, and the two ladies sat down at the bare table and began to ask one another how they were to reach home.

They were revived by the coffee, and feeling considerably better, when Paul de Sarazin entered, and, like the coachman, he pretended to be, seated himself afar off, with a lump of bread and a glass of sour wine.

Over Mrs. Tudor's bonnet this audacious fellow raised his eyebrows interrogatively, and looked a question at Miss Forde. In reply she shook her head, and was instantly pounced upon by her companion.

"Oh ho! so you are making signs!"

"Yes," she boldly confessed. "He wants to know whether you have forgiven him, and I signed to him no; that was all."

Possibly the proverbial contrariness of feminine human nature had something to do with Mrs. Tudor's next speech, for, wheeling round in her chair, she called across the kitchen to her supposed "cocher:"

"Oh yes, you may bow, and bow, and bow! Now, I will inform you of what I will do. I will overlook this atrocity and I will not tell your aunt Mercédes that you hired out her carriage—"

Paul was now radiant.

"Oh, you need not smile, for I haven't done with you yet! Listen! You must hand me over that one hundred louis for the poor of Biaritz; it was nearly being the price of our lives."

"Delightful lady," exclaimed he, coming forward, "it is yours," and, suddenly sinking on one knee, he kissed her not altogether reluctant hand.

"May I kiss the other lady's hand?" he asked, with a glance of appeal.

"Certainly not," rejoined Mrs. Tudor sternly; "she is totally ignorant of your terrible Spanish etiquette, and you know perfectly well that I would be highly improper! I wonder you venture to suggest it! Your audacity is matchless."

"As it was she who obtained me your pardon, I will venture to do this"—and, sinking again on one knee, he touched with his lips the hem of Hester's dress, and murmured, "A los pies V. Señorita," then backed away, in the direction of his own meager refreshment.

The old lady, who was undoubtedly mollified, exclaimed:

"He is mad! He can never be serious, but he is as generous as a prince—far more so than many princes—and at least our terrible experience will lead to some good; I can manage much with one hundred louis."

"Yes, as a thank-offering," assented Hester, who was secretly agitated by her hero's unexpected homage. "May I add another hundred?"

Mrs. Tudor was silent. Was this really a pious thank-offering? or did the girl wish, even in a remote way, to be associated with Paul de Sarazin?

"I will think it over, my dear," she answered, with unwonted hateur, and then lasped into a prolonged silence. At last she said, "I suppose, after all, we must go back with him in the carriage, and trust ourselves to his honor!" She paused, and continued: "I have always avoided introducing Paul de Sarazin to you, but, you see, that other old woman, Fate, has taken the affair out of my hands!"

"Why did you not wish me to know him?" asked Hester, glancing towards the cocher's now empty place.

"Because you are so impressionable at present—wax to receive, but marble to retain!" You are really but 17—and I did not wish to make you unhappy."

"Does he make women unhappy?" inquired Hester faintly.

Women, yes. Can you look at him and doubt it? And yet he has some excellent qualities—he is generous, brave, kind-hearted, and——"

At this moment the subject of her eulogy presented himself once more, bearing two bunches of primroses, one in either hand.

"I gathered them myself," he explained as he advanced; "they are my peace-offerings," and he tendered them with a bow of exaggerated deference. "The carriage awaits the ladies, and I am their humble servant. I promise them a pleasant evening drive and a steady cocher. When they descend at their hotel they will say—The best coachman, the best carriage, and the best horses in all Biarritz!"

ceremoniously and hat in hand, to the landau. The drive homeward proved an agreeable contrast to the drive out, and in every way delightful, as they were borne sedately along the smooth Basque roads behind a pair of steady horses and a conscience-stricken coachman.

The surrounding country looked lovely, with the tints of the setting sun, the vivid wild flowers, the budding trees, and the blue line of the distant Pyrenees. Mrs. Tudor and her companion were driven in a dignified manner down the streets of Biarritz; but just as they were entering the town the cocher had leaned back and said with the air of a confederate:

"Ladies, when you descend, you must pretend to give me a pourboire! Otherwise the Bellevue people may suspect me, in spite of my hat and wig."

When they did arrive at the hotel door, Mrs. Tudor, who was really much exhausted, muttered:

"I have no small change, Hester; do you give him something, anything—a sou will answer the purpose; he doesn't even deserve that! With this remark she descended heavily from the carriage and toiled up the steps. But Hester, before she followed her friend, placed not a sou, but a five-franc piece, in Paul's ready palm.

"You are three times nice," he murmured, and thanked her, as he well knew how, with an eloquent glance from his expressive eyes, then whipping up the chestnuts, he galloped out of the courtyard of the Bellevue!

COPYRIGHT INVOLVED.

Suit for an alleged infringement of copyright was brought in the United States Circuit Court yesterday by Henry L. Wilson of Los Angeles against Rex D. Weston and Fred Biren, also of this city. According to the complaint, Wilson publishes the "Bungalow Book," which contains plans, sketches and descriptions of cottages and bungalows suitable for this climate. The book has reached its third edition and it is asserted that the sales have been heavy. It is alleged that Weston and Biren recently got out a book similar in make-up and appearance to the Wilson publication and have sold it in competition with the latter. The court is asked to restrain the defendants from publishing their alleged facsimile of the copyrighted edition, pending a final adjudication.

The annual convention of the military surgeons of the United States began in Atlanta yesterday. A public reception was held and George Tully Vaughan, president of the association, made an address.

The latest version of one of his favorite maxims is, "He who would be well served must serve himself—if he knows how." Everything nowadays is paraphrased or parodied. Men laugh easily. Women no longer weep excepting at matinees, and not always then. But business is still a serious occupation. The key to business success is "He who would be well served must serve others well." That fits my friend Christopher, all right. His service is excellent; not occasionally, but invariably. You lunch at Christopher's, do you not?

THE CAMPAIGN.

Has Given no Sign of Any Change of Heart—Is Only Silent on His Demand for Bimetallism and Government Ownership of Railroads Because He Found the People Did not Take to These Imperfect Theories.

The Real Bryan.

The real Bryan is written in the address he delivered to the American people after the election returns were in in 1904. When it was certain that Mr. Roosevelt had been elected by an unprecedented majority, Mr. Bryan sent, out through the Associated Press his address explaining why Judge Parker had been defeated, explaining how Mr. Bryan's advice had been rejected, showing that the rejection of this advice had lost Mr. Parker votes in the West without gaining him votes in East. Mr. Bryan found that the fundamental difficulty was that Mr. Parker and his associates had sought to meet radical conditions by timid, timeserving, conservative policies. Then he pledged himself to these things:

Second—The election of Federal Judges for a fixed term.

Fifth—A government telegraph.

Sixth—State ownership of railroads.

Mr. Bryan has added to this remarkable programme a seventh proposition, the guarantee of deposits, probably the most superficial, ill-considered proposition that any American leader ever advanced, a menace to sound banking and an aid to no correct principle of business.

These are the things that men vote for when they vote for Bryan.—[Louisville Post.

Blowing Hot and Cold.

To the man who talks so much as Mr. Bryan does, and who wants to please everybody, it is a trying ordeal. He desires the help of the business interests of the country, yet he wishes it understood that he is the enemy of every important business interest—for he insists that every one of them is a monopoly or a trust. A while ago he denounced Wall street as "Fagin's den of thieves; a gambling hell, in comparison with which Monte Carlo is insignificant." But more recently—and only the other day—in the same hall, he made a speech in which—anxious not to antagonize the business vote—he said: "We are not even opposed to the exchange, or to the stock market."

His principles, say rather the purposes or announcements, on which he made his former efforts, have all been put out of sight. No more of free coinage of silver; yet we once heard that till silver should be restored, there was no use to talk of anything else. No more of the necessity of reconstruction of the Supreme Court, to meet the new and rising demands of the American people. No more of anti-imperialism and scuttle of the Philippine Islands. Nothing now but a lot of dust or chaff, about injunction and tariff and monopoly and trust magnates, blown about by every wind. —[Portland Oregonian (Ind.)

Can He Be Trusted?

The question which the thoughtful business man will ask before deciding to vote for Mr. Bryan or to contribute even by indifference to his election, will be "Can I trust him in a crisis?" The laws which Mr. Bryan will be called upon to enforce in case of a scarcity of money or a disturbance in the markets are largely discretionary laws. They depend for their enforcement, not upon the letter, but upon the spirit.

Sympathetic measures to protect the business interests of the country cannot be counted upon by Mr. Bryan unless he has seen a light like that before which Saul of Tarsus fell on his face and turned from persecutor to devotee. Thus far Mr. Bryan has given no signs of this great transformation.—[Louisville Herald.

Will Think Twice.

It is being whispered in some quarters that "big interests" would be better off with Bryan in the White House and a Republican Senate blocking his path than they would with another constructive Republican President, even of the judicial temper of Mr. Taft. These men are likely to think twice, however, when they recall the trying hours of last autumn and ask themselves what they could have accomplished in saving the situation if they had had to deal with a Western Bryanite sitting in the chair of Secretary Cortelyou. The Senate could not force the hand of Mr. Bryan's Secretary of the Treasury or afford any assurance to the country of his obedience to the laws which were framed to put the credit of the nation upon a par with that of other civilized countries.—[Boston Transcript.

A Whipper-Snapper, Says Watterson.

The fierce light that beats upon a Presidential candidate is bringing out the weaknesses and absurdities of Mr. Bryan's public career with a vengeance. No matter under what guise he presents his views on governmental politics, the same communistic principles are always apparent. That any party should have stooped to take up such a candidate with such crazy-quilt ideas of political economy is hardly more disgusting than alarming. What would Jefferson or Hamilton or the other great statesmen of the revolutionary period think if they were informed that this intellectual whipper-snapper, this puling infant of logic would one day be deemed worthy of a seat at the same table with them? —[Louisville Courier Journal.

Sprecher Is for Taft.

The recent announcement that John C. Sprecher, a few years ago the real fusion leader in the Nebraska Legislature, is for Taft and against Bryan has brought out the expected shower of vituperation upon him from the hard and fast Democratic press, but it does not seem to feaze Mr. Sprecher, who comes back in good old-fashioned style. Sprecher is for Taft and doesn't care who knows it, and has plenty of good reasons to offer to justify his course. Among others, here are some of them:

"Sprecher is for Taft because he considers under the conditions of the campaign it is best to so vote, and he is not a Republican and does not expect to be one, and asks no favors of any sort from that party. Sprecher would not vote for the scheming politician, the wavering, fluctuating Bryan, who trims his political sails to catch any breeze that he thinks will blow his bark into the Presidential harbor. And as we are not for any minor parties, there is but one thing left to do and do it with any consistency and honor, and that is to vote for the man who stands for the Roosevelt policies, which we have indorsed for some years."—[Omaha Bee.

Silent on Injunctions.

Mr. Bryan should take up this subject of injunctions at his earliest opportunity and tell us exactly what he purposes to do. Is he going to make union labor a privileged, injunction-proof class? Or is he going to leave the use of injunctions in labor disputes unchanged? Why has he kept silent so long? Does he expect to win the votes of every shade of opinion with that Delphic plank of his? Mr. Taft has stated his position fairly, squarely and definitely, and Mr. Bryan, with his equivocal platform and his vague professions of universally beneficent intentions, is at a disadvantage beside him. If he does not speak out like a man, labor and capital will alike have reason to distrust him.—[New York Tribune.

When Bryan Is Happy.

Mr. Bryan freely uses the expression "predatory trusts." It is not an entirely new one, however. A few years ago it was the "predatory gold bug," and a little earlier it was the "predatory protected manufacturer" he was denouncing, and he never appears to be happier than when he is abusing the predatory classes who are conspicuous in promoting the development of the resources of the country.—[San Francisco Chronicle.

A Square Deal.

Query: Why should not a blacklisted laborer be allowed an injunction as well as a boycotted capitalist?

Answer: He ought to be, and if I were on the bench he would have one mighty quick.

This answer, given by William H. Taft to a question addressed to him at the Cooper Union, New York, when he spoke there on "Labor and Capital" in January last, embodies Mr. Taft's lifelong attitude toward labor. With Taft as President injustice to labor would be met, so far as Federal power could be exerted, by stern rebuke and quick and effective remedy.

As Mr. Taft replied to another query at the same meeting, he has never changed his attitude one particle on the subject of labor and its rights, and nothing can be found in any of his deliverances from the bench differing in the slightest from what he now maintains. The rights of labor would be secure so far as Taft as President could secure them, because they are the rights of American citizens. Intelligent, law-abiding labor everywhere feels that the wage earner would have a friend and protector in William H. Taft, and that any encroachment on the rights of the workingman by capital, however powerfully intrenched, would be swiftly repelled with all the authority at the President's command. —[Louisville Herald.

No Permanent Principles.

No skill in oratory, no dexterity in the choice of his topics, no prudent reticence about policies here and there unacceptable, will keep out of people's minds the question whether, after all, Mr. Bryan has any established convictions, any permanent principles. If they ask that question, his own public career and professions during the last twelve years supply the answer. Mr. Bryan, we fear, could appeal successfully only to the unthinking people. The American people do think.—[New York Times (Dem.)

WESTERNERS' IDOL.

WARM WELCOME AWAITING HIM.

LOCAL HORSEMEN TO ENTERTAIN "BUFFALO BILL."

Barbecue Arranged by Clubs for Sunday—Opening Performance of Wild West Show, Thursday, to Be Witnessed by Many Former Rope Throwers and Bronco Busters.

The Vaquero Club and several other riding organizations of Los Angeles will welcome Buffalo Bill upon his arrival in Los Angeles, Thursday, and will escort him to the show grounds at the Agricultural Park.

Col. Cody, the idol of all horsemen and especially of westerners, will be in this city two days. Ranchmen from every district in the surrounding country will be present at the big show. Many of them will have long rides on horseback before reaching Los Angeles, but their friends here will welcome them and general entertainment during the two days of Col. Cody's visit may be expected.

A large block of seats will be bought by the Out West Riding Club, which will attend the first performance Thursday afternoon. Several of the best riders of the State will be present. Many members of the club are capable of riding bucking broncbos and many have made their living at that game in former days, but they are as anxious to witness the Cody show as though they had never seen a "bad" horse before.

Mrs. Matthew B. O'Farrell, champion horsewoman of California, will also attend the first performance. She gained her title at the time of the visit of the fleet, when she took part in the Wild West show given by the Vaquero Club and defeated the champion woman rider of Arizona.

Buffalo Bill's show has been added to since its last appearance in Los Angeles and now every phase of western life is presented.

From the tragic battle of Summit Springs, in which the Indians are annihilated by Col. Cody and his scouts, to the football game on horseback, there will not be a dull moment.

Of great interest to Angeleños will be the rope-throwing exhibitions. Several spectacular performances in this line were given by local experts during fleet week and there are many good rope men in Los Angeles. Some of the old school, who made their living by the rope and who lassoed grizzly bears in the early days, have still a love for the art and do not intend to miss the performance given by Cody's ropers.

Ora Pesso, leader of the Mexican lassoists with the show, is said to be one of the best in the world. His feats are marvelous and the days of the California "rodeos" of a generation past will be brought forth, pleasant to the memories of the native Californians who took part in similar contests in their youth.

Los Angeles has known many of Buffalo Bill's riders. Scotty, who had this country "guessing" for some time, once rode the bucking broncbos in the show. Jim Kid, who made his home here for several months last year and whose exhibitions of horsemanship with the Vaquero Club made him known to all local horsemen, was once the peer of the rough riders with Cody.

"Wild Horse Bill" Hill, former champion broncho buster of the world, was with Buffalo Bill for several seasons and until his arrest on charges of "rustling," made by Texas authorities, had charge of the bad horses on the Garvey ranch, near San Gabriel.

A certain young man had an opportunity to enter an established business.

At least it looked like an opportunity. One of the Directors of this Company, the young man's friend, told him of the opening and said he would work for him.

The young man was clean, capable, honest. He spent his salary freely, had nothing ahead. But he was of good ability and there was really much in his favor.

He counted the position as already his.

Within a few days action was taken. The young man's friend came to him and told him that the opportunity was lost.

"I tried to get it for you," said he, "and things seemed favorable. But another young man was presented and he got the job.

"He was honest and competent—though no more so than you are. But he had saved some money and could put it in.

It takes character to save money—self-denial and considerable courage.

But it means future accomplishment. A snug sum of money is a strong companion when opportunity comes along.

This Bank pays four per cent interest on savings accounts.

PASADENA.

NEW PASTOR IS MADE WELCOME.

GREAT GATHERING AT THE FIRST METHODIST CHURCH.

Office of The Times, No. 25 S. Raymond Ave.

PASADENA, Oct. 14.—Welcomed by his congregation and representatives of the Ministerial Union, Rev. Matt Hughes, the new pastor of the First Methodist Church, last night was the central figure at one of the greatest fellowship meetings that has been held in this city for months. The auditorium of the church was packed until even standing room was difficult to obtain, and the gallery was also crowded. The programme included words of welcome and confidence, spoken by representatives of the congregation and Rev. Dr. R. R. Meredith, president of the union. Rev. Dr. Hughes made an eloquent reply.

After music by the Male Quartette of the church, Rev. F. D. Mather, pastor of the Lincoln Avenue Methodist Church, the only Methodist pastor to be returned to his charge here by the recent conference, led in prayer. Rev. Dr. Fisher, the assistant pastor, presided.

Prof. Charles M. Parker, in behalf of the congregation, told of the unanimous belief that the new pastor would accomplish great results in building up the church. He was followed by Dr. Meredith, who, after extending a hearty welcome, spoke of the great movement toward the universal brotherhood, and declared that all the churches are under the one banner and all working for Christ.

Dr. Hughes, in his response, told of the "at home" feeling that he had felt when he first came here, and referred with appreciation to all that had been done to make his charge here a pleasant one.

"In all my relations to this people, in the unanimous call of the official board, in the correspondence before I came, in the reception of the committee at San Bernardino, the reception at the depot, in having our house ready for us, I have been made to feel that I am to carry out a great work here. I am frank to admit that I enjoyed the statement made here, and the feeling of the hour."

The doctor said he felt at home in this city, "on account of the climate being unusual, just like it is in Kansas City; on account of the city having a 'water question,' just like Kansas City, and because the local papers have been full of the talk about the rose tournament not being held this year, just like the talk about the fall carnival in Kansas City."

He closed by asking the congregation to have patience with him until he grasped the situation and determined the course that might be best for the church.

BRANCH LIBRARY.

At a special meeting yesterday afternoon the trustees of the Pasadena Public Library decided to establish a branch in North Pasadena, on November 1. An attendant will be sent to the present reading room in North Pasadena, for six hours each day and the library will furnish the branch with such books as are demanded. At present the reading-room on North Fair Oaks avenue is conducted by the W.C.T.U. and sister societies and has a few books that were loaned by the library.

NO HORSE SHOW, PROBABLY.

Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Neff of Altadena have returned home after spending two months at Hotel Potter in Santa Barbara. Mr. Neff, who is secretary of the Southern California Horse Show Association, when asked last night what the prospects are for a horse show here this winter replied that at present it seems hardly worth while to try to arrange for one. Should wealthy eastern people bring out strings of thoroughbreds, however, his views might change. He thinks the improvement of roads for automobiles will cause a decrease in the number of horse shows.

ASTONISHED AT GROWTH.

Dr. Julius D. Dreher, Consul to Tahiti, after being driven about the city yesterday by Dr. Scherer, president of Throop Polytechnic Institute, announced himself as greatly astonished at its wonderful growth. He said he was greatly pleased with Southern California and that he would like to live in this section of it.

In speaking of his island home, the Consul said: "The climate is warm but healthy. Tahiti is called the Island of Paradise. The mercury rarely goes below 66 deg., except on the mountains, and seldom above 88 deg. even in the summer, which comes in your winter, the seasons being reversed after crossing the equator. One may take his meals on an open air veranda the year around.

"In the sumer we have a good deal of rain, but it is warm rain, and we have scarcely any mud after it. It is strange that in this warm climate there are no snakes, and scarcely any flies, although we have some mosquitoes. The wild animal life at Tahiti is quite limited. There are very few birds and I have never seen a worm in fruit."

In speaking of the natives, he said: "Like those of Samoa, they are noted for their fine physical development. One sees among them an unusual number of large men and women. They are truthful and law-abiding. There are three lawyers for 31,000 inhabitants. There are fewer murders and other crimes, in proportion to population, than in any place in the United States.

COMMERCE OF ISLANDS.

"The principal products are copra, the dried kernel of the cocoanut—used for making oil and butter—vanila beans and mother of pearl shell. Cocoanuts and oranges are also exported, and sea island cotton, in small quantities. The native sugar and coffee are generally used in the colonies. The principal imports are fabric and clothing, flour and cereal foods, canned meats, salmon, lard, butter, lumber, hardware, rope, cord, candle, kerosene paint, soap, wines and spirits. The United States does about half the business of importing and exporting. The business of the colony will be considerably increased by the development of phosphate deposits.

"Exports to the United States are shipped to San Francisco, from which city also imports of American goods are now ordered, but with the opening of Los Angeles harbor the southern end of the State will get its share. As the islands will be on the route of vessels from New Zealand, after the completion of the Panama Canal, Tahiti will have a much more open market.

TO FIND LONGER ROAD.

Residents of Linda Vista will be forced to find a longer road to this city for the next few months on account of the rebuilding of the Linda Vista ance. R. B. Martin and J. B. Hall, cement contractors, were given the contract for their portion of the work yesterday, at $20,000. The task is to be done in 150 days, and the present bridge to be left standing for thirty days. The contractors will forfeit $10 a day if the new bridge remains uncompleted after the time limit expires.

BRIGHT PROSPECTS.

WILL RESUME ACTIVE WORK.

CONCESSIONS AT SAN PEDRO TO BE DEVELOPED.

Steam Schooner Due Today With Piling and Lumber for Several Companies and for the Government. Health Office Can't Get Rats at Bargain Prices—Outfall Sewer.

SAN PEDRO, Oct. 13.—Prospects are bright for the resumption of active work of development on numerous concessions held by various individuals and corporations in and around San Pedro Harbor. The steam schooner J. B. Stetson, Capt. Bonnifield, is due early tomorrow morning from Gray's Harbor via San Francisco with a cargo of piling and lumber which will be used in development work. Of this cargo 400 piling will be used on the bulkhead now being constructed at East San Pedro by the Pacific Wharf and Storage Coompany. One hundred of the piling are consigned to the California Construction Company and will be driven on the outer end of the giant breakwater being built by the United States government in the outer harbor. It is stated that the remainder of the cargo will be taken by the Outer Wharf and Dock Company in development work on the Miner concession in the outer harbor. This work has been delayed for several months awaiting the establishment of harbor lines by the War Department, and it now is promised that aggressive work on this concession will be inaugurated in the near futupre, and rapidly pushed to completion.

RAT PRICE ADVANCED.

This city is not as "ratty" as has been claimed in some quarters. Last week Health Officer Winn appeared before the Trustees and requested that a price of 5 cents be placed upon the head of every rat brought to him to be examined to determine whether or not the rodents were infected with any contagious diseases. The request was granted. Dr. Winn wanted 100 rats. Patiently he sat in his office awaiting the arrival of the small boy with his rats, but all in vain. Today the Trustees advanced the price on the head of each rat brought in to 10 cents, and it is hoped that the advance will stimulate local rat-catchers to more energetic endeavor.

City Tax Collector Ben M. Baker reported to the Trustees that the tax collections for the week ending October 10 amounted to $2276.56.

City Engineer Whitman was instructed to prepare plans and specifications for the building of an outfall sewer from First and Palos Verdes streets to the foot of First street on the water front. The city engineer estimates the completed cost of the sewer at $3800.

The bid of H. Schram for $780, to erect an eighty-four-foot fire alarm tower and to provide a 1200-pound steel alloy fire bell was accepted.

C. J. Nellis of Sawtelle, Republican candidate for Supervisor for the Fourth Supervisoral District, and Ed Hall of Palms, were visitors here today.

ACTIVE CAMPAIGN.

Energetic Work Planned at Ocean Park In Attempt to Secure Bay Cities Merger.

OCEAN PARK, Oct. 13.—"Santa Monica Bay, one municipality; one for all—all for one." This is the slogan that has been adopted by the Santa Monica Bay Chamber of Commerce. With the object of accomplishing the merger, this organization will at once enter upon an active campaign.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Townsend of Newkirk, Penn., have come to the beach with a view to making it their home.

BONDS FOR PIER.

The City Trustees have under consideration a resolution providing for the calling of a special election, at which the citizens will be asked to authorize the issue of bonds for the purpose of replacing the Center-street pier with an 800-foot structure of steel. The proposed new pier is to be used as a carrier for the outfall pipes of the municipal sewer system.

The aftermath of the exciting scenes in connection with the closing of the Hotel de Novo of Venice yesterday came this afternoon with the release of Garfield Clarke, proprietor of the place, who was placed under arrest yesterday afternoon. Clarke gave bond in the sum of $1000 for his appearance at a preliminary hearing to be had before City Recorder Rogers, October 15. The charge to which Clarke will answer is that of resisting an officer. The case against Deputy Constable Sprankling, for the alleged unlawful detention of Mrs. Horn, will be heard on the same day before Justice of the Peace Steele of Santa Monica.

The City Trustees have awarded to George A. Rogers the contract for the extension of the sewer system to the Venice Annex subdivision. The price to be paid is $4457.

INSPECTOR'S PURCHASE.

Postal Inspector Frank Stewart has purchased the Richard Ryce apartment-house on Dudley avenue, for a stated consideration of $10,000. Mr. Stewart will make the beach his home. Mr. and Mrs. Ryce are preparing to go to the West Indies for the winter.

The First National Bank will soon move to enlarged quarters, having secured a lease on rooms in the Ma-

WORLD-WEARY?

SEARCH PARTIES FAIL TO FIND WANDERING ONE.

She Is Supposed to Be From Los Angeles, and Before She Disappeared in Direction of Deadman's Island She Attracted Attention by Reason of Her Strange Actions.

LONG BEACH, Oct. 13.—Has the Pacific Ocean claimed another world-weary Los Angeles woman?

Last night a woman, haggard-faced and bearing the marks of suffering, got off a car from the city and wandered out toward West Long Beach. She attracted attention by her curious actions no less than by the fact that she wore a rather startling red skirt and was bareheaded.

About 8 o'clock she knocked at the door of Officer McCown at West Long Beach and borrowed 10 cents from Mrs. McCown to go across the bay, she said. Instead of doing that, she walked out on the breakwater toward Deadman's Island. And that is the last that has been seen of her. Search parties hunted along the breakwater for hours, but could not find her.

VIRGINIA ADDITION.

At the last meeting of the Hotel Virginia directors, Manager Linnard submitted a proposition involving the building of a five-story and basement addition to the southeast of the main building, cornering onto the structure. The ground utilized would be that now occupied by the tennis court. This would give an additional 150 rooms. The proposal met with favor, but will be held up for the present under existing conditions.

DOESN'T WANT CASH.

Assistant City Attorney Hight has dug up an old appeal case in the Superior Court, which has been hanging fire for two years and for which the Police Judge has $200 cash bond. The fine imposed was only $100, and Judge Lawson has been anxious to get rid of the other $100, which belongs to the California Fish Company. The case will now be advanced on the calendar, and is set for hearing on Friday. State Senator Savage represents the company.

HELD FOR TRIAL.

A. M. Beardsley, the traveling man of Hollywood accused of passing a bogus check on his grocer, was arrested in Hollywood yesterday. This morning he was arraigned before Justice Hart and his preliminary hearing set for October 19. Beardsley being held meanwhile in $2500 bail in default of which he was sent to the County Jail.

LONG BEACH NOTES.

Joe Fellows of West Long Beach is building for Capt. L. B. Rhodiner of San Diego a 65-foot boat of peculiar type. It will draw but one foot of water, and will be operated by a stern paddle wheel, the pilot house and engine being in the stern of the vessel. It will be used for excursions, and will carry 152 people.

Frank Jameson, the 19-year-old boy captured after a hot chase Sunday morning, and who pleaded guilty to petit larceny, was today sentenced by Justice Brayton to serve sixty days in the County Jail.

Charles Lisk, assistant wharfinger, while sharpening a big hatchet this morning allowed it to slip and the razor edge sliced off the end of his middle finger.

EXTEND THE WAR.

Ground Squirrels Marked for Death at Redondo, as Well as Rats and Festive Fleas.

REDONDO, Oct. 13.—Dr. S. D. Brooks of the United States Marine Hospital Service, acting as chairman of a committee appointed by the recently-formed association of health officers of Southern California, in a communication to Dr. Hancock, local health officer, asks the coöperation of this municipality in a proposed war of extermination not only upon rats but also upon ground squirrels and other rodents, and upon fleas, which it is claimed transmit bubonic plague from the rodents to human beings. Attention is called to the fact that there is no longer any question as to the danger from rats becoming inoculated with the plague bacteria, and instances are given where ground squirrels were found to have been so inoculated not only in Contra Costa county but at other points nearer home. Dr. Brooks proposes to establish a central laboratory at Los Angeles at a cost of $2000 for purposes of investigation along suggested lines. The funds for this are already available, and arrangements have been made for an expert bacteriologist from the department at Washington to be placed in charge. He estimates the costs of maintaining the laboratory at $400 per month, and states that this expense must be met by the municipalities interested. Dr. Hancock referred the communication to the Board of Trustees, who last night at the regular meeting passed it over for further investigation. The proportion of expenses of this laboratory falling to this city will not exceed $25 per month, but the city fathers are not inclined to make the appropriation without further consideration.

CLERK COMPLAINS.

The regular monthly reports of city officers and the clerk's quarterly report were all presented last night. City Clerk Crefler made a formal complaint on the neglect of the marshal to collect the regular license taxes for the year beginning August 1, last. Marshal Stanchfield stated that all collections had been made as required by law except a few from men who were perfectly good, and that he had permitted the licenses of these to run along on account of business depression. The marshal's explanation was promptly accepted by the board and he was given time to make the proper collections.

The initial steps were taken by the board for the continuation of the storm drain from Carnelian street out to the ocean, and the City Engineer was directed to prepare the necessary profiles so that an estimate of the required expenditure might be made. He was also directed to inquire into the status of Hermosa avenue and of that part of Pacific avenue lying north of Diamond street, with a view to improving the same.

TO REMOVE DANGER.

The Redondo Improvement Company and other owners of property contiguous to the corner of Diamond street and Pacific avenue petitioned for the setting in of the sidewalk so as to leave about ten feet more space between the car tracks of the Los Angeles Railway and the sidewalk. This point is regarded as one of great danue here and there is heavy traffic. Being at the bottom of a heavy grade the Los Angeles and Redondo cars find the necessity of stopping an unusual strain on the car brakes, so that if an auto or horse vehicle should happen to get between the curb and the track, and at the same time the brakes refuse to hold the car, a bad wreck and probable loss of life would result. The property owners offer to donate the ground if the city will pay the cost of making the necessary change.

SIMPLE RECIPE FOR CATARRH

Gives Advice to Cure Catarrh of All Kinds—Simple Home Prescription Which Sufferers Should Make Up and Try, As It Don't Cost Much, and Is Said to Do the Work Promptly and Without Injury.

Here is a prescription which should be valued by all who are subject to rheumatism, kidney and bladder troubles and especially catarrh. While the latter is considered by most sufferers an incurable disease, there are few men or women who will fail to experience great relief from the following simple home prescription, and if taken in time it should prevent an attack of catarrh during the entire season.

Any one can mix the following: Fluid Extract Dandelion one-half oz., Compound Kargon one oz., Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla three ozs. Shake well in a bottle and use in teaspoonful doses after each meal and again at bedtime. Get these ingredients from any pharmacist whom you know handles only pure drugs.

This prescription acts directly upon the eliminative tissues of the kidneys to make them filter and strain from the blood the poisons that produce all forms of catarrhal affections. Relief is often felt even after the first few doses, and it is seldom that the sufferer ever experiences a return attack within the year.

This prescription makes a splendid remedy for all forms of blood disorders and such symptoms as lame back, bladder weaknesses and rheumatism pains are entirely dispelled.

As this valuable, though simple, recipe comes from a thoroughly reliable source, it should be heeded by every reader who suffers from catarrh.

CONGRESSMAN IS CONDEMNED.

M'LACHLAN SEVERELY SCORED AT SANTA MONICA.

His Failure to Obtain Free Mail Delivery System Is Subject of Scorching Resolution—Judson Rush Receives Cordial Welcome at Lively Democratic Demonstration.

SANTA MONICA, Oct. 13.—Proposed postoffice consolidation and free mail delivery installation were the subjects considered at the meeting of the Board of Trade this evening. The sentiment of the community was reflected in a series of strong resolutions adopted and ordered sent to the Senators and Representatives in Congress and to the Postal Department. The resolutions recite the fact that, whereas, First Assistant Postmaster-General C. P. Grandfield, in reply to a communication and the petition of the citizens asking that Santa Monica be given free delivery, said that "this matter will be taken up for consideration as soon as a decision is reached in regard to the advisability of consolidating the postoffices at Santa Monica, Ocean Park and Venice," it is "resolved that Santa Monica is unqualifiedly opposed to the proposed or any consolidation; and demands that her postoffice be maintained as a main office as at present."

Other resolutions declare that "for more than three years Santa Monica's postoffice has had receipts of more than $10,000 per annum, entitling her to free delivery;" that such installation has been promised, after official inspection and upon the recommendation of officers sent to make investigation; that the people have petitioned, the Council has resolved, and the Board of Trade has impiored; it is therefore "resolved that we demand, as our right under the law and the regulations of the Postal Department that the free delivery system be inaugurated at once."

DEMOCRATS LIVELY.

The Democrats of the bay section indulged in a lively demonstration this evening. The affair was a mass meeting at the City Hall and the speaker of the evening was Jud Rush of Los Angeles, candidate for member of Congress from this district. The meeting was conducted under the auspices of the Bryan Club. Considerable enthusiasm was manifested in the unanimous adoption of the following resolution, which was introduced by Justice of the Peace J. C. Steele:

For more than three years the postal receipts of Santa Monica have been more than sufficient to entitle the residents of this city to the establishment of the free mail delivery system; and petitions from the City Council and Board of Trade and citizens in general have been forwarded with unfailing regularity to the Postal Department and to Congressman James McLachlan, asking that we be given only that which is plainly allowed us under the law; and whereas

During all of these years our Representative in Congress has been feeding us on idle promises, with a semi-annual pre-election pledge that justice would be done us immediately after election; and that during the same period of time the actions of said Representative have been characterized by pernicious inactivity; whereas

The report of the special postal inspector who was twice sent here to make a report on our rights under the free delivery system has reported to the department recommending that the long-denied prayer of the petitioner be granted; therefore be it resolved

That as Santa Monica has long since met all of the requirements imposed by the postal department, as essential to the installation of the free delivery system, we condemn the continued inactivity of Congressman McLachlan in not demanding for Santa Monica that to which she is justly entitled under the law and the rules and regulations of the Postal Department.

FREAKISH THIEVERY.

Something freakish in the line of sneak thievery was reported to the police yesterday and has kept the officers guessing today. Between the hours of 7 and 8 p. m., a thief entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Polhemus, No. 315 Colorado avenue. Nobody was at home at the time and the premises were thoroughly ransacked. A number of articles of feminine apparel and jewelry, a gold watch and chain and a locket and fob were taken. Gloves, slippers and three hats of the "Merry Widow" type were also stolen. Although there was opportunity to steal men's clothing, nothing of this kind was taken, the garments of Mr. Polhemus not being disturbed. The tracks of a man and a woman, seen near a rear window of the house, are the only clews the police have thus far been able to get.

STORM DRAIN TROUBLE.

In an endeavor to properly drain the streets of the city of Sawtelle a storm drain is about to be constructed that will throw the waste water of the winter rains upon the brick yards and residents and property owners of Colorado avenue and Cambridge street. The Union Brick and Tile Company expects that the construction of the storm drain as proposed will be a serious damage to it and promises to go to the courts and ask a restraining order in the event that work should

The High School is also preparing a handsome float in which Misses Marie Getchell, Henrietta Hadley, Gertrude Parker, Bessie Boutin, Harrie Boutin, May Ainsworth, Virgil Potts, Hester Billingsley, Clara Wilson, Nita Willetts, Hazel Morrison will ride. NEED PROTECTION.

SHEEP MEN ARE ALL FOR TAFT.

In Orange County, One of the Centers of the Wool Industry of This State, no Stone Is Being Left Unturned to Elect Republican Nominees.

BAY CITY, Oct. 13.—Sheep men throughout this section, having in mind the conditions which prevailed during the last Democratic administration, are leaving no stone unturned to insure the election of the Republicans. Orange county is one of the centers of the wool industry in this State, and employment is given to numbers of men.

In 1892, with the duty on wool removed, New Zealand and Australian wool growers unloaded their wares on American markets at the buyer's own price.

The effect on local production was killing. Landlords were besought to take sheep for rent; sheep, valueless for wool, were used for food; the wool industry, with wool costing 4 cents per pound to shear and bringing only 4 cents per pound in open market, brought beggary to hundreds.

With the duty on wool resumed, all is different. The price, 15, 17 and 19 cents per pound, invites legitimate competition. With plenty of rich pasturage, the wool industry is at its height, and wool men can prove by figures that never since 1892 has the balance been on the wrong side of the ledger. Even sheep manure, rich in nitrogen and all the salts that make good fertiliser, is proving a marketable commodity.

What wonder then, with no reason to believe in a discontinuance of favorable weather conditions, that sheep men are unwilling to trust their interests again to Democratic leadership.

DEADLOCK.

CANNOT DECIDE SCHOOL NAME.

SAN DIEGO BOARD FACES AN AWFUL PROBLEM.

Shall It Be Grant or Humboldt? Some of the Members Think the Former Has Sufficient Monuments Already—Wireless Extension to Cahu.

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 13.—The school board is deadlocked over the question of choosing a name for the new grammar school building located at Twelfth and E streets. After taking four ballots without results at last night's meeting it was decided to postpone further action. The name of Grant was first proposed by advocates of the idea that buildings should be named after noted men and heroes of the nation. Others said that Grant already has sufficient monuments to his name in this city and that public school buildings should be designed according to locality. One member of the board insisted that the new building should honor the memory of some noted scientist and he clung to the support of Humboldt, thereby causing the deadlock, which bids fair to be not broken until a future meeting when members absent last night can be present to take part in the christening. For four ballots last night the name of Grant received seven votes, that of Twelfth street seven and Humboldt one.

WIRELESS EXTENSION.

Operator J. R. Rice of the government wireless station on Point Loma says he will soon be able to communicate with Operator Isabel on Kahuka Point, Island of Cahu, Hawaii, as the Hawaiian station has just installed a new transmitting instrument.

GOOD TAX COLLECTIONS.

County Tax Collector Cornell yesterday received $6000 over the counter in his office from citizens who paid on the first day of the new tax-paying season. This is a slight increase over the first day last year.

COMPLETES HARBOR REPORT.

Secretary Eugene DeBurn, of the local Board of Harbor Commissioners has completed and forwarded to Gov. Gillett his biennial report. A recommendation is made that a railroad belt line be constructed around the bay over the tide lands, to be under control of the State.

WILL SUBMIT AMENDMENTS.

The City Council last night decided to present to the people at a special election proposed amendments to the city charter. The voters will have the choice of saying whether the government shall be vested in five Councilmen or nine. In either event the Councilmen will have absolute control of all departments of the city government.

GOOD BUSINESS.

MUCH PRODUCE IS MARKETED.

SHIPMENTS FROM FULLERTON TO CITY ARE HEAVY.

On Account of Heavy Output Working Force at Railroad Depot Has to Be Increased—Condensing Department of Buena Park Milk Factory Closes.

FULLERTON, Oct. 13.—On account of the heavy shipments from this point the working force at the depot has been increased. For the week ending last night the following shipments were made: Oranges, sixteen carloads; beans, six carloads; walnuts, five carloads; new crop tomatoes, four carloads. This one week's shipments means a heavy income for the producers, and it is only about an average week's output from Fullerton.

REASONS FOR CLOSING.

The condensed milk factory at Buena Park has decided to close its condensing department. For many years the big concern has been in active operation, employing many people and paying out large sums monthly to the farmers for milk. According to report the company tried to sell its condensing machinery to a new factory to be started up at Brawley.

Some months ago a number of farmers who were patronizing the establishments, decided they could obtain better prices by forming an independent organization and shipping their milk direct to Los Angeles. It is now said they are not receiving as high prices as were paid by the park concern. Another reason it is said, for closing the condensing department is because eastern factories are sending to the Pacific Coast condensed milk at prices that leave but little, if any, margin for the local concerns. It is also claimed that the biggest company in the East some months ago agreed to hold up prices so that the milk factories could make a fair profit but that it failed to keep its understanding with the Buena Park concern.

A. Ausberger and two sons have returned to Kenton, O., after visiting the Picket and Johnson families here.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Whipkey left yesterday for Denver.

OLINDA ACTIVITIES.

The Olinda Land Company has completed grading and has the lumber on the ground for a new rig for an oil well to be drilled on its land about 700 feet south of the Hall wells. This is the company's first well and it is believed a good oil strike will be made at a depth of from 2000 to 2500 feet. The company also has the lumber on the ground for a new camp, to be located south of the Olinda depot, where a townsite has been laid out, although no lots are to be sold. The company is now in a better financial condition than ever before and has paid $40,000 in dividends this year. Its principal income is from royalties for land rented to various oil companies in the Olinda section and also from several hundred acres of farming land. W. J. Travers has resigned his position as superintendent at the Hall oil wells and has become the superintendent of the Olinda Land Company. He will have charge of this company's interest at Olinda. W. J. Bailey, Jr., the former superintendent, has been promoted to assistant manager, with offices in Los Angeles.

W. E. Littleton, who recently sold his business here, has decided to locate in Sierra Madre.

Mr. Henderson and wife, who have been guests of Alexander Henderson and family the past two weeks, have returned to their home in Canada.

The I.O.O.F. Lodge held a banquet last night after conferring degrees on a number of candidates.

Charles C. Wagner does not believe the walnut crop will be much larger than it was last year considering the fact that more nuts are running to culls than was the case last season. On many walnuts first picked the shell is too thin to protect the kernels and these have to be thrown away. The cause of the thin shells is unknown. William Kroeger and other leading growers also state that the crop will not be as heavy as was first reported some weeks ago.

A county Sunday-school convention will be held at the Presbyterian Church here October 27 and 28.

The Democrats held a rally here last night which was well attended. The county candidates, Towner for judge, and Miller for Assemblyman, and Gill of Riverside for State Senator, were present.

ELSINORE.

ELSINORE, Oct. 13.—James Stewart of Riverside street is in San Francisco as a delegate to the Masonic Grand Lodge.

Mrs. H. H. Neiman left today for a week's visit in Santa Ana with relatives and friends.

A box social will be held at the Lake school-house Friday evening, the proceeds to go toward paying for decorating the interior of the schoolhouse.

Misses Elza Mill, Ruth Stewart, Helen Ramsdale and Messrs. Jack Ray, Ray Bohannan and Claud Craft were the local Christian Endeavor Society delegates at the Perris rally.

Mrs. H. E. Lawrence, wife of the new editor of the Press, her two sons and daughter, and Mr. Lawrence's mother have arrived from Alhambra. They will reside in the Lawler house on Heald avenue.

The following deeds have been recently recorded: Helen H. Austin to John Nickson, lot 13, block 26, Elsinore. Fannie Amsbury to Lafayette Defenbaugh, lots 1-3-5-7-9-11-13-15-17-19-21-23, block 51.

Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Haughawout and son Leo arrived day before yesterday from Los Angeles in their auto, and are visiting at the home of the doctor's mother, Mrs. Louisa Haughawout.

HEMET.

HEMET, Oct. 13.—A serious automobile accident occurred here day before yesterday. J. B. Gooch and wife of Corona, spent Sunday with Mrs. Gooch's sister, Mrs. C. J. Davidson. During the afternoon, the visitors and Mr. and Mrs. Davidson drove over the Hemet tract in Mr. Gooch's machine. In making a turn at the corner of Florida avenue and Meridian street the right front wheel dropped into a water-soaked place which did not show at the surface. The left front wheel was thrown around to the front of the car, the springs were broken and the car pitched forward. The impact threw Mrs. Davidson, who was sitting on the front seat, out some twelve feet, and she struck on the back of her head and shoulders. Mrs. Gooch was also thrown out, and received minor injuries. The men were uninjured. It was thought at first that Mrs. Davidson's injuries would prove fatal, but she has improved, and it is believed will recover.

NEIGHBORHOOD WAR.

BULLETS PASS IN THE NIGHT.

ORANGE COUNTY DELHI UNDERGOES SIEGE.

Long-distance Bombardment Followed by Close-range Shooting, Which Almost Results in a Casualty—Trouble Arises Between Women Over Horse Trade.

SANTA ANA, Oct. 13.—For two weeks past there has been a good, old-fashioned neighborhood guerrilla war going on at Delhi, three miles south of Santa Ana, and the whizzing of bullets has been an almost daily and nightly occurrence. Most of the shooting has been in the nature of long-distance bombardment, but on one occasion it was at close range and the bullet sent at a boy's head passed through his hat. Thereat the festivities grew rapidly more hilarious.

Mrs. E. C. Measor, owner of a dairy ranch, had a boy about 18 years of age working for her. She delegated to him the duties of bodyguard. This boy went by the name of Ikey, and if he had any other name it has not been discovered. Mrs. Measor had had trouble with one of her neighbors, Mrs. Eggers, over a horse trade, and the two women were threatening to use violence. Neither are of the long-suffering or hair-pulling kind. With them it is going right to the bat with weapons that count.

Mrs. Measor had a revolver. She provided Ikey with a weapon of similar nature. Ikey, seeing that his job depended upon the long continuance of hostilities, persuaded Mrs. Measor that the two sons of C. C. Hunton were in league with Mrs. Eggers. To fully convince Mrs. Measor of his prowess and of the deep-dyed villainy of her neighbors, the Eggers and the Huntons, one night when all was still, Ikey left his outpost tent in the yard and fired a bullet into Mrs. Measor's house. Then he turned toward the barn and fired two more shots.

READY FOR WAR.

Poor old Mrs. Measor was excited and ready for war. Ikey told her he had heard the dogs bark, had walked out and saw a flash from the barn, a bullet whizzed by his ear, and he shot twice at the flash. Mrs. Measor swore Ikey was the bravest boy on earth.

The next morning and for several mornings thereafter, Ikey stood in the yard and blazed away at the Hunton domicile, over a quarter of a mile distant, just to show Mrs. Measor he had fighting blood in him and to see if he could get an answer.

Mrs. Measor says Ikey got several replies. The Hunton boys are certain they never fired at the Measor fortifications. One day the Hunton boys fired at some passing geese. Mrs. Measor seized her revolver and fired a few shots in the Huntons' direction.

Then Mrs. Measor's daughter, Mary, ran away, and Mrs. Measor wanted the entire neighborhood arrested and searched, but careful detective work by Ikey failed to tie the slightest clew on any of the neighbors.

Ikey kept the Eggers end of the neighborhood row stirred up. Mrs. Measor believed Mrs. Eggers was scheming to blow up her house with dynamite, and she declares Mrs. Eggers went to the Hunton home and offered coin of the realm to the man who would place the bomb.

IKEY DISAPPEARS.

Last week Ikey met one of the Hunton boys. Mrs. Measor was with him, and he decided it was time to make good on his job. So he dragged a revolver out of his hip pocket and blazed away at Hunton's head. Mrs. Measor seized his arm just as he was aiming a second time, else there might have been a tragedy.

Saturday Ikey disappeared. The same afternoon the Hunton ranchhouse was burglarized and a shotgun and rifle, two suits of clothes and a pair of patent leather shoes were taken away.

Peaceable neighbors who were getting tired of the bombardment, complained to the officers, and this morning Sheriff Lacy and Constable Jackson went forth to see what they could see. But there are no complaints in court on the shooting end of the war.

And since Ikey is gone treaties of peace may be passed around.

CARNIVAL NOTES.

One of E. J. Levengood's chariot horses fell this morning while Levengood was whirling his team around the race track in training for the Carnival of Products races on Thursday and Friday, and broke his leg. The animal, which was worth $300, was shot. Levengood had two substitute horses on hand ready for emergencies, and immediately put one of them in and went on with his training. Levengood will run Arch Wiggins, who holds the world's record for chariot racing.

One of the best racing cards made in Orange county for several years has been prepared for the two days' racing. A large number of Southern California horses have been entered. On Friday a coyote will be turned loose and run down by members of the Orange County Fox Club, accompanied by a fine pack of hounds.

THE MARKETS.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

Dried fruit has been arriving in such quantities in the past two or three weeks that prices have been forced lower to a new basis all through the line. Apricots from the San Benito Valley, as well as from other northern counties and this section, have dropped as low as 8 cents. There are the best selling fruit on the list at present. Peaches follow at 7½ cents. The low quotation has been fixed at 7½ cents. Prunes and nectarines all average 9 cents a pound. Seedless raisins are still held from 5 to 6 cents. When compared with last year's quotations, these prices are nearly cut a third. The demand is gradually picking up and there will be few declines in the future, unless a big amount of dried product is dumped into the market in one bunch.

After heavy sales of eastern fresh eggs at the opening quotations yesterday morning, prices were advanced by the egg committee to a range from 23 to 26 cents, thus allowing the fortunate buyers a good opportunity for hand-some profit on their purchases. Local sales were 120 cases on 'Change. Local receipts were in light order, 1728 cases having been reported in a small sale of these. There was a small sale of these, 6 cases changing owners at the current price.

Receipts from the outside are not averaging the high figures of last month, the local production has decreased very little, and there is no danger of shortage. Eastern butter is now arriving in regular consignments, and there is fair trading in the commodity.

Cheese was active in offerings, but there were no sales. Arrivals were 6188 pounds.

Potato arrivals were 3788 sacks. The increased arrivals of the past few weeks were the final cause for the drop in prices. Highlands were given a range from 45 to 55 on fancy stock. The dealers are all more than well supplied. Salinas went to 1.75 in their all off the market. The few remaining bring an average of 1.10 per hundred.

Onion arrivals were 308 sacks. Yellow Danvers were well offered, but there was no demand.

Small white beans were the feature of the market by a sale of 25 bags. Large Limas were picked up in the offering list. Receipts were 450 sacks.

The price of fancy yellow sweet potatoes declined to a flat 1.25 per hundred. They were well called for at that figure and 10 sacks were sold.

The first cultivated chestnuts of the season made their appearance. They came from Santa Ana and will sell at about 12 cents a pound. Fresh figs are selling at 40 to 75 cents a box. There were too many blackberries on the market to move in one day, with the present demand. Other berries were all plentiful. Persimmons have been arriving for the past week and are selling at 1.50 to 1.75 per box. Clingstone peaches were plentiful and brought from 65 to 75 cents per lug box.

Peas advanced to 7 cents per pound, while all green beans went up fractionally. Sweet corn is not in much call and sells at 40 cents. Chanterelles were reported in meat and fish were all plentiful, even halibut, which have been hard to obtain for several weeks past.

MAYOR FILES SUITS.

said defendants wilfully and maliciously intending and designing to injure said plaintiff in his good name and reputation, and to bring said plaintiff into hatred, contempt and obloquy and to injure him in his said office as Mayor of said city of Los Angeles, did print and publish and caused to be printed and published in said newspaper, Los Angeles Express, the following false and defamatory words of and concerning said plaintiff:

THE ONE UNDISPUTED FACT.

"'The grand jury should consider and the grand jury doubtless will consider these facts: that the law of this State expressly prohibits disorderly houses, that the present administration of this city (meaning the administration of Los Angeles of which plaintiff is a member) has deliberately and consistently violated that law, and has through the Mayor (meaning said plaintiff) not only publicly confessed the violation, but boasted of it; that the Mayor of Los Angeles (meaning said plaintiff) has ordered and required the police force to disobey the law of the State.

"'He (meaning said plaintiff) admits that he broke the law but is frothing in a sudden frenzy because charges of graft have been made (meaning charges against said plaintiff of obtaining bribe money for breaking the State law.) We (meaning the said defendants) have no means of knowing whether these charges (meaning said charges against plaintiff of graft) are true or not. The experience of all other large cities teaches that when vice is licensed to break the law, vice pays for it (meaning, and said defendants intended to charge by these words, that said plaintiff had licensed vice against the law and that he had received pay for so doing.)

"'Los Angeles may glitter in history as the first exception to the general rule. We hope it may. And if it should, that would in no wise affect this fact: The law of the State has been broken—it was broken by the Mayor (meaning said plaintiff) sworn to enforce the law, and by the police at the instance and compulsion of the Mayor. All the side issues and collateral controversies in no wise change or alter that fact, all of which the grand jury will undoubtedly consider.'

"That said words and publication concerning plaintiff were and are false and defamatory. That by reason of said words and publication said plaintiff has been injured in his good name, reputation and business, and in his reputation as an upright officer of Los Angeles, and has been exposed to hatred, contempt and obloquy and has sustained damages in the sum of $50,000.

"For a further and separate cause of action against said defendants, said plaintiff alleges that on or about October 9, 1908, said defendants wilfully and maliciously intending and designing to injure said plaintiff in his good name and reputation and to bring said plaintiff into hatred, contempt and obloquy and to injure him in his said office as Mayor of Los Angeles, did cause to be printed and published in said newspaper the following false and defamatory words of and concerning said plaintiff:

"'Los Angeles Waits. With dignity and in patience this community awaits the action of the grand jury on the charges that have been made that the Mayor of Los Angeles (meaning said plaintiff) protected vice. All Los Angeles knows that the charge is true. The mere fact that the Mayor has admitted its truth proves nothing. Taken by itself the admission probably is insufficient. Having deliberately once broken his word, given in writing, the Mayor (meaning said plaintiff) long since forfeited the right to be believed.

"'In consequence, even when he confesses his own guilt, corroboration should be required. In this instance it should be easily supplied for the fact that the Mayor has protected vice, and that he prevented the police force from executing the law of the State is a matter of common knowledge. If there is any merit in his plea of extenuation that he committed these offenses because of inclination, and never received pay for committing them, let it be accorded him. The whole record of this administration (meaning the administration of which plaintiff formed part as Mayor) exhibits a profound contempt for decency and an insolent disregard of the requirements of the law coupled with open and profligate official pandering to vice.

"'The Mayor has flung down a challenge to a public amazed and shamed by the conditions that have governed, declaring his purpose to "make them prove it." We hope that he will persevere in that purpose. We cannot believe that much compulsion would be required to force the truth forth. Los Angeles, contemplating the vice-smeared record of the administration (meaning the administration of which said plaintiff formed part as Mayor) looks hopefully to the Grand Jury now in session for action that shall forever disrupt the alliance that exists between the Mayor's office and vice, that shall smash the red lantern that hangs over the entrance to the City Hall (meaning the City Hall where plaintiff has his office as Mayor, and meaning and intending to charge by the word red lantern, etc., that said City Hall, plaintiff and other officers were notorious for protecting houses of prostitution) and teach officials who extend to breakers of the law (meaning said plaintiff and other city officers) that there is a God in Israel.'

"That said words and publication concerning plaintiff were and are false and defamatory, that by reason of said words and publication said plaintiff has been injured in his good name, reputation and business and in his reputation as an upright officer of the City of Los Angeles and has been exposed to hatred, contempt and obloquy and has sustained damages in the sum of $50,000.

"Wherefore plaintiff prays judgment against the defendants for $50,000 on each ground of action."

THE COMPLAINT AGAINST WOOLWINE.

"On or about September 27, 1908, at said city of Los Angeles, said defendant willfully and maliciously intending and designing to injure said plaintiff in his good name and reputation and to bring said plaintiff into hatred, contempt, and obloquy and to injure him in his said office as Mayor of said city of Los Angeles, did print and publish and cause to be printed and published in the 'Los Angeles Examiner' the following false and defamatory words of and concerning plaintiff:

"'I' (meaning said defendant) 'haven't a grand jury behind my back or a corps of detectives. I wish to God I had both. I'd' (meaning said defendant) 'make some things in this town hum, and there would be a chance to elect some new city officials and pretty high ones at that' (meaning said plaintiff among other city officials.) 'When I' (meaning said defendant) 'took this office' (meaning the office of deputy City Attorney of Los Angeles) 'I looked Mr. Hewitt, my superior' (meaning Leslie R. Hewitt, City Attorney of Los Angeles) 'squarely in the eye and asked him if he wanted me to enforce the laws' (meaning the laws and ordinances of Los Angeles.) 'He said he did. I have taken him at his word, but at every point the Mayor of this city' (meaning said plaintiff) 'the Police Commissioners' (meaning the Police Commissioners of Los Angeles appointed by and acting under said plaintiff as Mayor) 'and hundreds of men of influence and many whose standing in the community is such that you would be surprised at interference, have attempted to balk me' (meaning that said plaintiff among said other officers and persons had attempted to prevent said defendant from enforcing, as such deputy City Attorney, the laws of said city of Los Angeles.)

"'In the matter of the red light district the Mayor' (meaning said plaintiff) 'squarely said he would not allow it to be touched. The conditions were terrible. Men close to the highest city officials' (meaning said plaintiff among other city officials of Los Angeles) 'were rapidly erecting buildings to be occupied as houses of prostitution at enormous rentals, and these dens overshadowed the homes of poor people who could not afford to move out of this district. And all the time the Mayor' (meaning said plaintiff) 'and the police' (meaning the police of Los Angeles) 'were providing protection' meaning plaintiff and the police of Los Angeles were providing protection to said houses of prostitution, and that said plaintiff was violating the laws of said city of Los Angeles.)

"That said words and publications concerning plaintiff were and are false and defamatory. That by reason of said words and publication said plaintiff has been injured in his good name and reputation, and in his reputation as an upright officer of the city of Los Angeles and has been exposed to hatred, contempt, and obloquy and has sustained damages in the sum of $25,000.

"Wherefore said plaintiff prays judgment against said defendant for the sum of $25,000 and costs of said action."

Entire Surplus Stock Wallach & Brager's Finest Foreign and Domestic Weaves

The biggest lot of silks ever included in any sale by a Los Angeles store. Prices will average a saving of a third to a half.

These silks were so desirable that ten of the large stores had their representatives at the sale. Wallach and Brager insisted on selling this immense amount of silks in one lot if possible, rather than divide it up among half a dozen or more firms. Hamburger's was the only one big enough to handle the entire lot, consequently we bought these goods for considerably less than had they been sold in separate lots. A particular feature of this big sale will be the elegant lot of black silks.
